The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum. The District of Lohardaga then included the Palamu District, separated in 1894; Lohardaga is now called the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, (1899, Pt. I, p. 44)—See Gazette of India, 1891, Pt. II.—Authority to administer Oaths and Affirmations.

4. The following Courts and persons are authorized to administer, by themselves or by an officer empowered by them in this behalf, oaths and affirmations in discharge of the duties or in exercise of the powers imposed or conferred upon them respectively by law:—

(a) all Courts and persons having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence;

(b) the Commanding officer of any military ⁴[naval], ⁵[or air force] station ¹[or ship] occupied by troops in the service of Her Majesty:

An application for an oath under the Act must be one without any conditions, such as if the Court does not hold the evidence to be sufficient then defendants should take an oath. L.R. 5 A. 147 (Rev.). A party may have a perfectly true case and yet for peculiar reasons be unwilling to bind his conscience by a particular form of oath. SEC. 4: CASE-LAW.—All Courts are authorized to administer oaths and affirmation. 34 P.R. 1916 (Cr.); 36 I.C. 171. Though the Act extends to the territories of Native Princes and States in alliance with His Majesty so far as regards the subject of His Majesty, the Vyara Court in the Baroda State cannot be treated as a Court within the meanings of secs. 4 and 14 of the Act, in relation to proceedings which were held before that Court entirely under the law of that State, and which had nothing to do with any proceedings in British India or under the law in force in British India. 47 Bom. 907=25 Bom.L.R. 772=25 Cr.L.J. 333=1924 Bom. 51.

III.—Persons by whom Oaths or Affirmations must be made.

Oaths or affirmations to be made by— 5. Oaths or affirmations shall be made by the following persons:—

- (a) all witnesses, that is to say, all persons who may lawfully be examined, or give, or be required to give, evidence by or before any Court or person having by law or consent of parties authority to examine such persons or to receive evidence;
- (b) interpreters of questions put to, and evidence given by, witnesses; and
- (c) jurors.

³[Provided that where the witness is a child under twelve years of age, and the Court or person having authority to examine such witness is of opinion that, though he understands the duty of speaking the truth, he does not understand the nature of an oath or affirmation, the foregoing provisions of this section and the provisions of section 6 shall not apply to such witness, but in any such case the absence of an oath or affirmation shall not render inadmissible any evidence given by such witness nor affect the obligation of the witness to state the truth.]

Nothing herein contained shall render it lawful to administer, in a criminal proceeding, an oath or affirmation to the accused person, or necessary to administer to the official interpreter of any Court, after he has entered on the execution of the duties of his office, an oath or affirmation that he will faithfully discharge those duties.

SEC. 5: APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 5 was intended to apply to an accused person while he is under trial. 101 I.C. 657=54 C. 52=28 Cr.L.J. 481=1927 C. 307.

SCOPE OF SECTION.—Court deliberately abstaining from administering an oath or affirmation to the only eye-witness to the murder on the ground that she was only 6 to 7 years of age. 6 P.L.J. 147=61 I.C. 705.

EFFECT OF.—In every case where a witness is a competent witness, the provisions of secs. 5 and 6 should be complied with. 6 P. L.J. 147. Under sec. 5, the omission to take any oath or any other irregularity in the form in which it is administered does not invalidate the proceedings. The High Court declined to interfere with the order of a Municipal Commissioner who was the editor of a newspaper, who had, prior to the disposal of the case, made very strong remarks on the case in the newspaper of which he was editor, holding that there was nothing illegal in his order, though he would have exercised a wise discretion if he had refused to sit as one of the Commissioners in the case. 21 W.R. (Cr.) 31; 25 W.R. (Cr.) 6.

CHILD.—A child of tender years should be examined as a witness only after the Court has satisfied itself that the child is intellectually sufficiently developed to enable it to understand sufficiently what it has seen, and afterwards inform the Court thereof. If the Court is satisfied that the child has intelligence, it should comply with the provisions of sec. 6. 120 I.C. 514=31 Cr.L.J. 114. See also 6 P.L.J. 147=61 I.C. 705.

Child's evidence is not inadmissible merely because no oath was administered to it. Although sec. 5 is imperative, still sec. 13 governs cases of this sort. 22 I.C. 737. See also 47 L.W. 161=1938 M. 490=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 289; 1941 O.W.N. 1246; 1939 Rang. 402=1939 Rang.L.R. 104; 1937 A.M.L.J. 134; 1935 A.L.J. 618=1935 A. 579; 38 A. 49=16 Cr.L.J. 829; 13 C.W.N. 942=36 C. 808; 6 P.L.J. 147; 2 I.C. 697; 11 A. 183; 10 A. 207; 16 M. 105; 1 Weir 823; 30 M. 32; 6 Cr.L.J. 130.

SECS. 5 AND 6.—If a Court thinks that a child, though of tender years, is capable of informing the Court of what it has seen or heard, it is obligatory on it to administer oath to the child as in the case of any other witness. Where the Court fails to do so on the ground that the child is not capable of realising the significance of an oath, the defect would be cured by sec. 13 of the Oaths Act. 1935 A.L.J. 618=1935 A. 579. See also 1938 Mad. 490=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 289; 1941 O.W.N. 1246; 1939 Rang. 402; 1942 Oudh 193=17 Luck. 376.

SECS. 5, 6 AND 13.—Every person who is examined as a witness shall make an oath or affirmation and there is no exception in the case of a child of tender years. Therefore if a child is adjudged to be a competent witness, an oath or affirmation must be administered to him before he is examined; but an omission whether deliberate or inadvertent to do so does not render his evidence absolutely inadmissible. But it is for the Court to decide what weight may be given to such unsworn testimony of the child whose evidence must always be received with great caution. 1940 Rang.L.R. 104=1939 Rang. 402. See now Amending Act XXXIX of 1934. Where on account of her Affirmation by natives or by persons objecting to oaths.

6. Where the witness, interpreter or juror is a Hindu or Muhammadan, or has an objection to making an oath, he shall, instead of making an oath, make an affirmation.

In every other case the witness, interpreter or juror shall make an oath.

IV.—Forms of Oaths and Affirmations.

Forms of oaths and affirmations.

7. All oaths and affirmations made under section 5 shall be administered according to such forms as the High Court may from time to time prescribe.

And until any such forms are prescribed by the High Court, such oaths and affirmations shall be administered according to the forms now in use.

8. If any party to, or witness in, any judicial proceeding offers to give evidence on oath or solemn affirmation in any form common amongst, or held binding by, persons of the race or persuasion to which he belongs, and not repugnant to justice or decency, and not purporting to affect any third person, the Court may, if it thinks fit, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, tender such oath or affirmation to him.

Witnesses, interpreters and jurors, who are Hindus or Muhammadans are exempt from taking oath. As repeating of the Kalma, by a Muhammadan witness, is not in accordance with the form prescribed by Chief Court under sec. 7, his refusal to do so cannot be punished under sec. 173, I. P. Code. 20 P.R. 1912 (Cr.). The offence of giving false evidence may be committed, although the person giving has been neither sworn nor affirmed. 19 C. 355. A person appointed as Local Commissioner for recording evidence in a case cannot administer oath to one of the parties in the circumstances referred to in secs. 8, 9 and 10 because under the Act a Local Commissioner is not a Court. 89 P.R. 1909=3 I.C. 621. SECS. 8 AND 11: SCOPE OF.—See 1937 All. 701; 1938 Bom. 465.

Sec. 8.—See 13 B. 389=13 Cr.L.J. 23=13 I.C. 215; 5 S.L.R. 129. The word 'affect' in sec. 8 should be taken to mean 'to react upon in any way'. An oath in the name of a third person does not necessarily 'affect' that person. An oath in the form 'I swear by my children' is not one which is prohibited by sec. 8. 1937 A.M.L.J. 94. The "oath or solemn affirmation" referred to in sec. 8 et seq is in its nature and essence quite distinct from the oaths and affirmations contemplated by sec. 5. Under sec. 8 the oath or solemn affirmation may be as infinite alike in form and contents as racial custom or the dictates of any religious persuasion may sanction or require. Neither an invocation nor an oath or affirmation in the technical sense of these words is in any way an essential part of the so-called oath or solemn affirmation referred to in sec. 8 of the Act. 54 I.A. 301=2 Luck. 316=1927 P.C. 165=53 M.L.J. 1 (P. C.). Under sec. 8 of the Oaths Act, for an oath to be administered by the Court it is necessary that it should not be against decency and that it should not affect the rights of a third party. Where during the trial the defendant offered to abide by the oath on talak of one of the witnesses for the plaintiff and that witness agreed to take the oath, but the defendant resiled from the offer later on. Held, that divorcing one's wife was not a very respectable form of oath and militated with decency and that it had also the effect of divorcing the wife who was a third party and that in the circumstances the refusal of the defendant to give an illegal oath did not affect the case at all. 189 I.C. 687=1940 Pesh. 26. If any party to any judicial proceeding offers to be bound by any such oath or solemn affirmation as is mentioned in section 8; if such oath or affirmation is made by the other party to, or by any witness in, such proceeding, the Court may, if it thinks fit, ask such party or witness, or cause him to be asked, whether or not he will make the oath or affirmation:

missal of a suit was accordingly set aside on the ground that the lower Court might have been influenced by the refusal of the plaintiff to swear touching sacred books. 139 I.C. 886 (1)=56 C.L.J. 77=36 C.W.N. 786. Form of oath—Denial before deity—Purpose of oath is not to call the attention of God to the witness, but the attention of the witness to God. 84 I.C. 314=1924 Oudh 442. See also 84 I.C. 314=1924 B. 511; 52 B. 295=30 Bom.L.R. 447; 26 A.L.J. 7 (P.C.).

SECS. 8 AND 9.—The parties to the suit stated that they constituted a third person J, as a Munhasir Ilahi and that they would be bound by his decision but before he was examined, the plaintiff stated that he would not be bound unless a special kind of oath was administered to J. That request was refused, J's statement recorded and in accordance therewith the plaintiff's suit dismissed. Held, that it was open to the plaintiff to resile from the agreement before the statement of J was recorded without assigning any reasons, sec. 8 not being applicable on the ground that the parties had in the first instance never intended to administer any oath at all to J. 146 I.C. 569=1933 A.L.J. 69=1933 A. 184. See also 1931 A.L.J. 393. Where the mukhtarnamah gave the mukhtar authority to make a compromise, confess judgment or make a reference to arbitration. Held, that the powers were sufficiently wide to include authority to take action under secs. 8, 9 and 10 of the Oaths Act. 8 O.W.N. 880=1931 Oudh 350.

SECS. 8 AND 11.—Where defendant agrees to abide by plaintiff's statement in the witness box but not in the form of any special oath as is referred to in sec. 8, the agreement is binding on him even apart from sec. 11, and he cannot be allowed to resile from it. 164 I.C. 1116=1936 O.W.N. 841. The evidence given by a person to whom the special oath is administered at the instance of a party to a suit is, when the party offering to be bound by the special oath, is suing in a representative capacity, conclusive not only as against him but also the persons whom he is properly representing in that litigation, and the decree following the taking of special oath would, therefore, clearly operate as res judicata against the representatives, as well in the absence of allegation and proof that the party acting in a representative capacity has been guilty of fraud or collusion or other vitiating cir-

SEC. 9.—See 13 B. 389; 13 I.C. 215; 65 I.C. 700; 22 M. 234; 17 M.L.J. 99; 17 M.L.J. 536; 18 A. 46; 20 A. 49; 45 B. 96=22 Bom. L.R. 898; 31 A. 315=2 I.C. 201; 1 Weir. 822. The Act gives the Court a discretion to administer the oath or not and if a party after agreeing to an oath satisfies the Court that there is good ground for retracting, the Court would exercise a wise discretion in refusing to administer the oath but when a party puts forward frivolous reasons for retracting, the Court would be justified in administering the oath notwithstanding the retraction. 49 A. 388=100 I.C. 473=1927 A. 590. See also 1933 A.L.J. 69=1933 A. 184; 35 C.W.N. 130. Where the plaintiff proposed one form of oath for the defendant and the defendant accepted it the plaintiff cannot insist on another form. 7 M.L. T. 197=5 I.C. 939. See also 1928 M. 488. Where a party agrees that he would be bound by the oath of a witness, though the other parties do not agree to be so bound, he will be bound and the case must be tried only as against the others. 27 A.L.J. 1095=118 I.C. 188 (1)=1929 A. 759 (1). Per Guha, J.—The principle that an offer can be withdrawn before it is accepted is applicable to an offer made under the Oaths Act. 35 C.W.N. 130=132 I.C. 682=1931 C. 549; 1933 A.L.J. 69=1933 A. 184. It cannot be withdrawn after acceptance. 1933 A.L.J. 588=1933 A. 463. Even if a party resiled from taking oaths, in matters to be proved by oaths, it is not equivalent of its proof. No decree can be passed under the circumstances against the resiling party. The Court then can proceed with the suit in ordinary manner drawing inference from the defaulter's conduct and can impose upon him appropriate costs. 1912 M.W.N. 361=15 I.C. 195. (But see 65 I.C. 700). See also 27 O.C. 217. Where in a suit on a promissory note evidence had been recorded before an agreement to abide by the defendant's oath was entered into by plaintiff. Held, that it was competent to the Court to decide the suit on the evidence already on record. 4 L.W. 258=36 I.C. 1001. An agreement to an oath contained a provision that if owing to the challenger's failure to pay the cost of taking the oath, the same was not taken it should be treated as equivalent to the oath having been taken. Held, that the provision introduced a method of decision which the law did not authorize and can have no legal consequence. (31 M. 1, Ref.) 52 I.C. 619. Where the agreement was to take the oath on a particular day

Provided that no party or witness shall be compelled to attend personally in Court solely for the purpose of answering such question.

10. If such party or witness agrees to make such oath or affirmation, the Court may proceed to administer it, or, if it is of such a nature that it may be more conveniently made out of Court, the Court may issue a commission to any person to administer it, and authorise him to take the evidence of the person to be sworn or affirmed and return it to the Court.

but the oath was taken on a later day the burden lies on the person who relies on oath to show that time was not the essence of the contract. 10 L.W. 140=52 I.C. 619. A duly authorized agent holding a special power of attorney enabling him to conduct the suit in a manner he may deem fit and in particular to withdraw or compromise, can make an offer under sec. 9 to be bound by the oath, of the other party and to have the case decided in accordance therewith. 38 A. 131=32 I.C. 348. The word 'party' in sec. 9 includes a duly authorised agent. Where a vakalatnama authorises a counsel to get statements recorded, to do pairavi in the case and to take such steps as he thought advisable and the client agrees to whatever he might do in the conduct of the case, the authority is sufficient to justify counsel, when no other step is open to him, submitting the case to the test of oath of a man supposed to be honest. 1943 A.L.W. 489. "Party" as including duly authorized representative—Pleader making offer—Client bound. See 114 I.C. 759=1929 Oudh 56; 8 O.W.N. 880=1931 Oudh 350. Guardian ad litem—Power to consent to offer of special oath—Leave of Court not obtained—Absence of fraud or negligence—Minor if bound. 34 C.W.N. 310. The expression "any party to any judicial proceeding" in sec. 9 must be interpreted as including the pleader representing him in the case. If a pleader is authorised by the Vakalatnama in his favour to do all proper pairavi in the case and to represent his client in a litigation and to present all sorts of applications which may become necessary even though no express power to compromise the case on his behalf may have been conferred upon the pleader, still the pleader being a duly authorised person to represent the client would be fully entitled to bind the client by offering to abide by the special oath of the opposite party. For the purposes of sec. 9 all that is necessary is that the pleader or the agent should be considered a duly authorised agent on behalf of his party to conduct the case. 1940 O.W.N. 662=1940 Oudh 314=15 Luck. 686. Where the pleader appearing for the defendants made an offer that the suit might be decided on the oath of the opposite party and it appeared that the pleader acted under instructions from one of the defendants who presumably had been authorized by the rest to take the necessary steps. Held, that the parties could not resile from the offer made by the pleader. 34 C.W.N.

If a pleader has been expressly authorized to make an offer on behalf of his client to be bound by an oath of the other party his action in that respect would be binding on the client. 137 I.C. 810 (2)=33 P.L.R. 470=1932 L. 414. The statement made by one of several defendants in pursuance of an agreement made under the Act is binding as against the parties who had offered to be so bound. Where however the rights and liabilities of the defendants in a particular case are inseparable a decree can be passed even against the defendant, who was not a party to the agreement. 8 O.W.N. 880=1931 O. 350. Where the plaintiff does not offer to be bound by the statement, on oath made by the defendant then the plaintiff's application to offer a special oath to the defendant would not come within the terms of sec. 9 and the Act would not apply. 138 I.C. 606=1932 A.L.J. 481=1932 A. 404. application under O. 21, R. 100, C. P. Code, for delivery the respondent, challenged the petitioner to take a special oath, and the oath having been taken the application was allowed. The respondent then filed a suit under O. 21, R. 103, and the defendant (petitioner) pleaded that no suit would lie because of the evidence which he has on oath in the proceedings under O. 21, R. 100. Held, that though the suit following the order on the claim petition might be a continuation of the same proceedings for some purposes, there was an essential difference between the two; and unless it was clearly present to the minds of the parties that the evidence given on oath in the claim petition was in no manner to be challenged in or by a subsequent suit it must be held that an oath in those proceedings must relate to the claim proceeding themselves and to them alone. The burden lay on the applicant to show that the challenge was intended to have any effect upon any possible civil suit which might be filed under R. 103 of O. 21, C. P. Code. 51 L.W. 449=1940 Mad. 627=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 685.

SEC. 12.—A Court does not act irregularly or illegally in taking into consideration plaintiff's refusal to take oath the defendant agreeing to be bound by it. But no weight should be attached to plaintiff's refusal when defendant also refuses. 7 N.L.R. 50=10 I.C. 472. A mere refusal to take a particular oath is not sufficient for deciding the issue against the party refusing it. 32 I.C. 619. See also 93 I.C. 830=1926 C. 817. If a party refuses to make the oath, the Court has no power to compel him to make it. The duty of the Court is to record as part of the proceedings, the nature of the oath proposed, the facts that he was asked whether he would make it and that he refused it together with any reason which he may assign for his refusal. 9 Mys.L.J. 362. No doubt the refusal to take a special oath is conduct which the Court is entitled to consider along with other evidence in the case but the refusal should not automatically be allowed to outweigh the positive evidence which has been adduced. Where therefore the plaintiff has produced his account books which the defendant called on him to produce and he has given all the evidence necessary to support his case, his refusal to take a special oath offered by the defendant which the plaintiff considered derogatory should not be taken as reflecting on the truth of his claim. 142 I.C. 137=1933 N. 52. A challenger should not be permitted to resile after his offer has been accepted by the other party unless good ground is shown to the satisfaction of the Court by the challenger. Apart from authorities, there is no principle of law on which an agreement can be allowed to be broken with impunity without any valid reason. 1938 M.W.N. 110=47 L.W. 453=1938 Mad. 385=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 368. (43 L.W. 681=1936 Mad. 406=70 M.L.J. 449 reversed.) Application of sec. 12 to the case of challenger, would be an extension of the provisions of sec. 12 in a manner which is not justifiable. Where the challenger who was to light the camphor in accordance with the offer made by him, has refused to perform that which he had undertaken to do, he should be taken to have waived that condition. The Court can order any Commissioner to light the camphor but should see that it is extinguished by the other party when taking the oath. (1938) 1 M.L.J. 368.

SEC. 13.—As to scope of section, see 1938 M.W.N. 90=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 289. Sec. 13 cures the form of the oath and even an entire omission to take the oath, but does not cure the absence of authority in the officer administering the oath. 116 I.C. 248=31 Bom.L.R. 144=30 Cr.L.J. 593=1929 B. 126. (b) allows any other person to have possession of any official document issued for his use alone, or communicates any secret official code or pass word so issued, or, without lawful authority or excuse, has in his possession any official document or secret official code or pass word issued for the use of some person other than himself, or, on obtaining possession of any official document by finding or otherwise, wilfully fails to restore it to the person or authority by whom or for whose use it was issued, or to a police officer; or

(c) without lawful authority or excuse, manufactures or sells, or has in his possession for sale, any such die, seal or stamp as aforesaid; he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine or with both.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (2) of section 3 shall apply, for the purpose of proving a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State, to any prosecution for an offence under this section relating to the naval, military or air force affairs of His Majesty, or to any secret official code in like manner as they apply, for the purpose of proving a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, to prosecutions for offences punishable under that section with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years.

7. (1) No person in the vicinity of any prohibited place shall obstruct, knowingly mislead or otherwise interfere with or impede, any police-officer, or any member of His Majesty's forces engaged on guard, sentry, patrol, or other similar duty in relation to the prohibited place.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of the provisions of this section, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

8. (2) If any person fails to give any such information or to attend as aforesaid, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

9. Any person who attempts to commit or abets the commission of an offence under this Act shall be punishable with the same punishment, and be liable to be proceeded against in the same manner as if he had committed such offence.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine or with both.

11. (1) If a Presidency Magistrate, Magistrate of the first class or sub-divisional Magistrate is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed, he may grant a search warrant authorising any Police officer named therein, not being below the rank of an officer-in-charge of a police station, to enter at any time any premises or place named in the warrant, if necessary, by force, and to search the premises or place and every person found therein, and to seize any sketch, plan, model, article, note or document, or anything of a like nature, or anything which is evidence of an offence under this Act having been or being about to be committed which he may find on the premises or place or any such person, and with regard to or in connection with which he has reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed.

(2) Where it appears to a police-officer, not being below the rank of Superintendent, that the case is one of great emergency, and that in the interest of the state immediate action is necessary, he may by a written order under his hand give to any police-officer the like authority as may be given by the warrant of a Magistrate under this section.

(3) Where action has been taken by a police-officer under sub-section (2) he shall, as soon as may be, report such action, in a Presidency town to the Chief Presidency Magistrate, and outside such town to the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate.

*12. Notwithstanding anything in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,—

(a) an offence punishable under section 3 or under section 3 read with section 9 with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years shall be a cognisable and non-bailable offence;

Provided that a person charged with such an offence may be arrested, or a warrant for his arrest may be issued and executed, and any such person may be remanded in custody or on bail, notwithstanding that such complaint has not been made, but no further or other proceedings shall be taken until such complaint has been made.

(4) For the purposes of the trial of a person for an offence under this Act, the offence may be deemed to have been committed either at the place in which the same actually was committed or at any place in British India in which the offender may be found.

(a) in relation to any offences under section 5 not connected with a prohibited place or with a foreign power, the Provincial Government; and

(b) in relation to any other offence, the Central Government.]

14. In addition and without prejudice to any powers which a Court may possess to order the exclusion of the public from any proceedings, if, in the course of proceedings before a Court against any person for an offence under this Act or the proceedings on appeal, or in the course of the trial of a person, under this Act, application is made by the prosecution, on the ground that the publication of any evidence to be given or of any statement to be made in the course of the proceedings would be prejudicial to the safety of the State, that all or any portion of the public shall be excluded during any part of the hearing, the Court may make an order to that effect, but the passing of sentence shall in any case take place in public.

15. Where the person guilty of an offence under this Act is a company or corporation, every director and officer of the company or corporation with whose knowledge and consent the offence was committed shall be guilty of the like offence.

SEC. 1. SCOPE OF THE ACT.—The provisions of Abkari and Opium Acts are not in

2. [Repeal and amendment of enactments] Rep. by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891), and the Amending Act, 1894 (IV of 1894).

Interpretation clause.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(i) the capsules of the poppy (Popaver somniferum L.);

(ii) the spontaneously coagulated juice of such capsules which has not been submitted to any manipulations other than those necessary for packing and transport; and

(iii) any mixture, with or without neutral materials, of any of the above forms of opium, but does not include any preparation containing not more than 0.2 per cent. of morphine, or a manufactured drug as defined in section 2 of the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930];

"Magistrate" means, in the Presidency-towns, a Presidency Magistrate; and elsewhere, a Magistrate of the first class or (when specially empowered by the Provincial Government to try cases under this Act) a Magistrate of the second class;

tended merely to protect the public revenue but are based on public policy. 35 M. 582 = 21 M.L.J. 425.

OPIUM CASES—UNDUE SEVERITY OF SENTENCE—MEASURE OF REWARD.—Rewards in opium cases should not, in the absence of exceptional circumstances, usually exceed Rs. 5 for each $\frac{1}{2}$ tola of opium found. Magistrates should be careful so to limit a reward as to leave no doubt that it can be paid out of the fine and value of the opium combined. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 568. In dealing with opium cases the Courts must be guided by sound principles, and must not, by the imposition of ruinous fines for petty offences, render the administration of the law unbearable. Rewards in such cases must be regulated by the quantity discovered and the amount of the fine which it is reasonable to inflict. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 567.

An agent employed by a farmer or monopoly of drugs under an agreement to sell drugs at a particular shop for the master does not require any licence, his acts being those of the master are perfectly legal. 105 P.R. 1883. But see also 114 P.R. 1881.

SEC. 3: [N. B.—See also notes under secs. 4 and 9.] Morphia is an alkaloid prepared from the poppy and is an intoxicating drug and comes within the definition of opium. 3 L. 230 = 23 Cr.L.J. 580 = 68 I.C. 612, dissenting from 1 L. 443 = 59 I.C. 40 = 23 Cr.L.J. 8. Opium includes chandu. 22 P.R. 1890 (Cr.) and also Bhondika Bhusa, 1936 Nag. 240. "Opium" as defined in sec. 3 does not include opium prepared or in course of preparation such as beinsi and beinchi. Hence a person in possession of both beinsi and beinchi is not guilty under sec. 9 but is guilty under sec. 10 (b), Dangerous Drugs Act. 11 R. 436 = 145 I.C. 825 = 1933 R. 258. As to muddat, see 13 C.L.R. 336. As to beinchi or refuse of the opium pipe being opium, see L.B.R. (1872-1892) 617. See also 1933 R. 258; 171 I.C. 694 = A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 346.

JURISDICTION—MAGISTRATE.—The word "specially" in sec. 3 is used in speaking of individuals and in contrast with the word 'generally'. When by a notification of the Government, a class of officials is invested with power to try certain offences, such officials are only 'generally empowered'. Per Seshagiri Aiyar, J.—The notification empowering all Second Class Magistrates to try such offences is ultra vires of the powers given by the Act, as its effect is to enlarge the definition of Magistrate as given therein. 2 L.W. 233 = 16 Cr.L.J. 268 = 28 I.C. 156. Where a Government notification empowers Second Class Magistrates of a particular locality mentioned in a list appended to it, to try cases under the Opium Act, that meets the requirements of sec. 3. 24 Cr.L.J. 845 = 74 I.C. 958 = 1924 M. 266. A Second Class Magistrate cannot refuse to take up a case of importing opium into British India without a licence, although empowered, under sec. 191, Cr. P. Code and sec. 3 of the Opium Act, to take cognizance of the offence and try the case, merely on the ground that the gravity of the offence required severer punishment than he was competent to inflict. Rat. 375. If the goods once come across the border of the British territory into such territory, if they come for and on account of the accused with his consent—let alone his procurement—the offence of "importing" is complete. Where the accused, a native of Assam, went to Cooch Behar and posted a parcel of opium ostensibly to a friend of his in Assam, but in effect to himself, held, that the accused was guilty of having 'imported' opium, though he may also have been the person who 'exported' it from the foreign territory. 36 C.W.N. 456 = 59 C. 1065 = 136 I.C. 137 = 33 Cr.L.J. 267 = 1932 C. 465. The accused, having a licence for possession of opium as a medical practitioner limited to one seer, or eight palams, sent his servants to another place to buy

¹['Export' means to export inter-provincially, as defined in clause (l) of section 2 of the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930; and]

"Transport" means to remove from one place to another within the territories administered by the same Provincial Government;

²['Sale' does not include sales for export across customs frontiers as defined by the Central Government, and 'sell' shall be construed accordingly.]

Prohibition of poppy cultivation and possession, etc., of opium.

4. Except as permitted by this Act, or by any other enactment relating to opium for the time being in force, or by rules framed under this Act or under any such enactment, no one shall—four palams of opium from a licensed vendor of opium. The servant purchased the opium and took it to the accused at Madras. Held, that the accused was guilty of the offence of transporting opium by sending his servant to bring opium to Madras, which was illegal, except under Rules VIII to XIII of the Opium Act, and the licence, which the accused held, did not authorise such transport either expressly or impliedly. 13 M. 191=1 Weir 834. See also 13 P.R. 1884 (Cr.). Quære.—Whether, if the accused had carried the opium himself the licence to possess the opium would necessarily imply a right to transport it with him and so override the prohibition of transport. 13 M. 191.

SECS. 4 AND 9: SELLING MORE THAN TWO TOLAS OF OPIUM TO ONE PERSON.—A sale of opium of more than 2 tolas to a single person in contravention of the terms of a licence is a breach of r. 48 and is punishable under sec. 9. 21 Cr.L.J. 180=54 I.C. 834=33 P.R. 1919 (Cr.); 10 P.R. 1893 (Cr.). Beinchi or Pyaungchi which is the refuse of the opium pipe is, when removed, from the pipe and reserved for further use, a preparation of opium within the meaning of sec. 3 and its possession is illegal under sec. 4, inasmuch as it is not permitted by the rules framed under the Act. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 617. See also 11 R. 436=1933 R. 258. With reference to secs. 3 and 9 the illegal manufacture or preparation of chandu was an offence under sec. 9. 1884 A.W.N. 213. Where a licensed cultivator transported opium from one district to another without a pass, held, that the accused, not being either a farmer, or a licensed vendor, or a wholesale licensed vendor, was not competent to transport opium from one district into another. 13 P.R. 1884 (Cr.); 13 M. 391=1 Weir 834. See also 40 P.R. 1887; 35 M. 582 and cases referred to therein. "Opium", as defined in the Opium Act, includes admixtures of it. Kundon being an admixture of opium, the possession of it is not allowed by the rules under the Act. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 619. Hence, the possession of kundon is, under the above section, illegal irrespective of the method by which it was obtained. (Ibid. See also 8 P.R.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—Under the Act, the possession of opium is prima facie illegal, and the person in possession must show that, in fact, his possession is legal. R. III of rules framed under the Act provides that a person may possess 3 tolas of raw opium "provided such opium has been purchased from Government or from a farmer or licensed vendor or medical practitioner". In order, therefore, that a person in possession of opium may have the benefit of r. III, he must show that it was purchased as provided by the rule. 1 Weir 832. If he fails to do so, his possession is illegal by virtue of sec. 4 and he is liable to punishment under sec. 9 (c). (Ibid.)

POWER OF INSPECTION of a place with the object of seeing whether chandu is manufactured there or not is vested under sec. 4 in officer superior in rank to a chaprasi who also may be authorized by the Local Government. 105 P.L.R. 1904.

ILLEGALITY OF SEARCH is no ground for setting aside a conviction for an offence of illegal possession of opium found in the search. 188 P.L.R. 1907=11 P.R. 1906 (Cr.). See also 53 I.C. 153=20 Cr.L.J. 745=2 P.L.T. 626. (Omission to have search witnesses is not fatal to a valid conviction).

SECS. 5 AND 9: LICENCE—BREACH OF CONDITION—LIABILITY OF MASTER FOR SERVANT'S ACTS.—A licensee under the Act is liable for breaches of the condition of his licence by his servant though not committed with his knowledge and permission. 34 A. 319=13 Cr.L.J. 282=14 I.C. 666; 9 A.L.J. 288. See also 7 C.P.L.R. 41 (Cr.); 105 P.R. 1883.

OMISSION OF LICENSEE TO KEEP REGULAR ACCOUNTS.—Under R. 49, sub-cl. 3 (f) of the rules framed by the Punjab Government under sec. 5, a retail licensee for the sale of opium is bound to keep correct daily accounts of sales of opium. A contravention of this rule is punishable under sec. 9. 20 Cr.L.J. 419=9 P.R. 1919 (Cr.)=51 I.C. 195. See also 1925 O. 350=26 Cr.L.J. 1306=89 I.C. 250; 10 P.R. 1893 (Cr.). Under sec. 10 there is a presumption in prosecutions under sec. 9 that all opium for which the accused person is unable to account satisfactorily, is opium in respect of which he has committed an offence under the Act. 20 Cr. L.J. 419=51 I.C. 195=9 P.R. 1919 (Cr.); Rat. 297.

REGISTERED CONSUMER—PRESUMPTION.—The ordinary presumption would be that a person producing a certificate and asserting or implying that he was the person named in the certificate was the registered consumer to whom the certificate had been granted, and, unless it was proved that the vendor had reason to believe that the person producing the certificate was not the person named in it, the vendor should reasonably be held to be permitted by the rules to sell opium to the person producing the certificate. (1893-1900) 419. The holder of a cultivator's licence is not prohibited by R. 9 of the rules framed under sec. 5 read in connection with the other rules, from consuming the opium of which he is lawfully possessed under his licence. 12. RULES FRAMED UNDER—R. 38 (2)—AMENDMENT—EFFECT OF.—Under the amended R. 38 (2) of the rules framed under the Act, the amount of chandu which two or more persons may without a licence at one time possess collectively, is limited to 1 tola. 15 P.R. 1918 (Cr.)=46 I.C. 46=19 Cr.L.J. 686. A contravention of the conditions of a permit is not penal and the only penalty therefor is that provided in the permit itself, viz., the cancellation of the licence and the forfeiture of the money paid in pursuance of the licence. There is nothing in sec. 5 which makes the preparation of an incorrect account punishable under sec. 9. 64 I.C. 135 =22 Cr.L.J. 743=24 O.C. 235. R. 4 (iii) (c) is a rule of evidence, as to the fact of possession and not a rule as to the conditions of possession and as such is ultra vires of the section. A conviction based on the rule is therefore illegal. 27 I.C. 200=16 Cr. L.J. 136.

PATWARI'S OMISSION TO FURNISH CULTIVATOR'S LICENCE—LIABILITY OF CULTIVATOR.—Poppy cultivators, who were without licences only because the Patwari has failed to furnish them, are not liable under R. 21. 46 P.R. 1885 (Cr.).

OMISSION TO INFORM PATWARI of outturn of poppy cultivation is no offence. 16 P.R. 1883 (Cr.).

RULE 16: SCOPE OF THE RULE.—The intention of R. 16 of rules framed under sec. 5 is to permit possession of either opium not exceeding 3 tolas or of intoxicating drugs not exceeding that quantity or of both not or after the payment of any duty leviable thereon, into the territories administered by that Government, or into any specified part thereof, and intended to be exported thence.

A man cannot be said to make a preparation or admixture of opium within the meaning of secs. 5 and 9 and Rr. 35 of the Rules framed under that Act, for which a licence would be required, by merely dissolving in water the opium which he has legally purchased for his own use in smoking. Rat. 284. Sec. 5 (f) gives the Local Government power to make rules to permit absolutely or subject to conditions the sale of opium and to regulate its sale. R. 39 of the rules so framed, inter alia, enacts that "such licences shall be in the Form E hereto annexed or in such other form as the Commissioner from time to time prescribes." Sec. 9 (f) makes it an offence to sell opium in contravention of the Act or rules. A holder of a licence in Form E would, if he committed a breach of the licence, be selling in contravention of R. 39 and could be dealt with under sec. 9 of the Act. 1 S.L.R. (Cr.) 70=8 Cr.L.J. 188. The words "or in such other form as the Commissioner from time to time prescribe" in R. 39 are ultra vires. The rule-making power is a power delegated by the Government of India to the Local Government and the Local Government cannot delegate it to be Commissioner, delegata potestas non potest delegari (Ibid.). The conditions of a form of the licence prescribed by the Commissioner are, therefore, not rules under the Opium Act. Breach of the conditions of a Commissioner's licence which is not in Form E but in the form approved of by the Commissioner in Sind is, therefore not a breach of a rule under the Opium Act, even where the breach is committed by a person, and a fortiori he is not guilty of an offence under sec. 9 when the breach is committed by his servant. 1 S.L.R. (Cr.) 70=8 Cr.L.J. 188.

ALLOWING SALE OF OPIUM BY AN UN-AUTHORISED PERSON.—A person who has taken a licence for the sale of opium is guilty of an offence under sec. 9 if he allows another person to sell it on his behalf, when that salesman's name is not endorsed on the licence under the rules framed by the Local Government and published in N.W.P. and Oudh Government Gazette, dated 11th June, 1898. 1 A.L.J. 245. There is nothing in any of the rules made by the Bengal Government under sec. 5 which would make the preparation of incorrect accounts punishable under sec. 9. 26 C. 571=3 C.W.N. 365. The omission by a licensed cultivator to have the outturn of ~~the~~ cultivation entered upon his licence is not a contravention of R. 9 (f). 10 P.R. 1893 (Cr.). There is nothing in the rules framed under the Opium Act requiring a poppy cultivator to inform the patwari of the outturn of poppy heads from the area under cultivation, as in the rules opium is distinguished from poppy heads. 16 P.R. 1883 (Cr.). The act of selling opium by a licensed vendor in a quantity in excess of that permitted by law is not a mere breach of the licence, but is an offence under the Rules framed under the Abkari Act, and can be punished under sec. 9. 1 Bom.L.R. 677. Illegal transport of opium. See 40 P. R. 1887 (Cr.).

SEC. 9.—For an offence under this section conscious possession by the accused must be established. 129 I.C. 184=1930 C. 668; 1923 R. 152=24 Cr.L.J. 934=75 I.C. 358.

SALE OF MORPHIA BY MEDICAL PRACTITIONER—OFFENCE.—There is a clear distinction between use of morphia in practice by an approved medical practitioner and sale of morphia by him to his patients. A sale by him is punishable under sec. 9. 56 I.C. 657=21 Cr.L.J. 497; 24 C.W.N. 343. See also 46 A. 146 (Importing opium—Consignment by a person to himself if offence); 6 Lah. L. constitutes preparation for admixture of opium).

POSSESSION OF OPIUM.—A person possessing a black substance with traces of opium hardly more than 1 per cent. cannot be punished for illegal possession of opium if the thing is unfit to be used as opium. 35 I.C. 972=17 Cr.L.J. 412=20 C.W.N. 1206.

PREPARATION OR ADMIXTURE OF OPIUM.—MEANING OF.—The preparation of adulterated opium pills is no offence where the amount of opium found, made up into pills and manufactured, is not more than what is allowed by the rules. 81 I.C. 154 (1)=25 Cr.L.J. 666 (1)=1924 Lah. 529. The word 'preparation' in R. 37 (d) of the Rules designates a completed or manufactured article and not an article in process of manufacture, the test being whether the stage has been reached at which it can be used. So also the word "admixture" refers only to a completed article and can only be applied after the mixing has been finished and not earlier. In the intermediate stages an offence has only been committed, if the amount of opium used in the manufacture is more than that permitted by law. 4 Lah. 12 =24 Cr.L.J. 668=73 I.C. 700=1924 L. 99. Opium as defined in sec. 3 does not include opium prepared or in course of preparation such as beinsi and beinchi. Hence a person in possession of both beinsi and beinchi is not guilty under sec. 9, Opium Act, but is guilty under sec. 10 (b), Dangerous Drugs Act. 1933 Cr.C. 997=1933 Ran. 258.

JOINT POSSESSION.—The fact that the accused gave opium to his father and children to eat was of itself insufficient to show, that he alone was not in possession of the quantity discovered in his almirah. 3 P.R. (1918) (Cr.)=19 Cr.L.J. 364=44 I.C. 588. As to possession by two brothers, see 6 L. 311 =88 I.C. 1044=1925 Lah. 477. It cannot be said that there can in no case be joint criminal possession, where an excisable article, or articles the possession of which is an offence, is recovered from a house or place, jointly possessed by several persons. Each case must be decided on the evidence and it is obvious that as a fact several persons may be in joint criminal possession of an article. Where opium was recovered from a house in which three brothers lived jointly, held, that in the circumstances of the case the possession must be considered to be that of only the eldest brother. 40 P.L.R. 12 (2)=174 I.C. 789=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 320. When at a search conducted by the Excise Inspector, a packet of opium was recovered from a box in a room of the house of which the accused was the master, he must be held to be the person in possession of opium. It is not necessary for the prosecution to prove who put it in that box. 133 I.C. 1=32 Cr. L.J. 967=1931 Mad. 490 (2)=61 M.L.J. 854. A wife cannot be held to be in joint possession with her husband of anything found in the house. (Ibid.) See also 1935 Pesh. 68=A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 434.

POSSESSION OF OPIUM, WHEN OFFENCE.—The quantity of opium that may be possessed by any person is determined by the rules issued by the Government under the powers conferred by sec. 5. Where the possession of the accused is not contrary to the terms of his licence, he is not guilty of any offence under the Act. 42 I.C. 593=18 Cr.L.J. 977 =41 P.R. 1917 (Cr.). See also 1921 Lah. 169=66 I.C. 993. An unlawful possession of opium with the intention of eventually exporting it, does not by itself amount to "exporting" opium under sec. 9 (e) of the Act. 15 P.R. 1916 (Cr.)=17 Cr.L.J. 1194 =34 I.C. 306. Possession of opium on behalf of a master who is not entitled to possess is not a plea against sec. 9. 35 I.C. 816=17 Cr.L.J. 384=4 L.W. 373. See also 15 P.R. 1916 (Cr.)=34 I.C. 306. Liability of visitor of house, see 75 I.C. 358. A person cannot be convicted for breach of the rules framed under sec. 9 merely for contemplating such a violation. 25 I.C. 995=15 Cr.L.J. 667 (Mad.). Where opium was found in accused's house during his absence, he is not in possession of opium in the sense required by law. 24 I.C. 156=15 Cr.L.J. 420. Mere illegality in the exercise of the right of search, e.g., the omission to have search witnesses is not in itself sufficient ground for setting aside a conviction. 20 Cr.L.J. 745=53 I.C. 153=2 Pat.L.T. 626 (35 A. 358; 31 C. 557; 26 M. 124; 35 B. 225, Foll.; 53 I.C. 150, Diss.). Possession of opium by vendor outside shop, if offence. See 41 P.R. 1917 (Cr.)=42 I.C. 493. The mere possession of the paraphernalia of opium smoking is not in itself an offence under sec. 9 (c). 130 I.C. 367=32 Cr.L.J. 506=1931 R. 14. So also mere preparation of sugar-coated opium pills, though prepared with intent to sell it. 81 I.C. 154=25 Cr. L.J. 666=1924 Lah. 529.

PROOF OF POSSESSION.—Opium was found in an inner room under a bed and in men's boots, where the accused withdrew when the search party entered an outer-room, where she was being shampooed. Evidence showed that she was a mere visitor residing temporarily in the outer-room. Held, that her conviction was illegal unless the bed was shown to have been hers; men's boots, of course, could not have belonged to her. 75 I.C. 358=24 Cr.L.J. 934=1923 R. 152. See also 3 P.R. 1918 (Cr.); 151 I.C. 66=35 Cr. L.J. 1220.

LIABILITY OF AGENT FOR THE MISTAKE IN THE REGISTER.—Where the authorised agent of the licensee possesses opium actually within the limit of his licence but the register showed it to be more than the limit and the register is not in his hand he cannot be convicted under the section. 23 Cr.L.J. 337=66 I.C. 993=1921 Lah. 169.

POSSESSION BY PASSENGER—BOAT-MAN IS NOT LIABLE.—The fact that a passenger by boat has contraband opium with him is not sufficient to convict the boat-man under sec. 9 (c) of the Act. 59 I.C. 133=22 Cr.L. J. 31 (Cal.).

CONSIGNEE OF RAILWAY RECEIPT—"POSSESSION" OR "IMPORTATION".—Per Richard-son, J.—When the consignee of a railway receipt knows that a parcel containing opium has been sent to him, the possession of the railway receipt constitutes possession of the opium under cl. (c) of sec. 9. Huda, J., feeling considerable doubts whether under the circumstances the accused could be said to be in possession within the meaning of the section, held, that it amounted to importing under cl. (e). 46 C. 820=23 C.W.N. 671=52 I.C. 389=14 C.W.N. 233=36 I.C. 1016; 32 C. 55.

POSSESSION OF SERVANT, IS NOT THAT OF MASTER.—It is always necessary for the prosecution to prove affirmatively that possession by the servant was on his master's behalf and with his authority to render the latter liable for conviction. 15 P.R. 1916 (Cr.)=17 Cr.L.J. 1194=34 I.C. 306. See also 18 Cr.L.J. 633=39 I.C. 1001=3 Pat. L.W. 344. The owner of a house where another has left a locked-up box of opium is in illegal possession of the opium. 12 Cr.L.J. 185=9 I.C. 1019. Where it cannot be said that the place in which the opium was found, is not one to which several persons had equal right of access, however, the case may stand in law, it must be extremely difficult to convict the petitioner on facts. 3 Pat.L.T. 132=66 I.C. 328=23 Cr.L.J. 364.

ILLEGALITY OF SEARCH—EFFECT OF.—Having regard to the several irregularities committed by the Excise Sub-Inspector, his entry into the premises after sunset in contravention of sec. 14, his entry into the premises without search warrant in disregard of sec. 103, Cr. P. Code, and his keeping the investigation in his own hands and not delivering up the opium found to the nearest Police Station, in spite of the peremptory provisions of sec. 20, the conviction could not stand. 53 I.C. 150=20 Cr.L.J. 742 (Pat.). Where the proceedings bristle with irregularities, it is for the prosecution to show that the accused was not prejudiced thereby. (Ibid.)

OTHER CASES OF POSSESSION.—The possession of opium to be punishable must be possession with one's knowledge and assent. 13 Cr.L.J. 122=13 I.C. 778. Any possession of opium beyond the prescribed quantity amounts to an offence under the Act and Rules. It cannot be said that, when possession is on behalf of another, it is not possession within the meaning of the Act and Rules. 1 Weir 832. The offence consists in the possession of an amount beyond the prescribed amount, without reference to any question or to any alleged proprietary right to any portion of the opium. 1 Weir 832. Sec. 9 (c) contemplates a criminal or guilty possession. S. C. (Oudh) 236. In the case of a person charged with being in illicit possession of opium under this section, the fact that the opium was found in that portion of his dwelling-house, which was in his sole occupation gives rise to a prima facie presumption of his guilty possession. S. C. 236 Oudh. (S. C. 161, Oudh, Foll.). The accused was a shop-keeper, and his neighbour was a licenced opium-seller. The latter not being in the habit of sleeping in his shop used, when he went home, to put the opium with the books and licence in a box, which he locked himself, and of which he kept the key, and to make it over to the accused for safe custody during the night. Held, that such custody did not amount to possession by accused of the opium which was locked in the box and that he could not, therefore, be held to be guilty of having opium in his possession in contravention of the Act and the rules. 25 A. 262. The "possession" referred to in sec. 9 is possession with knowledge, and no presumption arises unless and until such possession is proved. 16 C.P.L.R. 13. The fact of the presence of a person in a "chāndu den", where several persons were smoking chāndu, or even of his being found smoking there, could not warrant his conviction for abetment of the offence on the part of the master of the establishment of possessing chāndu to a larger amount than that allowed by law. 1901 A.W.N. 117; 9 P.R. 1881 (Cr.);

Rat. 676; 7 A.L.J. 25. In order to succeed on a defence of joint possession in a charge of possession of more than one tola of opium, it must be conclusively shown that the possession of the accused was the joint possession of the accused and others and that he held on behalf and for the use of all. 34 P.R. 1905 (Cr.). Where the defence of joint possession of more than one tola of opium is pleaded, it is not only essential to know that a certain number of people are living in the house, but that they all joined in the purchase, and that it was held by one for the use of all. 31 P.R. 1902 (Cr.).

POSSESSION OF OPIUM BY MEMBER OF JOINT HINDU FAMILY.—An accused person, who was convicted of being in unlawful possession of crude opium, contended that the witnesses, called on to attend the search, were not respectable inhabitants of the locality, in which the place searched was situated, and also, for the first time in appeal, that his father, who was alive, being the master of the house, he (the accused) was entitled to an acquittal, in the absence of good evidence as to exclusive possession by a junior member of the joint family. Held, that in prosecutions under sec. 9 against a member of a joint family, the prosecution is bound to prove that the opium, found in the common room of the joint family house, was in the exclusive possession and control of the particular member of the joint family charged with its possession, that such a defence could not be discarded simply because it was for the first time put forward in appeal, and that under sec. 103 (1), Cr. P. Code, it was the duty of the Police Officer to call two or more respectable inhabitants of the locality, in which the place searched was situated, to attend and witness the search. 2 O.C. 99.

LIABILITY OF CARTMAN CARRYING OPIUM SEED.—Where accused No. 1 engaged accused No. 2 to carry illicit opium in his cart, held, that, in the absence of proof that the accused knew that opium was transported in his cart, he was not guilty. Rat. 378. The mere fact that the accused were two of the crew of the boat in which contraband opium was found, is not sufficient to attribute to them possession within the meaning of sec. 9. 14 C.W.N. 308; 8 C.W.N. 349.

LEGALITY OF ARREST.—For a conviction under this Act it matters not, so far as the legality of a conviction goes, by whom the accused was arrested or found in possession of the opium. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, p. 239.

DESIRE OF MAGISTRATE TO INDUCE ACCUSED TO GIVE UP OPIUM.—The desire of the Magistrate to induce an accused person to give up opium smoking is not in itself a sufficient ground for passing on him a sentence of imprisonment. L.B.R. (1872-1892), 370.

POSSESSION BY ONE OF EXCESS QUANTITY PURCHASED FOR SEVERAL PERSONS—LEGALITY OF.—There is no rule allowing a person to possess opium purchased by another person, nor to possess opium in excess of the three tolas' weight which has been purchased for other persons or which has been handed over to him to carry. The law must be strictly construed and followed or its ends will be easily defeated. U.B.R. (1892-96) Vol. I, p. 137. See also 4 P.R. 1884 (Cr.).

SENTENCE.—It was not the intention of the Legislature to punish with severity trifling breaches of Opium Law. In this case a fine of Rs. 50, and in default one month's imprisonment for the illegal possession of one tola of opium was considered to be a very excessive sentence. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 425. Severe punishments for an offence under cl. (c) of this section are unsuitable in cases of possession by a Burman woman of a small quantity for her own use and in cases when Excise Officers abet the commission of such offences. U.B.R. (1892-1896). Vol. I, 135. On a conviction under the section the punishment should, on considerations of fairness and common sense, be moderate in cases of confirmed opium-smokers from Burmese times for the continuance of a habit which has only recently been prohibited by a different Government U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, 136. The accused was found in illegal possession of four tolas of opium and was sentenced to one month's rigorous imprisonment and to a fine of Rs. 100 and in default to a further period of three months' rigorous imprisonment. Held, the punishment was needlessly severe. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 368. When an accused person is convicted of an offence under the Act under the conditions which lead the Magistrate to conclude that he is engaged in traffic in opium on a large scale or in transporting opium in considerable quantities, a substantive term of imprisonment may appropriately be awarded in addition to a substantial fine. When opium is smuggled or sold in large quantities, the profits are probably such that the prospect of a sentence of fine only does not act as a deterrent. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, p. 241. [1 U.B.R. (1892-1896) 139, D.]

BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where opium of any kind, and whether or not in excess of the prescribed maximum, is found in the possession of any person and the legality of such possession is challenged by the Crown, the burden of proving that the possession was lawfully obtained lies on the person with whom the opium is found. 17 C.P.L.R. 75; 8 P.R. 1887 (Cr.). 'Beinch' (or half-consumed opium), i.e., the remnant left in an opium pipe after once smoking, is itself a preparation of opium when retained for further use and its possession is therefore illegal under sec. 9. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 133. As to meaning of 'opium water' and effect of possession of the same, see 14 Rang. 694=169 I.C. 344=A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 194.

POSSESSION AS BETWEEN MASTER AND SERVANT.—Mere possession by a Burman servant, on behalf of his master, a Chinaman, of three tolas of opium, is not illegal, and the servant cannot be convicted under the terms of sec. 9 (e). U.B.R. 1909, 2nd Quarter, Opium 1. See also 133 I.C. 1=61 M.L.J. 854. If the accused Burman servant had had the custody of no more than three tolas of opium, which his master was entitled to possess, it might have been found that he, although a Burman, had committed no breach of the Opium Rules on the ground that he was not in possession within the meaning of the law. But it is otherwise if the quantity of opium be more than three tolas. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, p. 232. There is no provision in the Opium Rules for the possession of more than three tolas of opium by one man, nor for the joint possession of more than that quantity by several persons. (Ibid.)

ILLICIT SALE OF OPIUM—EVIDENCE OF SALE.—Several persons were found in a house, and one of them was smoking chandu. On the premises were also found three pipes, two iron needles, one pair of tongs and a smoking pillow. The quantity of opium, however, found in the house was within the limit allowed by law. Held, that the circumstances were not strong enough to warrant the presumption that chandu was being sold on the premises. 7 A.L.J. 25. See also 9 P.R. 1881 (C.).

SALE OF OPIUM BY SERVANT OF LICENSEE.—In the absence of any prohibition in a licence to sell opium granted under this Act against the employment of a servant to sell the same, a sale by a servant of the licensee on behalf of his master is not properly a sale of opium without a licence punishable under sec. 9. S. C. 285 Oudh. Sale of smuggled opium by servant of contractor renders both servant and master criminally liable, though master was not present at the time of sale. L.R. 1 A. 58 (Cr.).

TRANSPORTING OPIUM—PASS FROM PROPER AUTHORITIES.—Under Rule VIII of the Opium Rules of 1893, a farmer desiring to transport opium from one taluq to another of the same district must "when the taluqs of the district are farmed to different farmers" obtain a pass for each consignment from the officer in charge of the excise revenue of the district or from the Tahsildar of the Taluq. 1 Weir 833. Where the taluqs of a district are separately farmed, but only one person is the farmer of two of the taluqs a person transporting opium from one of the taluqs to the other with permits signed by the farmer, and being found, in the course of transporting, in a place outside both the taluqs, has transgressed the rule. 1 Weir 833. See also 13 P.R. 1884 (Cr.).

IMPORTING OPIUM.—The accused went on business into foreign territory and, while there purchased one anna's worth of opium. He ate a portion of it there, and brought the rest in his turban into British territory. The Magistrate convicted him under sec. 9 (e). The High Court reversed the conviction. Rat. Un. Cr. C. 969=Cr. Rg. 25 of 1898. Where the post office suspecting a parcel to contain opium marks it doubtful and sends it on to the place of despatch, sec. 9 (e) does not apply as the parcel ceased to be in the post office on accused's account before it left India for Burma. 2 P.R. 1911 (Cr.)=12 Cr.L.J. 116; 9 I.C. 682. Sale by servant of contractor—Conviction of both legal. Sale of smuggled opium by the servant of a contractor renders both the servant and the Master criminally liable, though the master was not present at the time of sale. L.R. 1 A. 58 (Cr.)=9 A.L.J. 288, foll. A person who exports from outside the United Provinces opium to a warehouse inside the United Provinces of which he is really the proprietor or temporary possessor, even under a false name, is, in fact, committing an offence under the Act and importing into the United Provinces, although he is also the person who exported from outside. 46 A. 146=81 I.C. 100=25 Cr.L.J. 612=1924 A. 558.

PROOF NECESSARY FOR CONVICTION.—The accused was charged with purchasing opium from unlicensed persons on the statement made by the accused to an Excise Darogha, who was directed by the Collector to question opium-eaters in order to elicit information for the purpose of prosecuting unlicensed vendors; the accused did not admit the statement. Held, that the accused could not be convicted as it had not been ascertained that the offence was actually committed. 19 P.R. 1890 (Cr.). See also 112 I.C. 901=30 Cr.L.J. 37=1928 Cal. 324.

BREACH OF CONDITION OF LICENCE—OFFENCE.—An infraction of a condition of a licence cannot be considered an infraction of the rules and punishable under sec. 9 Rat. 860. The terms of a licence issued under rules promulgated under secs. 5 and 8 are not to be regarded as part of the rules themselves; and consequently, an infraction of any of the conditions of a licence issued under the said rules cannot be considered an infraction of the rules and punishable under sec. 9 (f). Rat. 332. While a contravention of the rule is declared punishable under sec. 9 a contravention of the conditions of permit is no offence under sec. 9 (Preparation of incorrect accounts). 64 I. C. 155=24 O.C. 235. See also 26 C. 571. The rules made under the Act do not make the neglect to keep accounts an offence punishable under the Act. 1 Weir 831.

FORM OF CHARGE.—In a charge under sec. 9, the rule under which the accused is charged should be specified clearly so that the accused may know precisely with what he is charged and may not be misled in his defence. 10 P.R. 1888 (Cr.); 19 P.R. 1891 (Cr.).

SECS. 9 AND 10: SCOPE OF SECTIONS.—The section provides that opium in respect of which an offence under the section is committed must be opium in the possession of the accused, although the possession need not be to the knowledge of the accused. The section is a penal one and must therefore be read plainly; the plain meaning is that if excessive opium is found in a man's possession, he is liable to be punished, unless he is able to account for it satisfactorily. 8 C.W.N. 349.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where opium is found in the luggage of a child in charge of an adult, the presumption is that it is in the possession of a person in loco parentis to the child until the contrary is proved. The presumption under sec. 10 should be imposed on the accused, only after giving him an opportunity to account for the possession of opium, and if he is then unable to account for it satisfactorily; and the punishment awarded under the Act should not be one beyond what the public interest demands. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 139. The holder of a mate's receipt is presumed, till the contrary is proved, to be in possession of the consignment covered by it. U.B.R. 314. Under sec. 10, where the accused is found in constructive possession of a package containing opium, he is bound to account satisfactorily for it and to prove that no offence is committed by him in respect of it. L.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, p. 242. In constructing sec. 10, some limitation must be placed upon the general words of the section, namely, “it shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, that all opium for which the accused person is unable to account satisfactorily is opium in respect of which he has committed an offence under this Act”. 14 C.W.N. 710. The effect of secs. 9 and 10 of the Opium Act seems to be that, when once it is proved that an accused person has dealt with opium in any of the ways described in sec. 9, the onus of proving that he had a right so to deal with it is thrown upon the accused by sec. 10. But the commission of an act which may be an offence must be proved before the presumption under sec. 10 comes into play, and the presumption cannot be used to establish the fact. 14 C.W.N. 710. Where the accused, after having purchased opium on behalf of his master, did not send it to the master's shop, but falsely said, when asked as to it, that the opium had been stolen. Held, these circumstances, though they raise a suspicion that the accused sold the opium, are not sufficient to prove that he had done so, and the rule of statutory presumption embodied in sec. 10 does not apply and cannot be used to establish that fact. But as, on the facts proved, the accused might have been convicted of unlawful transport of opium, the conviction and sentence were not interfered with. (Ibid.) See also 188 P.L.R. 1907=11 P.R. 1906 (Cr.). A Magistrate is not competent to distribute fines among persons who may have been concerned in the detection of an offence under the Act. Rule No. 67, so far as it authorizes such payment, is ultra vires. 13 P.R. 1894 (Cr.). Where the accused was prosecuted for being in possession of opium in excess of the quantity allowed by law, the accused pleaded that the discovery of the excess quantity was the result of an illegal search. Held, the fact that the discovery was the result of an illegal search cannot exonerate the accused from his criminal liability. 11 P.R. 1906 (Cr.)=4 Cr. L.J. 290=118 P.L.R. 1907.

SEC. 10: POSSESSION.—The term “possession” implies knowledge on the part of the alleged possessor. A man has not the possession of that, of the existence of which he exceeding the quantity (if any) which he is permitted to transport, import or export, as the case may be, the whole of the opium which he is transporting, importing or exporting,

* (c) where in the case of an offence under clause ¹[(d)] of the same section, the offender has in his possession any opium other than the opium in respect of which the offence has been committed, the whole of such other opium, shall be liable to confiscation.

The vessels, packages and coverings in which any opium liable to confiscation under this section is found, and the other contents (if any) of the vessel or package in which such opium may be concealed, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying it, shall likewise be liable to confiscation.

12. When the offender is convicted, or when the person charged with an offence in respect of any opium is acquitted, but the Order of confiscation by Magistrate decides that the opium is liable to confiscation, such confiscation may be ordered by the Magistrate.

Whenever confiscation is authorised by this Act, the officer ordering it may give the owner of the thing liable to be confiscated an option to pay, in lieu of confiscation, such fine as the officer thinks fit.

When an offence against this Act has been committed, but the offender is not known or cannot be found, or when opium not in the possession of any person cannot be satisfactorily accounted for, the case shall be enquired into and determined by the Collector of the district or Deputy Commissioner, or by any other officer authorized by the Provincial Government in this behalf, either personally or in right of his office, who may order such confiscation: Provided that no such order shall be made until the expiration of one month from the date of seizing the things intended to be confiscated or without hearing the persons (if any) claiming any right thereto, and the evidence (if any) which they produce in support of their claims.

13. The Provincial Government may, ¹[* *] from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules² consistent with this Act to regulate—

BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where an accused person gives an account of his possession of the opium, which, if true, is satisfactory, and there is no evidence to show that it is untrue the burden of proving how he became possessed of the opium in question does not fall on him. Possession must be proved, as opium is not unfrequently maliciously placed in or upon a person's premises by an enemy, who, then, brings down the police to the spot where the opium is found, and as such finding does not prove the possession contemplated by law. CONFISCATION OF PROPERTY—PROOF.—Where a cartman was hired by the accused and in the cart was found a bag containing opium belonging to the accused, held, that the order for the confiscation of the cart was not legal, in the absence of evidence to show that the cartman knew that the accused's bag contained opium, and, even if he knew that there was opium in the bag, that the accused had no right to transport it. 1 Weir 835.

APPEAL FROM ORDER OF CONFISCATION.—No appeal lies against an order of confiscation passed under sec. 11. 1 Weir 835.

SEC. 14.—In case of assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty the test is whether the officer at the time of the assault was lawfully discharging a duty imposed on him by law as such. Was he doing what it was his duty to do, when he was assaulted. Unless the Excise Officer had been authorised to enter a building and search; unless he had reduced to writing the information received by him as required by sec. 14, he would not be acting in the lawful discharge of a duty imposed on him by law as an Inspector in attempting to make a search and an assault committed on him would not be an assault committed on him in the execution of his duty and therefore the person assaulting such Inspector cannot be convicted under Penal Code, sec. 353. SECS. 14 TO 16: SCOPE OF SECTIONS.—SEARCH FOR OPIUM.—Sec. 16 lays down that searches under sec. 14 and 15 shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure. 4 L.B.R. 121=14 Bur.L.R. 202=7 Cr.L.J. 87. Under the Excise Act, it would appear from the wording of sec. 38 of that Act, that it is not necessary for an Excise Officer to conduct the search under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It is objectionable to be constantly calling the same person to witness the search, and to do so is likely to prejudice the mind of a trying Magistrate against the prosecution. (Ibid.) See also 1930 R. 49=7 R. 771=121 I.C. 715; 1927 R. 170=100 I.C. 980. When searches are undertaken under the provisions of the Opium Act, neighbours or respectable house-owners near to the house searched, should be called in to witness the search. A written information is not evidence. If it is desired to make the matter contained in it evidence, a person who could directly testify to such matter should be produced as witness. 4

Power to seize opium in open places. 15. Any officer of any of the said departments may—

(a) seize, in any open place or in transit, any opium or other thing which he has reason to believe to be liable to confiscation under section 11 or any other law for the time being in force relating to opium;

(b) detain and search any person whom he has reason to believe to be guilty of any offence against this or any other such law, and, if such person has opium in his possession, arrest him and any other persons in his company.

16. All searches under section 14 or section 15 shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure.¹

17. The officers of the several departments mentioned in section 14 shall, upon notice given or request made, be legally bound to assist each other in carrying out the provisions of this Act.

Vexatious entries, searches, seizures and arrests. 18. Any officer of any of the said departments who, without reasonable ground of suspicion, enters or searches, or causes to be entered or searched, any

* POWER OF ARREST.—Sec. 24 of Act XIII of 1857 does not authorise a police officer unconditionally to arrest a person against whom the information mentioned in that section has been received. It only authorises a police officer to take security from the person informed against, and the power to take such person into custody arises only upon his default in giving security that may be demanded of him. But the power of arrest, under sec. 4 (g), Criminal Procedure Code, is an unqualified power. 24 C. 681 See also 43 C. 1161=20 C.W.N. 1294=35 I.C. 811=17 Cr.L.J. 379; seizure of opium—see 10 Cr.L.J. 86=2 I.C. 546=5 L.B.R. 56.

ONUS OF PROVING knowledge is on the prosecution. 1930 C. 668=129 I.C. 184. The mere fact that opium was found in the accused's claim without proof of any additional facts to establish connection between him and the opium will not suffice to discharge that onus. (Ibid.); 59 I.C. 133.

SECS. 14 AND 20.—Sec. 14 read with sec. 20 requires an Excise Inspector, where a search is made in consequence of information received, that the information should be reduced to writing. 146 I.C. 43=1933 Sind 174.

SECS. 15-19: TIME OF SEARCH.—Opium which is being carried about from place to place in a boat is 'in transit', although the boat is temporarily anchored or otherwise fastened. But sec. 15 does not authorise an officer to enter and search a boat between sunset and sunrise, against the will of the person in charge of it, without a warrant from another officer authorised under sec. 19 of the Act. 5 L.B.R. 56=2 I.C. 546 (F.B.).

SEC. 15.—According to the Opium Act, all searches under sec. 15 are to be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure. There is, however, no provision in the Code relating to searches of persons, except sec. 102 (3) which refers to persons in or about a place liable to search. Sec. 103 deals only with 'places to be searched' and it has no application to searches under the Opium Act. Irregularity in the search does not necessarily invalidate the proceedings. It always affords a ground for scrutiny, and if, after careful scrutiny, the Court comes to the conclusion that an excisable article was recovered from the possession of the accused, then the conviction is treated as a sound one. 1941 Rang.L.R. 552=A.I.R. 1941 Rang. 333.

SEC. 16: SEARCH, HOW MADE.—In conducting a search under this Act of premises occupied by the accused, the provisions of sec. 103 of the Code of Criminal Procedure are to be observed. The residents of the locality must be asked to be present and a list of property found should be made. The Repealed by Act XII of 1891.

THE INDIAN PASSPORT ACT (XXXIV OF 1920).

[9th September, 1920.]

An Act to take power to require passports of persons entering British India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to take power to require passports of persons entering British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN PASSPORT ACT, 1920.

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan, the Sonthal Parganas and the district of Angul.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,— “entry” means entry by water, land or air;

“passport” means a passport for the time being in force issued or renewed by the prescribed authority and satisfying the conditions prescribed relating to the class of passports to which it belongs; and “prescribed” means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

(b) prescribe the authorities by whom passports must have been issued or renewed, and the conditions with which they must comply for the purposes of this Act; and

(c) provide for the exemption, either absolutely or on any condition, of any person or class of persons from any provision of such rules.

SEC. 53.—The word "Court" in sec. 53 refers to the District Court; and a suit under sec. 53 must be instituted in the District Court. 188 I.C. 871=A.I.R. 1940 Pesh. 19. Sec. 53 is self-contained in itself, and the two parts of sec. 53 (2) are disjunctive. The plaintiff must make his election of remedies under the section before the final hearing of the suit. 38 Bom.L.R. 823=A.I.R. 1936 Bom. 408. It is not necessary, in order to entitle a plaintiff to relief on the ground of infringement of copyright in design, that the infringing design should be an exact copy or reproduction of the registered design. The words "fraudulent or obvious imitation" ought not to be construed as meaning exact reproduction. 181 I.C. 547=41 Bom.L.R. 45=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 103. The onus of proving that defendant had knowledge of plaintiff's rights or that he applied or caused to be applied such designs to the articles sold by him lies on plaintiff. Sec. 106, Evidence Act, does not apply. 40 C.W.N. 938=A.I.R. 1936 C. 493. Sec. 53 creates three separate acts which are unlawful. The first is to apply the design in the way described; the second is to do anything with a view to enable the design to be applied in the way described in the statement of the first of the offences and the third is to expose or cause to be exposed for sale the article under the conditions specified under head (b). The acts referred to in the Act must, in order to constitute offences under the Act, be committed in British India. 40 Bom.L.R. 661=A.I.R. 1938 Bom. 413. Under sec. 53 (1) (a) it is not the application that has to be fraudulent, but the imitation should be considered as "fraudulent or obvious" or not. A person is entitled to sue the infringer as soon as the latter causes the design to be applied to his goods and imports the same for sale in British India, though the design is actually applied to the goods in a country outside British India. 181 I.C. 547=41 Bom.L.R. 45=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 103. The question of actual damage must always be seriously considered when allotting penalties for the various offences under this section. 1933 R. 240.

The equitable remedies in respect of an infringement of a design or not excluded by the statute and in a suit for relief on the ground of infringement, the plaintiff is therefore entitled to ask for delivery up of the goods with the infringing trade mark to him for destruction. 181 I.C. 547=41 Bom.L.R. 45=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 103.

A certificate of registration, issued by the controller under sec. 45 (1) to the proprietor of a design when registered, is not final and conclusive. There is only a prima facie presumption that the person whose name is registered as the proprietor is the proprietor of a new or original design, but the presumption can be rebutted. The certificate is not conclusive, and there is nothing in the Act which prevents the defendant in a suit for damages for infringement of a registered design under sec. 53 of the Act from raising in defence the plea that the design was previously published and was neither new or original. The onus is of course on the defendant who seeks to go behind the certificate of registration to show that the plaintiff is not the proprietor of the registered design in question. 43 Bom.L.R. 280.

A patent may be sustained though each principle or process in it was previously well-known to all persons engaged in the trade to which the patent relates, provided that the mode of combining those processes was new and produced a beneficial rein any class of goods in which the design is registered the design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof, except with the licence or written consent of the registered proprietor, or to do anything with a view to enable the design to be so applied; or

(b) knowing that the design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof has been applied to any article without the consent of the registered proprietor, to publish or expose or cause to be published or exposed for sale that article.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall be liable for every contravention,—

(a) to pay to the registered proprietor of the design a sum not exceeding five hundred rupees recoverable as a contract debt, or

(b) if the proprietor elects to bring a suit for the recovery of damages for any such contravention, and for an injunction against the repetition thereof, to pay such damages as may be awarded and to be restrained by injunction accordingly:

Provided that the total sum recoverable in respect of any one design under clause (a) shall not exceed one thousand rupees.

(3) When the Court makes a decree in a suit under sub-section (2), it shall send a copy of the decree to the Controller, who shall cause an entry thereof to be made in the register of designs.

THE PAYMENT OF WAGES ACT (IV OF 1936).

[N.B.—Am. Act XX of 1937, Act XXII of 1937 and Ordinance III of 1940.]

[23rd April, 1936.]

An Act to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent, commencement and application. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE PAYMENT OF WAGES ACT, 1936.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

sult, and provided also that the specification claimed not the old processes, or any one of them, but only the new combination. A new combination of known processes and methods to produce a known article is a "new manufacture" within the meaning of the statute, if the result of such a combination is to produce the article either greater in yield, or cheaper in costs or better in quality. I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 372=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 247.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

(4) It applies in the first instance to the payment of wages to persons employed in any factory and to persons employed (otherwise than in a factory) upon any railway by a railway administration or, either directly or through a sub-contractor, by a person fulfilling a contract with a railway administration.

(5) The Provincial Government may, after giving three months' notice of its intention of so doing, by notification in the Official Gazette, extend the provisions of the Act or any of them to the payment of wages to any class of persons employed in any industrial establishment or in any class or group of industrial establishments.

(6) Nothing in this Act shall apply to wages payable in respect of a wage-period which, over such wage-period, average two hundred rupees a month or more.

Definitions.

(ii) "industrial establishment" means any—

(a) tramway or motor omnibus service;

(b) dock, wharf or jetty;

(c) inland steam-vessel;

(d) mine, quarry or oil-field;

(e) plantation;

(f) workshop or other establishment in which articles are produced, adapted or manufactured, with a view to their use, transport or sale;

(iii) "plantation" means any estate which is maintained for the purpose of growing cinchona, rubber, coffee or tea, and on which twenty-five or more persons are employed for that purpose;

(iv) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

(v) "railway administration" has the meaning assigned to it in clause (6) of section 3 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890; and

(vi) "wages" means all remuneration, capable of being expressed in terms of money, which would, if the terms of the contract of employment, express or implied, were fulfilled, be payable, whether conditionally upon the regular attendance, good work or conduct or other behaviour of the person employed, or otherwise, to a person employed in respect of his employment or of work done in such employment, and includes any bonus or other additional remuneration of the nature aforesaid which would be so payable and any sum payable to such person by reason of the termination of his employment, but does not include—

(a) the value of any house accommodation, supply of light, water, medical attendance or other amenity, or of any service excluded by general or special order of the ¹[* * * *] Provincial Government;

(b) any contribution paid by the employer to any pension fund or provident fund;

SEC. 2.—"Wages" as defined by sec. 2 can only mean wages earned and cannot embrace potential wages. Bonus which workman might earn but has not earned cannot form part of his wages. The words "remuneration, which would, if the contract were fulfilled be payable", mean no more than remuneration payable on the fulfilment of the contract. Bonus never becomes payable to an employee who does not earn it under the terms of the contract. 32 Bom.L.R. 955=1941 Bom. 26.

(b) in industrial establishments, if there is a person responsible to the employer for the supervision and control of the industrial establishment,

(c) upon railways (otherwise than in factories), if the employer is the railway administration and the railway administration has nominated a person in this behalf for the local area concerned, the person so named, the person so responsible to the employer, or the person so nominated, as the case may be, shall be responsible for such payment.

4. (1) Every person responsible for the payment of wages under section 3 shall fix periods (in this Act referred to as wage-

(3) The ¹[Provincial Government] may, by general or special order, exempt, to such extent and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order, the person responsible for the payment of wages to persons employed upon any railway (otherwise than in a factory) from the operation of this section in respect of the wages of any such persons or class of such persons.

(4) All payments of wages shall be made on a working day.

Wages to be paid in cur- 6. All wages shall be paid in current coin or

7. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, the wages of an employed person shall be paid to him without deductions of any kind except those authorised by or under this Act.

Explanation.—Every payment made by the employed person to the employer or his agent shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a deduction from wages.

(2) Deductions from the wages of an employed person shall be made only in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and may be of the following kinds only, namely:—

(a) fines;

(b) deductions for absence from duty;

(c) deductions for damage to or loss of goods expressly entrusted to the employed person for custody, or for loss of money for which he is required to account, where such damage or loss is directly attributable to his neglect or default;

- (d) deductions for house accommodation supplied by the employer;
 (e) deductions for such amenities and services supplied by the employer as the ¹[* * *] [Provincial Government] may, by general or special order, authorise;

Explanation.—The word 'services' in this sub-clause does not include the supply of tools and raw materials required for the purposes of employment.

(f) deductions for recovery of advances or for adjustment of overpayments of wages;

(g) deductions of income-tax payable by the employed person;

(h) deductions required to be made by order of a Court or other authority competent to make such order;

(j) deductions for payments to co-operative societies approved by the Provincial Government or to a scheme of insurance maintained by the Indian Post Office; and

[(k) deductions, made with the written authorization of the employed person, in furtherance of any War Savings scheme, approved by the Provincial Government for the purchase of securities of the Government of India or the Government of the United Kingdom.] (Added by Ordinance III of 1940.)

8. (1) No fine shall be imposed on any employed person save in respect of such acts and omissions on his part as the employer, with the previous approval of the Provincial Government or of the prescribed authority, may have specified by notice under sub-section (2).

(2) A notice specifying such acts and omissions shall be exhibited in the prescribed manner on the premises in which the employment is carried on or in the case of persons employed upon a railway (otherwise than in a factory), at the prescribed place or places.

(3) No fine shall be imposed on any employed person until he has been given an opportunity of showing cause against the fine, or otherwise than in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed for the imposition of fines.

(4) The total amount of fine which may be imposed in any one wage-period on any employed person shall not exceed an amount equal to half-an-anna in the rupee of the wages payable to him in respect of that wage-period.

(5) No fine shall be imposed on any employed person who is under the age of fifteen years.

(6) No fine imposed on any employed person shall be recovered from him by instalments or after the expiry of sixty days from the day on which it was imposed.

(7) Every fine shall be deemed to have been imposed on the day of the act or omission in respect of which it was imposed.

(8) All fines and all realisations thereof shall be recorded in a register to be kept by the person responsible for the payment of wages under section 3 in such form as may be prescribed; and all such realisations shall be applied only to such purposes beneficial to the persons employed in the factory or establishment as are approved by the prescribed authority.

Explanation.—When the persons employed upon or in any railway, factory or industrial establishment are part only of a staff employed under the same management, all such realisations may be credited to a common fund maintained for the staff as a whole, provided that the fund shall be applied only to such purposes as are approved by the prescribed authority.

9. (1) Deductions may be made under clause (b) of sub-section (2) of section 7 only on account of the absence of an employed person from the place or places where, by the terms of his employment, he is required to work, such absence being for the whole or any part of the period during which he is so required to work.

(2) The amount of such deduction shall in no case bear to the wages payable to the employed person in respect of the wage-period for which the deduction is made a larger proportion than the period for which he was absent bears to the total period, within such wage-period, during which by the terms of his employment, he was required to work:

Provided that, subject to any rules made in this behalf by the Provincial Government, if ten or more employed persons acting in concert absent themselves without due notice (that is to say without giving the notice which is required under the terms of their contracts of employment) and without reasonable cause, such deduction from any such person may include such amount not exceeding his wages for eight days as may by any such terms be due to the employer in lieu of due notice.

10. (1) A deduction under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 7 shall not exceed the amount of the damage or loss caused to the employer by the neglect or default of the employed person and shall not be made until the employed person has been given an opportunity of showing cause against the deduction, or otherwise than in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed for the making of such deductions.

(2) All such reductions and all realisations thereof shall be recorded in a register to be kept by the person responsible for the payment of wages under section 3 in such form as may be prescribed.

11. A deduction under clause (d) or clause (e) of sub-section (2) of section 7 shall not be made from the wages of an employed person, unless the house-accommodation, amenity or service has been accepted by him, as a term of employment or otherwise and such deduction shall not exceed an amount equivalent to the value of the house-accommodation, amenity or service supplied and, in the case of a deduction under the said clause (e), shall be subject to such conditions as ²[* *] the Provincial Government may impose.

12. Deductions under clause (f) of sub-section (2) of section 7 shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

Deductions for recovery of advances.

(a) recovery of an advance of money given before employment began shall be made from the first payment of wages in respect of a complete wage-period, but no recovery shall be made of such advances given for travelling-expenses;

Deductions for payments to co-operative societies and insurance schemes.

13. Deductions under clause (j) ¹[and clause (k)] of sub-section (2) of section 7 shall be subject to such conditions as the Provincial Government may impose.

(2) The ²[Provincial Government] may appoint Inspectors for the purposes of this Act in respect of all persons employed upon a railway (otherwise than in a factory) to whom this Act applies.

(3) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint such other persons as it thinks fit to be Inspectors for the purposes of this Act, and may define the local limits within which and the class of factories and industrial establishments in respect of which they shall exercise their functions.

(4) An Inspector may, at all reasonable hours, enter on any premises, and make such examination of any register or document relating to the calculation or payment of wages and take on the spot or otherwise such evidence of any person, and exercise such other powers of inspection, as he may deem necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(5) Every Inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

15. (1) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint any Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation or other officer with experience as a Judge of a Civil Court or as a stipendiary Magistrate to be the authority to hear and decide for any specified area all claims arising out of deductions from the wages, or delay in payment of the wages, of persons employed or paid in that area.

If an employer terminates his existing contract with his employee, but offers to re-employ him on a lower rate, there is nothing against it in the Act, and no question of deduction would arise. Provided that every such application shall be presented within six months from the date on which the deduction from the wages was made or from the date on which the payment of the wages was due to be made, as the case may be:

Provided further that any application may be admitted after the said period of six months when the applicant satisfies the authority that he had sufficient cause for not making the application within such period.

(3) When any application under sub-section (2) is entertained, the authority shall hear the applicant and the employer or other person responsible for the payment of wages under section 3, or give them an opportunity of being heard, and, after such further inquiry (if any) as may be necessary, may, without prejudice to any other penalty to which such employer or other person is liable under this Act, direct the refund to the employed person of the amount deducted, or the payment of the delayed wages together with the payment of such compensation as the authority may think fit, not exceeding ten times the amount deducted in the former case and not exceeding ten rupees in the latter:

Provided that no direction for the payment of compensation shall be made in the case of delayed wages if the authority is satisfied that the delay was due to—

(a) a bona fide error or a bona fide dispute as to the amount payable to the employed person, or

(b) the occurrence of an emergency, or the existence of exceptional circumstances, such that the person responsible for the payment of the wages was unable, though exercising reasonable diligence, to make prompt payment, or

(c) the failure of the employed person to apply for or accept payment.

(4) If the authority hearing any application under this section is satisfied that it was either malicious or vexatious, the authority may direct that a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees be paid to the employer or other person responsible for the payment of wages by the person presenting the application.

17. (1) An appeal against a direction made under ¹[sub-section (3) or sub-section (4)] of section 15 may be preferred, within thirty days of the date on which the direction was made, in a Presidency-town ²[* * *] before the Court of Small Causes and elsewhere before the District Court—

SEC. 17: APPEALABILITY—TEST—DIRECTION—REJECTION OF CLAIM AS BARRED—IF A DIRECTION—APPEAL IF LIES.—According to sec. 17 of the Payment of Wages Act, appeals are allowed only when there has been a 'direction' which means an order to one side to make a certain payment to the other side. It is very doubtful whether when there has been a trial on the merits and no one has been directed to make any payment to the other side any appeal lies but when the application or claim is rejected as time bar-

An employed person has a right of appeal if his claim has been rejected in toto as also when his claim is allowed in part only. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 394=A.I.R. 1941 Sind 191. Under sec. 17 (1) (b) the right of appeal depends on the monetary value of the claim made by the applicant and not on any finding of the trial Court. The meaning of the

21. (1) No Court shall take cognizance of a complaint against any person for an offence under sub-section (1) of section 20, unless an application in respect of the facts constituting the offence has been presented under section 15 and has been granted wholly or in part and the authority empowered under the latter section or the appellate Court granting such application has sanctioned the making of the complaint.

(2) Before sanctioning the making of a complaint against any person for an offence under sub-section (1) of section 20, the authority empowered under section 15 or the appellate Court, as the case may be, shall give such person an opportunity of showing cause against the granting of such sanction, and the sanction shall not be granted if such person satisfies the authority or Court that his default was due to—

(a) a bona fide error or bona fide dispute as to the amount payable to the employed person, or

(b) the occurrence of an emergency, or the existence of exceptional circumstances, such that the person responsible for the payment of the wages was unable, though exercising reasonable diligence, to make prompt payment, or

(c) the failure of the employed person to apply for or accept payment.

(3) No Court shall take cognizance of a contravention of section 4 or of section 6 or of a contravention of any rule made under section 26 except on a complaint made by or with the sanction of an Inspector under this Act.

(4) In imposing any fine for an offence under sub-section (1) of section 20 the Court shall take into consideration the amount of any compensation already awarded against the accused in any proceedings taken under section 15.

(c) has been adjudged, in any proceeding under section 15, not to be owed to the plaintiff; or clause is clear, and there is no justification for holding otherwise on the ground that the section lends itself to exaggeration of claims for the purpose of making any orders passed thereon appealable. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 394=A.I.R. 1941 Sind 191.

Sec. 17 (1) (a) provides for an appeal only if the total sum directed to be paid by way of wages as well as compensation exceeds Rs. 300. When no amount of wages is ordered to be paid, an order for compensation alone which does not exceed Rs. 300 is not appealable under sec. 17 (1). I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 649=44 Bom.L.R. 606=1942 Bom. 273.

SEC. 17 (1) (a):—RIGHT OF APPEAL.—NO SUM AWARDED AS COMPENSATION.—Under sec. 17 (1) (a) of the Payment of Wages Act an appeal if the sum directed to be paid exceeds Rs. 300; and it is not necessary that such sum should include the amount payable on account of compensation. The words "by way of wages and compensation" in sec. 17 (1) (a) are by way of a description and not a condition precedent for the maintainability of an appeal. 1945 N.L.J. 281.

ORDER OF DISTRICT COURT IN APPEAL.—REVISION.—C. P. CODE, SEC. 115.—The High Court has power to revise an order passed by the District Court in appeal under sec. 17 of the Payment of Wages Act. A District Court decides a "case" within the meaning of sec. 115, C. P. Code, when it decides the appeal. 1945 N.L.J. 281.

SEC. 17 (2); SUBJECT-MATTER BELOW APPEALABLE VALUE.—REVISION.—The word "final" in sec. 17 (2) of the Payment of Wages Act prohibits only an appeal and not an application for revision. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 540=1944 N.L.J. 329.

23. Any contract or agreement, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, whereby an employed person relinquishes any right conferred by this Act shall be null and void in so far as it purports to deprive him of such right.

24. ¹[The powers by this Act conferred upon the Provincial Government shall, in relation to Federal railways (within the meaning of the Government of India Act, 1935) mines and oilfields, be powers of the Central Government].

25. The person responsible for the payment of wages to persons employed in a factory shall cause to be displayed in such factory a notice containing such abstracts of this Act and of the rules made thereunder in English and in the language of the majority of the persons employed in the factory, as may be prescribed.

26. (1) The ²[Provincial Government] may make rules to regulate the procedure to be followed by the authorities and Courts referred to in sections 15 and 17.

(2) The Provincial Government may ³[* * *] by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(3) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, rules made under sub-section (2) may—

(a) require the maintenance of such records, registers, returns and notices as are necessary for the enforcement of the Act and prescribe the form thereof;

(b) require the display in a conspicuous place on premises where employment is carried on of notices specifying rates of wages payable to persons employed on such premises;

(c) provide for the regular inspection of the weights, measures and weighing machines used by employers in checking or ascertaining the wages of persons employed by them;

(d) prescribe the manner of giving notice of the days on which wages will be paid;

(e) prescribe the authority competent to approve under sub-section (1) of section 8 acts and omissions in respect of which fines may be imposed;

SECS. 22 AND 15—CLAIM FOR MONEY ALLEGED TO BE DUE IN LIEU OF NOTICE AFTER DISMISSAL—CLAIM DENIED UNDER SEC. 15—JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT—IF BARRED.—A Civil Court is not barred by sec. 22, read with sec. 15 of the Payment of Wages Act from trying a suit in which the plaintiff is claiming a sum of money alleged to be in due in lieu of notice after dismissal from employment, when the claim is entirely denied under sec. 15. Delayed wages can only mean wages which are admittedly due, but the payment of which has been postponed on some excuse or other. This view seems to be confirmed by the proviso to sub-sec. (3) of sec. 15 in which it is said that a direction should not be made when the delay in the payment of wages is due to a bona fide dispute as to the amount payable by the employed person. This seems to suggest that any bona fide disputes as to the amount payable are to be tried by the Civil Courts for otherwise there would be no authority capable of making an order for payment when the amount is, in fact, due. 217 I.C. 228.

SEC. 26: PAYMENT OF WAGES (PROCEDURE) RULES (1937), R. 12.—Memo of appeal filed along with copy of order but not with copy of direction—Direction not drawn up within a month—Appeal, if maintainable.

If a memorandum of appeal is filed with a copy of the order but without a copy of the directions,—the directions not having been drawn up in the prescribed form within a month, there is substantial compliance with the Rules. The principle underlying sec. 99, C. P. Code, is applicable to the case. 1945 N.L.J. 281.

(f) prescribe the procedure for the imposition of fines under section 8 and for the making of the deductions referred to in section 10;

(g) prescribe the conditions subject to which deductions may be made under the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 9;

(h) prescribe the authority competent to approve the purposes on which the proceeds of fines shall be expended;

(i) prescribe the extent to which advances may be made and the instalments by which they may be recovered with reference to clause (b) of section 12.

(j) regulate the scales of costs which may be allowed in proceedings under this Act;

(k) prescribe the amount of court-fees payable in respect of any, proceedings under this Act; and

(l) prescribe the abstracts to be contained in the notices required by section 25.

(4) In making any rule under this section the Provincial Government may provide that a contravention of the rule shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(5) All rules made under this section shall be subject to the condition of previous publication, and the date to be specified under clause (3) of section 23 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, shall not be less than three months from the date on which the draft of the proposed rules was published.

According to sec. 7, it cannot be said that a Sub-Inspector is a public servant "who is not removable from his office save by or with the sanction of the Provincial Government or some higher authority" and hence sec. 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code will not apply to him and no sanction for his prosecution is necessary. The power to dismiss, suspend or reduce any police-officer of the subordinate rank conferred by sec. 7 of the Police Act on the Inspector-General and other officers is not a delegation of its powers by the Provincial Government. 188 I.C. 846=1940 O.W.N. 494=A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 382.

CONFINEMENT AND SUSPENSION—VALIDITY—WHAT CONSTITUTES CONFINEMENT.—Sec. 7 provides confinement for a term not exceeding 15 days as an alternative punishment for suspension. The section does not contemplate confinement in addition to suspension and certainly not indefinite confinement. To order a police-officer to live in the police lines until further orders and not to leave the lines without permission is to confine him in those lines. Such an order is clearly illegal. 58 C. 1132=134 I.C. 891=35 C.W.N. 547. See also 2 C.L.J. 616.

ORDER CONFINING POLICE-OFFICER TO POLICE LINES—REASONABLENESS.—Where a police-officer against whom an order of suspension had already been made was ordered to live in the police lines until further orders and by reason of the later order the police-officer was prejudiced in conducting his defence. Held, that assuming the order was legal it was an unreasonable one. The police-officer should on the other hand be given every opportunity to prepare his defence and not be hampered. (Ibid.)

SEC. 7 contemplates punishments to be awarded after the police-officer has been adjudged by his superior officer to be remiss or negligent in the discharge of his duty. Where the police-officer is suspended pending the result of the enquiry into his conduct and is ordered not to go out of his station, the orders are not illegal and do not fall under sec. 7. 23 Pat. 225=10 Cut.L.T. 20=1944 Pat. 256.

Sec. 7 confers the powers of appointment (which connote punishment), on certain designated officers, and the Local Government cannot, by any rules framed by it delegate disciplinary powers to those officers. It is conceivable that the Local Government might order such officers to exercise their disciplinary powers subject to its control or approval, but it cannot delegate such powers to be exercised on the Local Government's behalf. Consequently, Police Department Notification No. 44 of 1937 in so far as it does not leave the power of punishment of Sub-Inspectors to the authority by whom the appointment was made

¹[or may award any one or more of the following punishments to any police-officer ²[of the subordinate ranks] who shall discharge his duty in a careless or negligent manner, or who by any act of his own shall render himself unfit for the discharge thereof, namely:—

- (a) fine to any amount not exceeding one month's pay;
- (b) confinement to quarters for a term not exceeding fifteen days, with or without punishment drill, extra guard, fatigue or other duty;
- (c) deprivation of good-conduct pay;
- (d) removal from any office of distinction or special emolument].

8. ³Every police-officer ⁴[appointed to the police-force other than an officer mentioned in section 4] shall receive on his appointment a certificate in the form annexed to this Act,

Certificates to police-officers. under the seal of the Inspector-General or such other officer as the Inspector-General shall appoint by virtue of which the person holding such certificate shall be vested with the powers, functions and privileges of a police-officer.

SEC. 17: SCOPE OF SECTION.—See 10 C.W.N. 322; 18 W.R. (Cr.) 67. The only legitimate object for appointing special constables is to strengthen the ordinary police force by the addition of suitable persons to their number, when the ordinary force find themselves too few to meet an emergency. In a case of dispute as to proprietary rights, it is an abuse of the law and an act of oppression to appoint active men on one side as special constables, in order to prevent their asserting their alleged rights and so to give an advantage to the other party. A refusal to serve as such is no offence under sec. 173, I. P. Code, and proceedings could not be taken under that section. 10 C.W.N. 82=2 C.L.J. 555=3 Cr.L.J. 169. In a case where it was not clear that there was any danger of a disturbance of the peace or that, if there was such a danger, the ordinary police force available was not sufficient to cope with it. Held, that the appointment of the petitioner as a special constable was unnecessary and inexpedient. Held, further, that the petitioner should not be prosecuted under sec. 19 for his refusal to act in accordance with such appointment. 12 C.W.N. 727=8 C.L.J. 66=7 Cr.L.J. 507 (12 C.W.N. 366=10 C.W.N. 82=2 C.L.J. 555, F.). The failure of a person appointed as a special constable under sec. 17 to obey a lawful notice issued to him to attend a police station amounts to a neglect or refusal to serve as a special constable within sec. 19. SEC. 19.—Special constables should be appointed under sec. 19 only when it is really intended to use them as police-officers and to strengthen the ordinary police force and not otherwise. It is objectionable to appoint as special constables, parties to dispute against whom complaints have been lodged or proceedings under sec. 107, Cr. P. Refusal to accompany a police-officer to the Police Station, situated at some distance, not for any purpose of police duty but simply to obtain the authority of appointment to serve as special constables and the necessary badges and arms, does not amount to a refusal to serve as special constable, and it does not, therefore, constitute an offence under sec. 19. An arrest made by a police-officer on such a refusal is not lawful and any resistance offered to such an arrest does not amount to an offence under sec. 353 although it may amount to an offence under sec. 147. 28 C. 411=5 C.W.N. 134 (18 A. 246, Appr.; 3 C.W.N. 605, D.). SEC. 29 has no application to persons who are not police-officers. 10 C.L.R. 521. The expression "police-officer" applies to all the members of the police force in whatever capacity they may be employed, including constables. 116 I.C. 611=30 Cr.L.J. 635=1929 L. 325. Sec. 29 is to be construed quite widely. The words "rules and regulations" refer to such rules and regulations as are properly framed by competent authorities, that is to say, by the Inspector-General. So also the words "lawful order" refer to any order which any officer may lawfully give to any individual or specific body of individuals under his command. Offences under sec. 29 are not limited to the wilful breaches or neglect of a rule or regulation or a lawful order but include any "violation of duty." 9 P. 31=1930 P. 195. police-officer was served with one order of transfer and then with another order which he could reasonably have construed as cancelling the previous order and he did not comply with the first order, he could not be convicted of wilful breach or neglect of a lawful order made by a competent authority, 1922 P. 207. Where it could not be said that the accused failed without reasonable cause to report himself to duty on the expiration of his leave. Held, that he could not be convicted under sec. 29 for neglect of duty. 66 I.C. 67=25 C.W.N. 408. Where a police official makes wrong entries in the police diary and conceals certain bail bonds instead of producing them in Court, he is guilty of an offence under sec. 29. 1941 O.W.N. 1255=1941 A.W.R. (C.C.) 358=1941 O.A. 947=1942 Oudh 163.

REASONABLE CAUSE.—Where a police-officer who is really ill and is on leave fails to report himself for duty on the expiration of his leave, his failure to report is not without reasonable cause. 97 I.C. 423=27 Cr. L.J. 1111=1927 L. 15. There is nothing in the law to require a police officer to enter a Civil Hospital and not place himself under the treatment of a private practitioner when he is ill and, therefore, he should not be convicted under sec. 29 if he chooses to be treated by a private practitioner. (Ibid.) A man doing his best to keep rioters out and who is carried into a building by a rush of the very men whom he is trying to protect, is clearly showing no cowardice up to the time that he enters the building, and if after entering the building the persons inside refuse to let him go out, he is not guilty of cowardice. 112 I.C. 99=5 O.W.N. 256=29 Cr.L.J. 979=1928 O. 285. A person who has refused to act as a special constable, cannot be prosecuted under sec. 29. The provisions of that section were not intended to apply to special constable and cannot be interpreted as so applying by the operation of the provisions of sec. 18. 10 C.W.N. 322. In a summary trial of an offence under sec. 29 it is not sufficient to state that it consisted in the absence from special constable's parade on certain dates without permission, but it is necessary to state that the act consisted of a breach of duty lawfully imposed and to specify how the duty was created and in what act or omission the breach consisted. It was not intended to apply to a case, where the offence charged is absence from special constable's parade on certain dates without permission. The section is an exceedingly stringent provision and should not be put in force except in extreme cases, and where milder remedies have been tried and failed. 10 C.W.N. 79=2 C.L.J. 565=3 Cr.L.J. 178. The section deals with offences constituted either by any violation of duty, or wilful breach, or neglect of any rule or regulation, or lawful order made by competent authority on the part of a police-officer. Any neglect of duty short of a violation of duty does not amount to an offence under this section. 12

C. 427. See also 17 W.R. (Cr.) 34. An offence under the above section is not a cognizable offence. U.B.R. (1892-96), Vol. 1, p. 295. The words "lawful order" in sec. 29 mean an order which the authority mentioned therein is competent to make; so that they would not cover an order for extra drill given by a District Superintendent of Police to his constables, for their failing to cut down the jungle in the vicinity of their lines as per his orders. 12 C. 427. Where the order under sec. 7 is illegal no conviction under sec. 29 can be sustained for disobeying such an order. 58 C. 1132=134 I.C. 881=35 C.W.N. 547. The accused, a Sub-Inspector of Police, was charged with an offence under the section for carelessness in conducting an inquiry. The facts proved against him were that he failed to record the statements of certain parties till late in his inquiry, that he did not search the house of one Bakhti, that he did not keep a proper look out to ascertain whence the said Bakhti got certain ornaments found in her possession. On these findings he was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 100. Held, that the findings did not constitute any offence punishable under the section. 1883 A.W.N. 42. Every negligence does not amount to "violation of duty" within sec. 29 much less when it is not wilful. 107 I.C. 771=29 Cr.L.J. 285=1928 L. 164. Mere rashness or negligence on the part of a police-officer before ordering the search of a man's house for stolen property does not constitute an offence amounting to a violation of duty under sec. 29. 19 W.R. (Cr.) 7. [17 W.R. 34 Cr.; 8 Bom.L.R. App. 60, F.] Where there is not even mere neglect on his part, let alone intentional violation of duty, offence under the section is not made out. [17 W.R. A police constable who had gone to another station to escort an offender, delayed his departure from that station for two days. No order was given to him for the date of his return. There was some evidence to show that under similar circumstances police officers had been given two days' halt. Held, that he was not guilty under sec. 29. 116 I.C. 611 = 30 Cr.L.J. 635 = 1929 L. 325. When a police-officer is authorised by law to depute his subordinate to proceed to a place where a crime is reported to have been committed, he cannot be supposed to have contravened the law by not proceeding to the spot himself; under such circumstances the conviction of the prisoner on a charge of wilful violation of duty is illegal. 1 Agra (Cr.) 1. Sec. 29 contemplates that the person, to be charged with an offence under that section, must have been at the time of his doing the act in respect of which the charge is preferred a police constable within the meaning of that statute. A suspended police-officer ceases to be a police-officer. Where a police constable was suspended, and was ordered to remain in the lines during the suspension, held, that he was not guilty under sec. 29, for absenting himself therefrom without leave. 10 A. 459=1888 A.W.N. 169. [17 W.R. (Cr.) 12, F.] A mukhtar who is allowed to have possession of the diary by the Police Officer is guilty of the abetment of the offence under sec. 29, as the offence continues so long as the diary is in mukhtar's hand. 9 P. 31=1930 P. 195. A police-officer negligently or improperly submitting an incorrect report of a local investigation may be punished under sec. 29 in cases where the proof is sufficient to bring the case under sec. 218 of the Penal Code. 15 W.R. Cr. 17.

JURISDICTION.—A Deputy Magistrate exercising the full power of a Magistrate has jurisdiction under this section, to fine police officers for violation of duty. 4 W.R. Cr. 2. A Magistrate only, and not a Sessions Judge has power to try cases under the above section. 1 W.R. Cr. 5. [R. 19 A. 465.] A Cantonment Magistrate has power to try cases, under this section without complaint. 1 Agra Cr. 24. A District Magistrate is not precluded under sec. 556, Cr. P. Code, on account of his being the head of the Police in the District, from trying a person under sec. 29 for a breach of an order issued by a Reserve Inspector. 22 A. 340. [R. 24 M. 238=2 Weir 370.] Sec. 29 does not give a Magistrate jurisdiction over European British subjects. Where, in a prosecution under sec. 29, the plea of being an European British subject is raised by the accused, the Magistrate is bound to enquire into and determine that plea. 3 N.W. P. 128. The summary conviction and punishment of two police-officers under this section by a Cantonment Magistrate without formal trial, was held to be irregular and illegal. 1 Agra Cr. 24.

POWER TO MAKE RULES.—There is no express power given by the Act to any officer, save the Inspector-General of Police, to make rules; he can do so under sec. 12 for, amongst other purposes, preventing abuse or neglect of duty. Such rules must be made subject to the approval of the Local Government. Therefore a disobedience of an order of the District Superintendent to the effect that constables are to be within the lines at 9 P.M. is not an offence under sec. 29. 15 C. 194. See also 10 C.W.N. 79=2 C.L.J. 565=3 Cr.L.J. 178; 1 Agra (Cr.) 24; 3 N.W.P. 128; 22 A. 54; 1 W.R. (Cr.) 5; 17 W.R. (Cr.) 12=8 B.L.R. App. 58; 6 C. 625; 15 C. 194; 10 A. 459; 25 C.W.N. 408=66 I.C. 67=23 Cr.L.J. 227. The meaning of R. 278 of Police Manual, Part I, is that the Court officer is to keep the diaries in his own possession and that if the accused or his agent call for the diary in any circumstances other than those mentioned in the earlier part of para. (b) of the rule the Court officer should refuse to comply with the request. 9 P. 31=1930 P. 195. The words "document or information" used in R. 803 of Police Manual, Pt. I, are comprehensive enough to include the police diaries, although they have been specifically dealt with under R. 278. (Ibid.) R. 261-A of the Police Manual, Pt. I, is merely an enabling rule except that in the case of a Magistrate who institutes a prosecution he must be the Magistrate of the District. (Ibid.)

SEC. 30: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Per Mullick and Courts, JJ.:—"The words of sec. 30 are sufficiently general to enable the Superintendent of Police to issue a general notification containing a prohibition against convening or collecting assemblies or directing or promoting procession without a licence. If the person or persons against whom the notice is directed convenes or collects an assembly or promotes or directs a procession without licence he or they will be punishable under sec. 32". 3 Pat.L.T. 585 = 1922 P. 274=68 I.C. 945=23 Cr.L.J.

(2) He may also, on being satisfied that it is intended by any persons or class of persons to convene or collect an assembly in any such road, street or thoroughfare, or to form a procession which would, in the judgment of the Magistrate of the district, or of the sub-division of a district, if uncontrolled, be likely to cause a breach of the peace, require by general or special notice that the persons convening or collecting such assembly or directing or promoting such procession shall apply for a licence.

(3) On such application being made, he may issue a licence specifying the names of the licensees and defining the conditions on which alone such assembly or such procession is to be permitted to take place and otherwise giving effect to this section: Provided that no fee shall be charged on the application for, or grant of, any such licence.

625. But see 53 C. 879=133 I.C. 192=32 Cr.L.J. 1005=35 C.W.N. 187. There is nothing in the Act which renders a person liable to punishment for joining an assembly or procession which has already been convened or collected if he has no notice that the convenor or promoter had omitted to take out a licence, but after becoming aware that the person whose duty it was to take out a licence has failed to do so, he persists in remaining with the assembly or procession, then it may be said that he shares the common object of such persons to resist the execution of the Superintendent's order. His conduct may then amount to an offence under sec. 141, I. P. Code. 3 Pat.L.T. 585=68 I.C. 945=23 Cr.L.J. 625.

Per Bhide, J.—The object of the licence is to secure observance of certain conditions by every member of the procession and merely by the licensee. The licence is granted to the directors or promoters of the procession as a matter of convenience as it will not be practicable to require every potential member of a procession to take out a licence. The directors or promoters of a procession who take out a licence in such case therefore become responsible for the conduct of the processionists. It will obviously be the duty of the licensee in such a case to explain the conditions of the licence to all who wish to take part in the procession. A.I.R. 1941 Lah. 372 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 820=43 Cr.L.J. 145.

TERMS EXPLAINED.—“PROCESSION”.—Procession is the action of a body of persons going or marching along in orderly succession in a formal or ceremonial way, especially as a religious ceremony or on a festive occasion. Where an image was merely carried down the ghat by four or five carriers and immersed in the river and there was nothing to be described as a body of persons going or marching along in orderly succession in a formal or ceremonial way, it is not correct to say that it was carried in a procession. 130 I.C. 239=32 Cr.L.J. 482=1931 C. 128.

“THOROUGHFARE”.—As the Parshottam Das Park was not intended to be exclusively used as a thoroughfare, or as a way by which people passed and as that was not its chief or primary object, the whole of the park could not be said to be a thoroughfare within the meaning of sec. 30. 145 I.C. 738

SCOPE OF POWERS.—POWER TO CONTROL PROCESSION, BUT NOT TO FORBID.—Sec. 30 gives the police power to control processions. In order that this power may be exercised, the Act in certain circumstances authorizes the police to require persons to apply for licences. The object of this is that adequate arrangements for control may be made in time. But the police have no power to forbid the issue of a procession. The power to control does not include the power to forbid. 4 P. 795=27 Cr.L.J. 522=1926 P. 173. Sec. 30 as amended by Act VIII of 1895 only authorises the police to regulate the extent to which music may be used in the streets on the occasion of festivals and ceremonies. Neither sec. 30 nor sec. 31 empowers the police to issue a general order prohibiting any singing in the streets at night L.B.R. (1893-1900), p. 394. It is the right of a citizen to use the public thoroughfares, provided that he commits no offence in doing so and the taking out of a procession is not in itself an offence, nor does it require a special licence except as provided by sec. 30 that is a section which empowers the Superintendent of Police to control processions, and the manner in which they are to be controlled, if it is necessary to control them, is set forth in sub-sec.(2). It is impossible to read into the section any authority for absolutely forbidding the taking out of a procession. Accordingly it is no offence to take out a procession merely because an application for licence was rejected. 155 I.C. 605=1935 A.L.J. 386.

NOTICE REQUIRING CONVENERS TO APPLY FOR LICENCE.—VALIDITY.—Quære:—Whether a notice under sec. 30 sub-sec. (2) requiring conveners, collectors, directors, promoters of assemblies or processions of five or more men in the jurisdiction of a particular police station to apply to Assistant Superintendent of Police for a licence for such assemblies or processions is valid? 144 I.C. 185=34 Cr.L.J. 688=1933 C. 353.

GENERAL NOTICE.—LEGALITY.—Sec. 30 does not empower the police-officer to issue a general notice that any one taking out a procession passing a mosque must take out a licence. It does not contemplate his taking any action until he is satisfied that it is intended to take out a procession which in the opinion of the Magistrate if uncontrolled would be likely to cause a breach of the peace. 58 C. 879=32 Cr.L.J. 1005=35 C.W.N. 187. But see 23 Cr.L.J. 625=68 I. C. 945.

CONDITIONS IN LICENCE—VAGUE AND INDEFINITE TERMS.—In a licence issued under sec. 30 (2), there was a condition that the "speed of the procession shall be under the directions of the Ilaga Magistrate and the local police". Held, that before such a condition can be made the subject of prosecution it must be entered in the licence in clear and unambiguous terms and a licensee cannot be prosecuted for the violation of a condition which is so vague and indefinite that it is difficult to hold that the licensee was bound to obey the orders of the Magistrate and the local police as to the speed of the procession. 30 Cr.L.J. 371=10 L. 852=1929 L. 404.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONDITIONS OF LICENCE—SURETIES.—It is the applicant for the licence alone to whom the licence can be given and who is bound by the conditions of the licence under sec. 30. Where the names of certain persons were included in the licence as sureties according to the particular form of licence used on the occasion, held, that the provision in the licence as to sureties was unauthorised by law. 30 Cr.L.J. 371=10 L. 852=1929 L. 404. There is no provision of law which makes it incumbent on an applicant for a licence, to provide sureties or which authorizes the officers concerned to demand such sureties. (Ibid.)

'ISSUE' OF LICENCE, WHAT CONSTITUTES.—In the Act the word "issue" has not been defined; but it signifies that, if the D.S.P. or Assistant D.S.P. signs the licence and delivers it to some one with directions that it shall in due course be delivered to the applicant, the licence has been issued within the meaning of sec. 30. 4 P. 795=27 Cr.L.J. 522=1926 P. 173.

OPERATION OF NOTIFICATION.—A notification under sec. 30 cannot be held to be operative after the occasion which called for the notification has passed away. 32 C.W. N. 162=29 Cr.L.J. 126=1928 C. 272.

PROCESSION BEFORE 'GETTING' LICENCE.—Once an application is made in time the applicant is free to take out his procession whether the licence had by then been issued or not. If the licence has been issued, he is bound to obey the conditions whether it has been delivered or not; if, on the other hand, it has not been issued, he is bound only to see that the general law was not broken. 4 P. 795=27 Cr.L.J. 522=1926 P. 173.

REGULATING MUSIC IN STREETS.—The District Superintendent of Police under sec. 30 is authorized to regulate the extent to which music may be used in the streets on the occasion of festivals and ceremonies, but a prohibition of every kind of music is not covered by the word "regulate". (39 All. 131, Rel. on.). 51 A. 485=1929 A.L.J. 180=1929 A. 201.

ORDER UNDER SECTION—DISOBEDIENCE TO.—Disobedience to an order under sec. 30 (2) constitutes resistance 'to the execution of any law' within that meaning of sec. 141, I. P. Code. 54 M. 1025=1931 M. 484=61 M. L.J. 842.

SEC. 30 (4): ORDER THAT NO MUSIC TO BE PLAYED WITHIN 40 PACES OF MOSQUE—LEGALITY.—Where an order is that no procession with music would be allowed to pass within 40 paces from the mosque, that is clearly a regulation that falls within the ambit of sec. 30 (4). The District Superintendent of Police has a right to regulate the extent to which music may be used in the streets on future occasions, and it is not necessary for him to pass a separate order on every occasion. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 295=1943 N.L.J. 352=A.L.R. 1943 Nag. 199.

ORDINARY MEMBERS OF PROCESSION—CONVICTION—LEGALITY.—Persons can only be properly convicted under sec. 30 (2) if it is established that they were directors or promoters of a procession and were as such under an obligation to apply for a licence for it. If they were merely ordinary members of the procession, sec. 30, sub-sec. (2) does not apply to them. The mere fact that they were at the head of the procession, and wearing garlands is not sufficient. 144 I.C. 185=34 Cr.L.J. 688=1933 C. 353.

SECS. 30, 31 AND 32.—Orders passed under secs. 30, 31 and 32 do not define rights of persons, nor decide who is in the wrong in the case of any dispute in public place. 15 N.L.R. 51=20 Cr.L.J. 313=50 I.C. 489. With respect to orders issued by police, the presumption is that they are issued in pursuance of duty. (Ibid.) Whether orders issued by police, are in the exercise of duty and are reasonably necessary, is a question of fact. (Ibid.) Under sec. 30 there must be a notice special or general on each occasion on which an intended assembly or assemblies is or are required by the Superintendent of Police to be controlled by means of licences to be taken out by the persons celebrating the festivals concerned. 20 Cr. L.J. 213=49 I.C. 773 (Pat.).

SECS. 30 AND 32: LICENCE, IF REQUIRED FOR EVERY PROCESSION—JOINING UNLICENSED PROCESSION—IF OFFENCE.—Per Bhide, J.—It cannot be said that a licence under sec. 30 is required for every procession. A licence is required to be taken under sec. 30 only when a breach of the peace is apprehended by the authorities concerned. It is therefore no offence to join a procession merely because no licence has been taken for it under sec. 30. Even when a general or a special notice is issued under sec. 30, requiring persons "directing or promoting" a procession to apply for a licence but no licence is obtained and yet a procession is taken out, it is only those persons who are "directors" or promoters of the procession who can be convicted under sec. 32 for disobedience of the order and not ordinary members of the procession. SEC. 30-A: CONDITIONS OF LICENCE—

CARRYING OF LATHI.—Where a person took out a licence for a procession to proceed through Patna city, one of the conditions of which was that no member of it was to carry a lathi or a sword, held, that the object of a licence under the Police Act is to ensure the preservation of public order and clearly the licensee must undertake the duty of maintaining order throughout the course of the procession and, therefore, the licensee was responsible for seeing that no member carrying a lathi joined the procession on the way though at the start it had no such member. The fact that sec. 30-A gives the power to the officers mentioned to stop a licenced procession which violates the conditions of the licence does not excuse a licensee from strictly complying with the conditions of his licence. 6 P. 763=29 Cr.L.J. 114=1928 P. 166.

PROCESSION ORDERED TO DISPERSE—DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDER BY PROCESSIONISTS—OFFENCE.—Where a procession has been ordered to disperse under powers given by S. 30-A because the conditions of a licence have been violated, any person who omits to obey the order to disperse is liable, whether he was aware of the conditions of the licence or not. The liability in such a case would be that a person who neglects or refuses to disperse would be deemed to be a member of an unlawful assembly and punishable under S. 143, Penal Code. This would be an independent offence committed by a processionist. A.I.R. 1941 Lah. 372 (F.B.).

PROSECUTION FOR BREACH.—Sec. 30-A merely gives an additional power to the officers concerned to stop the procession and then, if it does not disperse, to deal with its members as members of an unlawful assembly. It is not a condition precedent to the prosecution of the licensee for violation of the conditions of the licence that action should first be taken under sec. 30-A. 30 Cr.L.J. 371=10 L. 852=1929 L. 404.

SEC. 31.—Under this section the police have power to pass any order reasonably necessary for "keeping order" or "preventing obstruction." But the question whether a particular order could be held to be legally justifiable under the section must depend on the facts of each case. 130 I.C. 425=32 Cr. L. J. 532=1931 L. 33 (as to circumstances that would justify an order for disposal of procession). See also 50 I.C. 489. On this section, see also 13 A. 131; 14 A. L.J. 172; 17 Cr.L.J. 448=35 I.C. 1008. The section does not authorize a police officer to issue an order which a Magistrate might have issued under sec. 144, Cr. P. Code, to refrain from doing a perfectly legal act. 1936 A.L.J. 579=163 I.C. 866=A.I.R. 1936 A. 534. An order issued under sec. 31 may be an oral order. 91 I.C. 56=27 Cr.L.J. 24=1926 All. 264.

SEC. 32.—Where the Superintendent of and processions, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Saving of control of Magistrate of district. 33. Nothing in the last ¹[four] preceding sections shall be deemed to interfere with the general control of the Magistrate of the district over the matters referred to therein.

Police under sec. 30 had prohibited processions without a police licence and the accused took out an idol carried by four or five men and immersed it in the river, and there was nothing to indicate that this was done in a formal or ceremonious way, held, that the finding of the Magistrate that the image was carried in a procession and that a licence was required for the same was unsustainable. 130 I.C. 239=32 Cr.L.J. 482=1931 C. 128. Innocent persons joining unlicensed procession—No offence. 1941 Lah. 372=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 820.

ULTRA VIRES — ORDER — DISOBEDIENCE THEREOF.—Where the order of the police under sec. 30 is illegal the accused cannot be convicted under sec. 32 for disobedience of the order. 58 C. 879=32 Cr.L.J. 1005=35 C.W.N. 187. See also 35 I.C. 1008 (order forbidding jalkawalas to frequent railway station, not legal); 5 C.P.L.R. 92 (order respecting playing of music at night).

"VIOLATING THE CONDITIONS OF ANY LICENCE"—MEANING OF.—The expression "violating the conditions" which has been used in sec. 32 connotes the idea of direct violation on the part of the person whom it is sought to prosecute, for example, by violating the condition himself or by expressly permitting such violation by others or passive violation by not taking due care to see that the conditions of the licence are fulfilled. Where, therefore, one of the conditions of a licence to form a procession is to the effect that no weapons are to be carried by any persons in the procession, the licensee is liable to prosecution for violation of that condition only if he carries a weapon himself or expressly permit weapons to be carried by others or fails to take due care to see that that condition of the licence is fulfilled. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 122=44 C.W.N. 706=1941 Cal. 113. Where a licence is issued to a person as a sole licensee to take out a procession on condition that no arms are carried by its members, the licensee is liable to conviction for breach of condition of licence under sec. 32 of the Police if arms are carried by some of the members of the procession, although this is unknown to the licensee. 45 C.W.N. 663.

Licence under S. 30 (2) for procession—Condition for stopping music at specified place—Violation—Offence—Liability of persons other than licensee. See 192 I.C. 311=13 R.M. 557=42 Cr.L.J. 272 (2)=A.

Cr. C. M.-I-140

I.R. 1941 Mad. 99 (2)=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 819.

ONUS OF PROOF.—Per Full Bench.—It cannot be said that S. 32 applies only to the licensee and only the licensee can violate the conditions of a licence. Any member of the procession with knowledge of the terms of the licence may be proved to have violated the terms of the licence and consequently may come within the purview of S. 32. Per Ram Lal, J.—In such cases it is always for the prosecution to prove that a processionist charged with having violated the conditions of a licence was aware of the existence of conditions which are alleged to have been violated, before he can be held liable. The mere fact that a person joined a procession or even continued to remain in the procession will not be sufficient to prove this knowledge or shift from the prosecution the onus of proving this knowledge. Per Bhide, J.—Where the conditions of the licence make the licensee responsible for certain things and there are no conditions binding on the members of the procession as such, the licensee alone could be held liable for breach of conditions of the licence, for owing to the very nature of the conditions none except the licensee could violate them. A.I.R. 1941 Lah. 372 (F.B.).

BREACH OF LICENCE—LICENSEE CANNOT PLEAD WANT OF KNOWLEDGE.—A licensee assumes responsibility for the entire conduct of the procession and its component members and he cannot repudiate such responsibility by alleging that the violation of the conditions took place without his consent or even his knowledge or in his absence. If any member of the procession is guilty of the breach of the conditions of the licence, the licensee is liable to be prosecuted for it. 30 Cr.L.J. 371=10 L. 852=1929 L. 404.

PROHIBITION OF ORGANISATION—JOINING THE PROCESSION.—When a notice has been issued under sec. 30 (2) prohibiting the organizing or promotion of a procession without licence and a procession is taken out without such licence, the mere fact of joining in the procession which was promoted or organized by other persons would not amount to a disobedience of the order. 8 P.L.T. 245=28 Cr.L.J. 443=1927 Pat. 191. Where a licence obtained from the Police under sec. 30 (2) for taking a procession prescribes a condition that music of all description should be stopped within a specified distance on either side of any mosque, not only the licensee, but all persons who, being aware of this condition in the licence, violate it, would be guilty of an offence under sec. 32. The persons violating the condi-

RECEIVING TIPS FOR—SUPPLYING WATER.—The expression “exposes for sale” implies that every person who takes any quantity of it (water) has to pay for it. A person setting up a chauki (wooden board) with an earthen jar filled with water over it and supplying water to all those who wanted it

PENALTIES AND PROCEDURE.

Offences by Officers of the Post Office.

Penalty for misconduct of persons employed to carry or deliver mail bags or postal articles.

49. Whoever, being employed to carry or deliver any mail bag or any postal article in course of transmission by post,—

(a) is in a state of intoxication while so employed, or

(b) is guilty of carelessness or other misconduct, whereby the safety of any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid is endangered, or

(c) loiters or makes delay in the conveyance or delivery of any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid, or

(d) does not use due care and diligence safely to convey or deliver any such mail bag or postal article as aforesaid, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

50. Whoever, being employed to carry or deliver any mail bag or any postal article in course of transmission by post, voluntarily withdraws from the duties of his office without permission or without having given one month's previous notice in writing, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, or with both.

Penalty for voluntary withdrawal from duty, without permission or notice, of person employed to carry or deliver mail bags or postal articles.

SECS. 49 AND 50.—Subordinate Magistrate can commit for offence under sec. 49, See 5 B.H.C. (Cr.) 36; 3 B.H.C. (Cr.) 8. There must be a fraudulent intention in the act of the accused before he can be convicted under the above section. 19 W.R. (Cr.) 4. Alternative charges under this Act and Penal Code are not legal. See 10 I.C. 168=12 Cr.L.J. 224 (Sind).

SENTENCE.—Solitary confinement cannot be awarded as part of a sentence passed under this section. 24 P.R. 1879 (Cr.).

Separate sentences for offences arising out of the same transaction are not proper. 2 Weir 454=1 M.H.C.B. 83.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—A postmaster absenting himself from the station without giving notice is guilty of an offence. 1 Weir 72. See also 1 Weir 860. A person is punishable under sec. 262, I.P.Code, for using a postage stamp twice. 5 C.P.L.R. 43 (Cr.).

NON-TRACING ADDRESSEES.—LIABILITY OF THE POST OFFICE.—Where the article sent was never lost in the course of transmission,

51. Whoever, being employed to carry or deliver any postal article in course of transmission by post and required while so employed to keep any register, makes, or causes or suffers to be made, any false entry in the register with intent to induce the belief that he has visited a place, or delivered a postal article, which he has not visited or delivered, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with both.

52. Whoever, being an officer of the Post Office, commits theft in respect of, or dishonestly misappropriates, or, for any purpose whatsoever, secretes, destroys or throws away, any postal article in course of transmission by post or anything contained therein, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be punishable with fine.

but all that happened was that by reason of the label having been torn it was not possible to deliver it to the addressee, held, that sec. 6 or 34 did not exempt the Post Office from liability. 79 I.C. 334—46 A. 455—1924 A. 692.

DISCOVERY OF POSTAL ARTICLE OUTSIDE POST OFFICE—FINDER GIVING IT BACK TO POSTMASTER—IN COURSE OF TRANSMISSION.—M, a servant of K, having discovered a number of letters lying in a khola opposite a post office, handed them over to his master. One of the letters was addressed to P and K took it to the addressee who stated that the letter had never been delivered to him. The matter was reported to the Postmaster F, who took possession of the letters saying that he would take necessary action in the matter. No action being taken by F, the matter was reported to the Postmaster-General with the result that F was sent up for trial. The Magistrate framed two alternate charges against him, first under sec. 52, Post Office Act and the other under sec. 201, Penal Code. The Magistrate found F guilty only under sec. 201. It was contended that the charge framed by the Magistrate was defective and prejudiced the accused, the alternate charge was illegal and contravened the provisions of sec. 236, Cr.P. Code. Held, that the first charge was not defective, as the postal articles in question were "in course of transmission by post" according to sec. 3, when they were made over to F by K and, therefore, the mere fact that the letters had been posted when F was not the Postmaster of the Post Office was immaterial. The framing of charge in the alternative under sec. 201 did not contravene sec. 236, Cr.P. Code. 1930 L. 460.

SEC. 52.—The opening of a newspaper by a person employed in the Post Office and replacing it in its envelope, does not constitute an offence. 19 W.R. (Cr.) 4. Secreting two letters to give to the delivery peon an share with him the bearing postage. 14 M. 229—1 Weir 860. A branch postmaster who was also a dealer in goods opened an envelope containing a railway receipt addressed to him and took delivery of goods but he showed in the books of the post office that the letter was not delivered owing to the absence of the addressee. Some time after he paid the money due to the post office and entered delivery of the letter. Held, that under those circumstances the postmaster was liable to be convicted under sec. 52. 8 L. 662; 1928 L. 92—109 I.C. 236.

SECS. 52 AND 53.—The respondent, a postman, was charged by the police with an offence under sec. 52 for secreting two postal articles in course of transmission by post and was committed for trial by the Court of Session. There was no complaint by order or authority from the Director-General of Posts and Telegraphs or Postmaster-General. A preliminary objection was taken that the acts also constituted an offence under sec. 53 of the Act of detaining postal articles, which under sec. 72 of the Act could not be taken cognizance of without such complaint. Held, that the offence under S. 52 would be taken cognizance of without any complaint and the commitment was legal. The fact that the acts also constituted a minor offence under sec. 53 was no bar to the trial of the offence under sec. 52 of the Act. 53 L.W. 70—(1941) 1 M.L.J. 44—1941 Mad. 392.

SENTENCE.—Where a Sub-Postmaster of 13 years' service taking possession of the V.P.P. cover addressed to him and also of the railway receipt, obtained delivery of the goods, but in order to put off payment manipulated the register maintained in the Post Office, sentence of one year's rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 100 was adequate punishment. 52 Mad. 534—1929 Mad. 447—56 M.L.J. 551.

EVIDENCE.—Statements made by the postman in course of departmental enquiry are not good evidence. 26 I.C. 307—16 Cr.L.J. 3. Conviction not to be based on mere suspicion. On this section, see also 2 Weir 454—1 M.H.C.R. 83.

shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

Penalty for affixing without authority thing to, or painting, tarring or disfiguring, post office or post office letter-box.

63. Whoever, without due authority, affixes any placard, advertisement, notice, list, document, board or other thing in or on, or paints, tars or in any way disfigures any Post Office or any letter-box provided by the Post Office for the reception of postal articles, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for making false declaration.

or value thereof, makes in his declaration any statement which he knows, or has reason to believe, to be false, or does not believe to be true, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, if the false declaration is made for the purpose of defrauding the Government, with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Penalty for master of ship failing to comply with the provisions of section 40 or 41.

65. Whoever, being the master of a ship,—

(a) fails to comply with the provisions of section 40, or

(b) without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie on him, fails to deliver any postal article or mail bag or to comply with the directions of the officer in charge of the Post Office at a port of arrival, as required by section 41, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

66. (1) Whoever, being either the master of a ship arriving at any port in British India or any one on board, knowingly has in his baggage or in his possession or custody, after the postal articles on board or any of them have been sent to the Post Office at the port of arrival, any postal article within the exclusive privilege conferred on the Central Government by section 4, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every such postal article as aforesaid.

(2) Whoever, being such master or other person as aforesaid, detains any such postal article as aforesaid after demand made for it by an officer of the Post Office, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every such postal article.

An order to send the article cannot be inferred merely because the addressee did not refuse to receive nor return by post any of the previous issues sent to him, and did not make a protest even after he received intimation that he had been enrolled as a subscriber and that the issue in question would be sent by Value-Payable Post. 33 M. 511—20 M.L.J. 402—5 I.C. 738.

WANT OF SANCTION.—Where the accused was proved to have sent blank papers in an insured cover addressed to himself and claimed the value of the currency notes which he alleged had been enclosed in the cover and he was prosecuted for offences under sec. 64 of the Post Office Act and secs. 420 and 511, I.P. Code and convicted for the latter offences only, held, that it was doubtful if an offence under sec. 64 of the Post Office Act had been committed, and that at any rate the prosecution under sec. 64 was rendered unsustainable for want of sanction under sec. 72. Held also, that the conviction for the major offences under the Penal Code was perfectly valid. 9 P. 126—11 Pat.L.T. 234—31 Cr.L.J. 934.

OF PRINTING-PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS.

3. Every book or paper printed within British India shall have printed legibly on it the name of the printer and the place of printing, and (if the book or paper be published ²[the name] of the publisher and the place of publication.
- Particulars to be printed on books and papers.

LEG. REF.

¹ Inserted by sec. 3 and first schedule of Act XIV of 1922.

² Inserted by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

SEC. 3: 'PAPER PRINTED'.—Meaning of. 38 Bom.L.R. 1115=166 I.C. 263=A.I.R. 1937 Bom. 28. If term is synonymous with 'news-paper'. (Ibid.) 'Publisher', meaning of. (Ibid.) If includes mere seller or distributor. (Ibid.) Where a person is proceeded against under sec. 12 of the Act there must be evidence to show that the paper had been printed in British India. The burden is on the prosecution to prove the same, where the accused appears to be a mere school boy who may not know where the leaflets have been printed. 35 C.W.N. 778=134 I.C. 1197=1931 C. 641. The word 'paper' in sec. 3 does not mean a newspaper of a periodical nature and will cover the case of a manifesto by a new political party. 1939 A.M.L.J. 87. The word 'paper' in sec. 3 of the Act is practically synonymous with 'newspaper' as defined in the Act. A poster issued shortly after a communal disturbance making a fervent appeal to the people to live in peace and harmony and printed on a single foolscap sheet, cannot be considered to be anything and analogous to a book or newspaper or a pamphlet. 44 P.L.R. 524=43 Cr.L.J. 897=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 1=I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 95.

SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—The intention of the section, in requiring that the name of the printer and the place of printing and the name of the publisher and the place of the publication should be printed legibly on every book or paper was to inform the public who the responsible printer or publisher was and to convey that information on the face of the paper. Words, which contained no such information, would not amount to a sufficient compliance with the requirements of sec. 3. The intention was not simply to provide some facility or other, but to provide a specific facility on the face of the paper. Where a newspaper was printed and published bearing the following words, "printed and published at Cochin for the Malabar Economic Company at the said Company's Goshree Vilasam Press". Held, that these words were not a sufficient compliance with the requirements of sec. 3 inasmuch as there was no name of the printer as required by the Act. 16 M. 443=3 M.L.J. 201=1 Weir 862. Under sec. 3, it is not necessary that the actual name of the printer should be given. So long as a name of style, which sufficiently designates the printer, is given, it does not matter that it is not the actual name of the printer. It is sufficient that it is the name under which he chooses to do business and is generally known. Unless it can be said that the words do not convey to an ordinary reader the information required by the Act, the conviction for a non-compliance of the provisions of sec. 3 cannot be supported. 16 M. 443=3 M.L.J. 201=1 Weir 862. The printer of a book is bound to imprint his name and the place of printing, under the provisions of sec. 3, even if he has printed only a portion of the book. 14 Bom.L.R. 40=13 I.C. 827=13 Cr.L.J. 139. Where a copy of a vernacular newspaper contained the following words printed on the Margin of the front page "ba ihtimam Ram Saran Dat printer, Hindustan Steam Press, Lahore men, Lala Bhawani Das Manager ke liye chapa". Held, that they do not contain a clear intimation as to the publisher, as required by sec. 3 of the Act. 5 P.R. 1909, (Cr.)=10 Cr.L.J. 195=2 I.C. 978.

SECS. 3 AND 12.—The word "publisher" has been used in the Act in a restricted sense, and does not include a vendor of a newspaper or book. Sec. 12 read with sec. 3 clearly indicates that such persons are not included in the word "publisher" for sec. 3 enjoins the printing of the names of the printer and publisher. 23 C. 414. A man who causes a book to be printed and offers it to the public for sale is a publisher within the meaning of secs. 3 and 12. 1887 A.W.N.

4. No person shall, within British India, keep in his possession any press Keeper of printing press for the printing of books or papers, who shall not to make declaration. have made and subscribed the following declaration before the Magistrate within whose local jurisdiction such press may be:—

"I, A. B., declare that I have a press for printing at—".

And this last blank shall be filled up with a true and precise description of the place where such press may be situate.

95. The rule in sec. 3 of the Act requires that every paper printed and published in British India shall have legibly printed on it the name of the printer and the place of printing and the name of the publisher and place of publication, as such. An omission to comply with sec. 3 is punishable under sec. 12. Secs. 3 and 12 do not deal with intention. Printers and publishers cannot be allowed to select for themselves the description to be used in professing to comply with the Act, but they must use the descriptions prescribed by the Act. 5 P.R. 1909, (Cr.)=10 Cr.L.J. 195=2 I.C. 978.

SECS. 3, 4 AND 5: 'PRINTING'—'PRINTING PRESS'—'NEWSPAPER'—CYCLOSTYLING—BONEO DUPLICATOR.—The word 'printing' in the Act must be construed in its strict and narrow sense, namely, typography. It does not include cyclostyling. A Boneo duplicator cannot be considered a "printing press" within the meaning of sec. 4. A newspaper, as defined in the Act, means a printed periodical and not any publication produced by type-writing, duplicating, cyclostyling or such method. 27 N.L.R. 270=134 I.C. 854=1931 N. 177. See also 133 I.C. 682=1931 P. 351. (Printing Press, what is see 12 Lah. 483.)

SEC. 4: OBJECT AND SCOPE.—Sec. 4 appears to have been enacted with a double motive. The first is that the executive authorities shall note where the press is situated and the second is that they shall know who is the person in charge. A removal of the premises clearly deprives the executive authorities of their knowledge as to the location of the press. But the same cannot be said where there is a change in the personnel of the keeper of the press. 130 I.C. 380=1931 O. 81. The Act does not require a new declaration in cases where a press, as to which the printer has made the declaration prescribed by sec. 4 is changed to another locality within the same local jurisdiction as the former place. 9 P.R. 1889. (Cr.). There is no clause in sec. 4 (corresponding to the provision in sec. 5) requiring a new declaration as often as a change of place takes place. 9 P.R. 1889, (Cr.).

"FOR THE PRINTING OF BOOKS OR PAPERS".—The question whether a printing press is or is not within sec. 4 is a question of the use to which the printing press is in fact put or intended to be put by the possessor. The words "for the printing of books or papers" modify the verb "keep" and not the noun "press". They refer to the object of the possessor of the machine. 10 P. 492=133 I.C. 682=1931 P. 351 (2). See also 134 I.

C. 854=1931 N. 177.

"PAPERS".—The word "papers" in secs. 3 and 4 are papers containing news which are intended to be circulated and are practically, if not exactly, synonymous with the word "newspaper" as defined in sec. 1 of the Act. 10 P. 492=1931 P. 351 (2).

"PRINTING"—CYCLOSTYLE MACHINE.—The word "printing" includes the multiplication of copies by means of cyclostyle machine. (Ibid.) No fresh declaration need be filed in the case of any press which has once been declared and which continues at the same address though there is a change in the person of the keeper of the press. 130 I.C. 380=1931 O. 81. The Act does not provide for a change in the person of the keeper of the press. 130 I.C. 380=1931 O. 81. The proceedings of a Magistrate in refusing to authenticate a declaration under sec. 6 is a purely ministerial action with which the High Court cannot interfere. 21 P.R. 1918 (Cr.)=45 I.C. 525=137 P.L.R. 1918.

PRESUMPTION AND PROOF.—The initial presumption about knowledge in the case of periodicals does not arise in the case of a pamphlet alleged to contain seditious matter. 1931 L. 182=12 L. 483=131 I.C. 273. Per Shah, A.C.J.—There is no presumption as regards a book, that the persons whose name appears as the author is the author thereof. The statement from the manager of the Press cannot be treated as evidence of the facts stated therein. The declaration under sec. 4 is not evidence of his knowledge of the contents, though it is a fact which along with other evidence in the case must be considered in deciding the question of fact. The fact of a person being the keeper of the Press and the printer of the pamphlet by itself does not imply any knowledge of the contents. Some evidence which would indicate a knowledge of the contents on his part is necessary. There is no provision in the Act as to the presumption to be drawn from a declaration made under sec. 4 and the names of the printer and publisher printed under sec. 3 as there is under sec. 7 as regards declaration made under sec. 5. The knowledge of the contents so far as is necessary has to be proved like any other fact. Per Crump, J.—A printed book of itself proves nothing relevant to the present enquiry. There is no presumption that it is written by the man who is described as the author, unless it is one of that limited class of books covered by sec. 87 of the Indian Evidence Act. The written information given by the manager of the Press is not given in the dis-

Rules as to publication of printed periodicals containing public news.

5. No ¹[newspaper] shall be published in British India, except in conformity with the rules hereinafter laid down:

²[(1) Every copy of every such newspaper shall contain the name of the person who is the editor thereof printed clearly on such copy as the name of the editor of that newspaper:]

³(2) The printer and the publisher of every such ⁴[newspaper] shall appear ⁵[in person or by agent authorised in this behalf in accordance with rules made under section 20, before a District, Presidency or Sub-divisional Magistrate within whose local jurisdiction such newspaper shall be printed or published, or such printer or publisher resides], and shall make and subscribe, in duplicate, the following declaration:

"I, A. B., declare that I am the printer (or publisher, or printer and publisher) of the ⁴[newspaper] entitled—and printed (or published, or printed and published, as the case may be) at—".

And the last blank in this form of declaration shall be filled up with a true and precise account of the premises where the printing or publication is conducted:

⁶(3) As often as the place of printing or publication is changed, a new declaration shall be necessary:

⁷(4) As often as the printer or the publisher who shall have made such declaration as is aforesaid shall leave British India, a new declaration from a printer or publisher resident within the said territories shall be necessary.

⁸[Provided that no person who has not attained majority in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Majority Act, 1875, or of the law to which he is subject in respect of the attainment of majority, shall be permitted to make the declaration prescribed by this section, nor shall any such person edit a newspaper.]

A keeper of a considerable Press may not know the contents of each and every book printed at his Press. Without details as to the connection of the keeper with the actual business it is impossible to make any such presumption.

The declaration under sec. 3 or the written information supplied by the manager carries the matter no further. Without knowledge a man cannot be guilty of abetment. 47 B. 438=25 Bom.L.R. 97=76 I.C. 294=1923 B. 255.

SEC. 5.—'Publisher', meaning of. 38 Bom. L.R. 1115=166 I.C. 263=A.I.R. 1937 B. 28. Although sec. 499 requires proof of publication in order to support a conviction for defamation, the intention of the Act was to constitute the declarations made by a person that he was the printer and publisher of a newspaper into prima facie evidence of publication and to throw on the accused the burden of showing that the actual publisher of the libel was not the person mentioned in the declaration. 9 M. 387=1 Weir 576=1 Weir 865. The presumption could be rebutted if such person showed that he entrusted in good faith the temporary management of the newspaper to a competent person during his absence and that the libel was published without his autho-

SEC. 7.—See 155 I.C. 450=1935 Nag. 90. A person, who subscribes to the declaration under the Act, must be presumed, under this section, to be cognisant of all that he has printed and published and, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, his liability in the matter cannot be gainsaid. 7 C. L.J. 49=7 Cr.L.J. 10=35 C. 141. This section, which applies both to civil and criminal proceedings, makes the printer or publisher responsible for whatever may appear in a newspaper whoever the writer of the article in it may be; and, therefore, a prosecution may proceed against the printer, unless he can prove absence from the newspaper office in good faith and without knowledge that the seditious articles would be published during his absence. But it is not absence in good faith for a printer, to go away knowing very well what is going to happen in his absence, and for the purpose of shirking his liability. 35 C. 945=8 Cr.L.J. 438. The registered printer of a paper, so long as he continues such printer, cannot escape from criminal liability for publication therein, of a seditious article by the plea that he was temporarily absent from the station when the article was printed, or that he was ignorant of the contents thereof, or that he had no intention of committing any offence. 1 P.R. 1905=2 Cr.L.J. 31=69 P.L.R. 1905. Where certain articles appearing in a newspaper are seditious, the declared printer would be responsible for the said articles, unless he can make out on sufficient evidence, that he had in fact nothing to do with them. 38 C. 227=10 I.C. 954=12 Cr.

14. Any person who shall, in making any declaration under the authority of this Act, make a statement which is false, and which he either knows or believes to be false or does not believe to be true, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished by fine not exceeding ¹[two thousand] rupees, and imprisonment for a term not exceeding ²[six months].

15. Whoever shall ³[edit] print or publish any ⁴[newspaper] without conforming to the rules hereinbefore laid down, or who shall ³[edit] print or publish, or shall cause to be ³[edited] printed or published, any ⁵[newspaper], knowing that the said rules have not been observed with respect to ⁶[that newspaper] shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with fine not exceeding ¹[two thousand] rupees, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding ²[six months], or both.

⁷[16. If any printer of any such book as is referred to in section 9 of this Act shall neglect to deliver copies of the same pursuant to that section, he shall for every such default forfeit to the Government such sum not exceeding fifty rupees as a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the book was printed may, on the application of the officer to whom the copies should have been delivered or of any person authorized by that officer in this behalf, determine to be in the circumstances a reasonable penalty for the default, and, in addition to such sum, such further sum as the Magistrate may determine to be the value of the copies which the printer ought to have delivered.

If any publisher or other person employing any such printer shall neglect to supply him, in the manner prescribed in the second paragraph of section 9 of this Act, with the maps, prints or engravings which may be necessary to enable him to comply with the provisions of that section, such publisher or other person shall for every such default forfeit to the Government such sum not exceeding fifty rupees as such a Magistrate as aforesaid may, on such an application as aforesaid, determine to be in the circumstances a reasonable penalty for the default, and, in addition to such sum, such further sum as the Magistrate may determine to be the value of the maps, prints or engravings which such publisher or other person ought to have supplied.

SEC. 1: CONSTRUCTION OF THE ACT.—The provisions of the Press (Emergency Powers) Act are of a penal character and according to the ordinary rules of interpretation, they should be construed strictly and in such a manner as to protect the liberties of the subject. 151 I.C. 943=35 Cr.L.J. 1447 (2)=1934 Lah. 264; I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=1942 Sind 65 (S.B.). The Press Ordinance enacts provisions of a very comprehensive nature but they should be interpreted in a reasonable manner. The law does not seek to put any narrow construction on the expression used and only interferes when plainly and deliberately the limits prescribed by it are violated. 12 Lah. 345=132 I.C. 889=32 Cr.L.J. 997=1931 Lah. 283 (F.B.).

AMENDING ORDINANCE (VII OF 1922).—VALIDITY OF.—As the validity of the Ordinance rests neither on proof of an emergency nor upon the recital of an emergency but upon the judgment of the Governor-General that immediate action of that character was necessary, there is no basis for the contention that the Ordinance is not valid and effective merely on the ground that the

(a) any newspaper in respect of which there are not for the time being valid declarations under section 5 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, and

Ordinance does not begin by saying "whereas an emergency has arisen." 140 I.C. 304 = 33 Cr.L.J. 949 = 56 C.L.J. 157 = 1932 C. 738 (S.B.).

SEC. 2, CLS. (5) AND (6): 'DOCUMENT'—MEANING.—The word 'document' in sec. 2 (6) of the Press Emergency Powers Act, 1931, bears the same meaning as in sec. 29, I.P. Code, and sec. 3 of the Evidence Act, 1934 Cr.C. 1338 = 1934 All. 1031.

"PUBLIC NEWS"—INFORMATION CONVEYED BY PHOTOGRAPHS.—Information is "public news" within the meaning of sec. 2 (6) if it concerns a matter of public and topical interest as contrasted with purely historical interest. Accused was found in possession of card photographs of person killed in the Chittagong armoury raid case and they were kept for distribution. The legal proceedings were not terminated and the emergency measures rendered necessary in the District of Chittagong were still in operation. Held, that the information regarding the raid was public news, that the photographs were documents containing public news and therefore news-sheets within the meaning of sec. 2 (6) and that accused was guilty. 60 Cal. 1089 = 37 C.W.N. 990 = 34 Cr.L.J. 619 = 1933 Cal. 458. Where a leaflet in the course of an exhortation to the public to strive for freedom or independence does not confine itself to matters of historical interest only, but also contains information and comments on definite events of topical interest or importance, it must be regarded as a 'news-sheet' within the meaning of that term in sec. 2 (6) of the Act. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 670 = 174 I.C. 393 = A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 222. The expression "public news" in sec. 2 (5) means something such as "current happenings or alleged current happenings of interest or likely to be of interest to the public or to a portion of the public." Anything new or unknown when communicated to another, is news, and news which is intended for, or is communicated to the general public, no matter what its nature is public news. An item of news irrespective of its nature when reported in a paper published for the general public, would be a public news, but if published only in a periodical intended for a small circle of readers interested in a particular subject would not be a public news. All news appearing in a periodical which is published for the general public is public news, and the paper is a "newspaper" within the meaning of the Act. If the proprietors of a paper choose to make week by week "news" of the activities or alleged activities of persons of sufficient importance to interest members of the public for whom the paper is published, and to whom it is sold or given away, they cannot fairly complain that it is not a newspaper, and that it does not contain public news. They must be taken to have themselves made what would otherwise be a matter of private interest, if of interest at all, "public news." I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127 = 202 I.C. 405 = A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SEC. 2 (6): 'NEWS SHEET'—WHAT

(b) any newspaper in respect of which security has been required under this Act, but has not been furnished as required;

(10) "unauthorised news-sheet" means any news-sheet other than a news-sheet published by a person authorised under section 15 to publish it; and

(11) "undeclared press" means any press other than a press in respect of which there is for the time being a valid declaration under section 4 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867.

Control of printing-presses and newspapers.

3. (1) Any person keeping a printing-press who is required to make a declaration under section 4 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, may be required by the Magistrate before whom the declaration is made, for reasons to be recorded in writing, to deposit with the Magistrate within ten days from the day on which the declaration is made, security to such an amount, not being more than one thousand rupees, as the Magistrate may in each case think fit to require, in money or the equivalent thereof in securities of the Central Government as the person making the deposit may choose:

Provided that if a deposit has been required under sub-section (3) from any previous keeper of the printing-press, the security which may be required under this sub-section may amount to three thousand rupees.

(2) Where security required under sub-section (1) has been deposited in respect of any printing-press, and for a period of three months from the date of the declaration mentioned in sub-section (1) no order is made by the Provincial Government under section 4 in respect of such press, the security shall, on application by the keeper of the press, be refunded.

(3) Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that any printing-press kept in any place in the territories under its administration, in respect of which security under the provisions of this Act has not been required, or having been required has been refunded under sub-section (2), is used for CONSTITUTES.—For the matter published or commented on to fall within the definition of "News sheet" there must be an element of novelty about it. A pamphlet containing nothing but a discussion of food problems and the necessity for suppressing hoarding enforced by reference to the Bengal famine which at the date of the publication was not a very recent event and had become a matter of history might well be said not to be a news sheet within the meaning of the Act. But where the pamphlet contained references to the condition of the people of Bengal resulting from the famine at the date when the pamphlet was written and also referred to other matters like a recent parliamentary election in England which constituted public news and on which comment was made, it will make the pamphlet a "news sheet" the publication of which without being authorised by a magistrate will constitute an offence punishable under sec. 18 (1) of the Act. 58 L.W. 183=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 314. See also 1942 Lah. 203=44 P.L.R. 26 (Handbills and posters).

Sec. 3.—S. 3 (3) of the Act does not constrain the Provincial Government to do anything more than to state or describe the words, signs, or visible representations. No objection could be taken to the notice on the ground that it does not reproduce the objectionable matter verbatim. 1945 O.W.N. 25=1945 A.W.R. (C.C.) 26. The statement on a notice under sec. 3 (3) of the Act is in the nature of a charge, and when such a notice mentions expressly clis. (a) and (b) of sec. 4 (1) as having been offended against or infringed by the alleged objectionable passages in a book or publication, it is not afterwards open to the Government to go behind or enlarge those particulars and to seek to justify the notice under the other clauses of sec. 4 (1). 47 Bom.L.R. 57 (S.B.).

SECS. 3 AND 7.—These sections clearly contemplate action both against the keeper of the press and the publisher of the paper and no distinction is made between the case where they are two different persons or the same person is keeper of the press and the publisher. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=1942 Sind 65.

NOTICE UNDER—CONTENTS.—The notice under sec. 3 (3) and sec. 7 (3) need not specify that the offender has contravened any particular sub-section of sec. 4 of the Act. 34 Cr.L.J. 1095=38 C.W.N. 56=1933 Cal. 754 (S.B.). Neither sec. 3 (3) nor sec. 7 (3) of the Act constrains the Provincial Government to do anything more than to state or describe the words complained of. There is no obligation whatever on the Provincial Government to record its opinion in the notice as to which particular item of sub-Sec. (1) of sec. 4 applies. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 680=1944 N.

the purpose of printing or publishing any newspaper, book or other document containing any words, signs or visible representations of the nature described in section 4, sub-section (1), the Provincial Government may, by notice in writing to the keeper of the press stating or describing such words, signs or visible representations, order the keeper to deposit with the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the press is situated security to such an amount, not being less than five hundred or more than three thousand rupees as the Provincial Government may think fit to require, in money or the equivalent thereof in securities of the Central Government as the person making the deposit may choose.

(4) Such notice shall appoint a date, not being sooner than the tenth day after the date of the issue of the notice, on or before which the deposit shall be made.

4. (1) Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that any printing press in respect of which any security has been ordered to be deposited under section 3 is used for the purpose of printing or publishing any newspaper, book or other document containing any words, signs or visible representations which—

Power to declare security or press forfeited in certain cases.

LEG. REF.

SEC. 4: TEMPORARY AMENDMENT UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT (XXXV OF 1939).—The Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, shall have effect as if in sub-sec. (1) of sec. 4 thereof, after cl. (b), the following word and clause had been inserted, namely:—

“or
(bb) directly or indirectly convey any ‘confidential information’, any ‘information likely to assist the enemy’, or any ‘prejudicial report’, as defined in the rules made under the Defence of India Act, 1939, or are calculated to instigate the contravention of any of those rules.”—See Act XXXV of 1939, sec. 6.

L.J. 195=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 278. See also 47 Bom.L.R. 57. Where the District Magistrate acting under his own powers under sec. 7 or only enforcing the previous order of the Local Government, has directed the publisher of a newspaper to deposit security on the ground that a certain article published therein came within the purview of sec. 4 (1) (d) and (e) of the Act as amended by the Ordinance of 1932, the High Court’s power of interference is confined by secs. 23 and 30 for a limited purpose to decide whether the publication or article does or does not come within the purview of sec. 4 (1) of the Act. That power of the High Court should, under sec. 30, be invoked by an application within 2 months from the date of the order. Where no such application was made, the order directing him to furnish security cannot be interfered with. The District Magistrate acting under the Act is not a Court but an executive officer and the High Court has, therefore, no power of superintendence under sec. 107 of the Government of India Act. 13 Pat. 547=35 Cr.L.J. 1022=1934 Pat. 344 (F.B.).

SECS. 3 AND 7 clearly contemplate action against both the keeper of the press and the publisher of the paper, and no distinction is drawn between the case where the printer and publisher are two different persons or one and the same. Consequently where the printer and publisher is the same person the maximum security of Rs. 6,000 can be demanded from him under secs. 3 (3) and 7 (3). I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.). The Act is a penal statute and must be construed strictly. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SEC. 4: CONSTRUCTION OF OFFENDING ARTICLE.—Per C. C. Ghose, J.—“The article must, as a matter of law, be read as a whole in a fair, free and liberal spirit and should not be viewed with an eye of narrow and fastidious criticism * * * So long as criticism or expression of opinion of any sort is allowed it is not right that isolated expressions should be subjected to scrutiny under the microscope as it were and a sinister meaning ferretted out and drastic action taken under the Ordinance * * * What was considered seditious under sec. 124-A, Penal Code in 1897, may not necessarily be held to be so in 1932; one cannot shut one’s eyes to changes in political conceptions due to the march of events and to the declared objectives of the Government of the day.” 33 Cr.L.J. 949=56 C.L.J. 157=1932 C. 738 (S.B.). See also A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 417.

“GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHED BY LAW IN BRITISH INDIA.”—The words “Government established by law in British India” only means the existing political system as distinguished from any particular set of administrators. (22 B. 112, Foll.) 33 Cr.L.J. 949=56 C.L.J. 157=1932 C. 738 (S.B.). No distinction in substance can be drawn between Government established by law in British India and the Executive Government. 60 C. 408=37 C.W.N. 104=1932 C. 745 (S.B.).

ENTIRE ARTICLE TO BE TAKEN.—The Court should in every case consider the book or newspaper article as a whole and in a fair, full and liberal spirit, not dwelling too much upon isolated passages or upon strong word

(a) incite to or encourage, or tend to incite to or to encourage, the commission of any offence of murder or any cognizable offence involving violence, or

(b) directly or indirectly express approval or admiration of any such offence, or of any person, real or fictitious, who has committed or is alleged or represented to have committed any such offence,

¹[or which tend, directly or indirectly,—

(c) to seduce any officer, soldier, sailor or airman in the military, naval or air forces of His Majesty or any police-officer from his allegiance or his duty, or

(d) to bring into hatred or contempt His Majesty or the Government here and there, which may be qualified by the context but endeavouring to gather the general effect which the whole composition would have on the minds of the public. The object of a certain paragraph in respect of which security was demanded under sec. 4 was to advertise the newspaper and to secure the patronage of its readers. For that purpose it mentioned the improvements already carried out, held out a promise for future improvements and excused the delay in introducing all the improvements on the plea of the arrest of the Editor whose sufferings in the cause of the nation were claimed as a matter of pride. Held, that the reference to the arrest of the Editor should not be divorced from the context and the paragraph as a whole was not obnoxious to sec. 4 (1) (c) (case under Press Ord. II of 1930). 12 L. 345=32 Cr. L.J. 997=1931 L. 283 (F.B.). See also 47 P.L.R. 3 (F.B.). Even a single sentence, in a newspaper article if obnoxious to sec. 4, sub-sec. (1), entails forfeiture of the security, and it is not open to the Court to apportion punishment or to reduce the penalty on any other ground. 12 L. 345=32 Cr.L.J. 997=1931 L. 283 (F.B.). When there is nothing in the "announcement" itself which can be said to encourage, directly or indirectly, the commission of any offence; much less murder or other cognizable offence involving violence, or which makes reference, explicit or covert, to any person who has, or is supposed to have committed crimes of this nature, the mere fact that the head-line of the poster contains the words "Long long live Revolution" cannot lead to the conclusion that it was intended to produce literature advocating violence. 151 I.C. 943=35 Cr.L.J. 1447 (2)=1934 L. 264. An order of Government is not bad merely for the reason that it does not state the particular clause in sec. 4 (1) which the article in question was found to have offended. The Act itself has provided what the notice is required to contain and and it is not for the Court to impose any further restrictions. 33 Cr.L.J. 949=56 C.L.J. 157=1932 C. 738 (S.B.).

SEC. 4 (1) (a) AND (b) AND EXPL. I—

APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE—HISTORICAL OR LITERARY WORK—BIOGRAPHY OF LIVING PERSON NARRATING REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT OF THE PAST.—The biography of a living person containing a narrative or a historical review of the revolutionary movement in existence about thirty five years ago and which has now passed into history can be regarded as a historical work and not merely a narrative of current events though the living person has taken a prominent part in such movement; and when the work, in addition, also possesses literary style, it is also a literary work, and falls under explanation I to sec. 4 (1). There is a clear distinction between a historical or literary work on the one hand and writings such as newspaper articles, pamphlets and similar publications on the other hand. In the case of the latter approval or admiration of an offence, of murder or other violent crime is enough to attract the penal provisions of the Act; but in the case of the former, mere approval or admiration of such offence is not enough: it must be shown that it has a tendency to encourage them at the time when the work is published, in order to attract sec. 4 (1) (a) and (b). No such historical work can be regarded as objectionable unless it has the present tendency to incite people to do such violent acts as may be punishable under the law of the land. The Court has to take the alleged objectionable passages in their context at the various places in which they occur and see whether the passage in their setting in the book have the alleged tendency. It cannot be held as a general proposition that in all cases of admiration or approval of an offence or offender there must be a tendency to encourage violent offences. The Court has to look to the circumstances in each case in judging such a tendency, viz., the purpose of the work, the time at which it was published, the class of people who would read it the effect it would produce on their minds, the context in which the objected words appear and the interval of time between the incidents narrated and the publication of the work. 47 Bom.L.R. 57 (S.B.). See also 1933 Nag. 148.

SEC. 4 (1) (d) AND (h): SCOPE OF.—Where in an article published in a news-established by law in British India or the administration of justice in British India or any class or section of His Majesty's subjects in British India, or to excite disaffection towards His Majesty or the said Government, or

(e) to put any person in fear or to cause annoyance to him and thereby induce him to deliver to any person any property or valuable security or to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which he is legally entitled to do, or

(f) to encourage or incite any person to interfere with the administration of the law or with the maintenance of law and order, or to commit any offence, or to refuse or defer payment of any land-revenue, tax, rate, cess or other due or amount payable to Government or to any local authority, or any rent of agricultural land or anything recoverable as arrears of or along with such rent, or paper, the writer pointed out that people of a community were being tortured, harassed and constantly kidnapped into tribal territories by outlaws who absconded into such territories and further suggested that if a man committed cruelty he should be bombed without warning so that it may serve as a deterrent to cruel persons and he concluded the article by requesting the Government that the area where the outlaws took shelter should be razed to the ground by bombing. Held, that the article did not fall under sec. 4 (1), cl. (d) or cl. (h) as it was only an honest criticism offered with a view to persuade Government to take drastic action to stop kidnapping and raids and it could not be said that the writer in doing so had any malice or was trying to bring the Government in disrepute. 180 I.C. 252=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 6. The petitioner, the keeper of a press published a poem entitled "Labourers—the mainstay of the world" which inter alia exhorted the labourers in these words. "Labourers! Raise now the cry of Revolution. The Heavens will tremble, the universe will shake and the flames of revolution will burst forth from land and water. You who have been the subject of exploitation! Now dance the fearful dance of destruction on this earth. Truly, labourers, only total destruction will create a new world order and that will bring happiness to the whole world". Held, (1) that it could not be said that these words tended to bring into hatred or contempt any class or section of His Majesty's subjects; the words "masters or exploiters" were too wide to denote a definite or ascertainable class so as to come within cl. (d) of sec. 4 (1) of the Press Act and the poem did not therefore come within the mischief of sec. 4 (1) (d); (2) that the revolution contemplated by the poet was clearly revolution through violence, and that the exhortation was obviously an exhortation to the labourers to destroy the existing social order and to destroy it by force and violence and clearly came within sec. 4 (1) (a) of the Act. Bloody revolution and forcible and violent destruction of the present social order involved all kinds of cognisable offences involving violence and would in all probability involve murder, and it was unnecessary to show that the words tended to incite to or to encourage the commission of a particular offence or offences. 22 Pat.L.T. 260=A.I.R. 1941 Pat. 132 (S.B.)=1941 P. W.N. 151. In order to bring the words complained of within the mischief of sec. 4 (1) (d) it is not necessary that they should incite to immediate disorder. Words which deliberately create or tend to create hatred and contempt for the Government may be the prelude to public disorder. The fact that no violence occurred is irrelevant. I. L.R. (1944) Nag. 680=1944 N.L.J. 195=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 278. For the purpose of determining whether a leaflet falls within the purview of sec. 4 (1) (d) the Court should consider the writing as a whole and in a fair, free and liberal spirit, not dwelling too much on open isolated passages or upon a strong word here and there, which may be qualified by the context but endeavouring to gather the general effect which the whole composition would have on the minds of the public. The criticism that certain policy of the Government is so unfortunate that it has created a political deadlock which has led to famine conditions resulting in a large number of deaths of people by hunger, cannot be construed as meaning that the Government that pursued that policy was guilty of murder of the people who died owing to the famine conditions in the country. Such criticism cannot be said to have the tendency to excite disaffection against the Government, and does not therefore, fall within the ambit of the section. 47 P.L.R. 3 (F.B.).

SEC. 4 (1) (e): CONSTRUCTION—"TEND DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY"—MEANING OF.—The words "tend directly or indirectly" in sec. 4 (1) (e) mean something more than "have as a possible result." There must be something more than a mere possibility. The effect which words will produce upon the person to whom they refer may vary widely according to the nature and temperament of that person. Not every newspaper attack defamatory though it may be, is made with the intention of obtaining payment of money by the victim, nor every such attack can be said to have the "tendency" to induce payment of money. Sec. 4 (1) (e) relates to private individuals and can be applied to protect private persons. The words in sec. 4 (1) (e) are wide enough to cover what is commonly known as blackmail, and the fact that the person put in fear or annoyance

(g) to induce a public servant or a servant of a local authority to do any act or to forbear or delay to do any act connected with the exercise of his public functions or to resign his office, or

(h) to promote feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects, or may have another remedy by way of civil or criminal action, by a suit for defamation or a prosecution for extortion, does not exclude the application of sec. 4 (1) (e) in appropriate cases. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127 = 1942 Sind 65. To constitute an offence under sec. 4 (1) (e) it is sufficient if one of the purposes of an article falls within its purview. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127 = 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

Sec. 4 (h).—What is intended to be penalised by cl. (h) is language which in itself has tendency to promote class-hatred and thus reveals (prima facie) an intention to promote class-hatred. Cl. (h) was never intended to and does not cover the mere publishing of news relating to a Hindu-Muslim riot in temperate and inoffensive language by a newspaper in the ordinary course of its business when the authenticity or the good faith of the report is not challenged and when there is nothing else to show any intention to promote class-hatred thereby. A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 81 = 180 I.C. 835 = 41 P.L.R. 137 (F.B.). A riot between Indians and Burmans was followed by two articles in a newspaper. The articles pointed out that the facts recited in the articles were already of common knowledge. One of the articles contained a version of the incidents of the riot and the reasons that led up to the riot. The second article pointed out that certain locality was notorious during the riots, and that the Government knew that this locality was inhabited by Indian bad characters who lived by acts of violence. It called upon the Government to expel these bad characters from Burma, asserting that only then would Indian and Burmans be able to live in peace with one another. Held, as regards the first article, that as news, the facts were stated with restraint, and not in violent or provocative language, and no attempt was made to gloss over the misdeeds of one side in favour of the other. The article did not "tend to promote feeling of enmity or hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects", and therefore did not come within the scope of cl. (h) of sec. 4 (1). Regarding the second article, it was held that Indian bad characters were not a "class of His Majesty's subjects," as contemplated by cl. (h) of sec. 4 (1) and the article was directed against them only. Even if the article fell within the scope of cl. (h), it came within Expl. 4, and therefore could not form the basis of an order under sec. 7 (3). 178 I.C. 438 = A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 417 (S.B.).

SEDITIONOUS WORDS—CIRCUMSTANCES ATTENDING PUBLICATION—RELEVANCY OF—ARTICLE IN INSIGNIFICANT TAMIL NEWSPAPER.—In considering whether a certain publication comes within the mischief of sec. 4 (1), one has to look to not merely the words used or the intention of writer, but the effect that the words are likely to produce on the minds of the hearers. For this purpose the circumstances under which they were published and the audience to which they were addressed must be considered. An insignificant Tamil newspaper situated at Rangoon and having small circulation published in its leading article of 23rd October, 1931, militant and seditious words purporting to exhort the readers to support the present political movement in India. Held, that the words though seditious and intended to inflame the readers did not come within the ambit of sec. 4 (1). (38 C. 302, Dist.) 10 R. 165 = 137 I.C. 655 = 1932 R. 69 (S.B.).

DISAPPROBATION OF CERTAIN GOVERNMENT ACTS—NO ATTRIBUTION OF BASE MOTIVE.—An article in a newspaper contained the following passages: "... What underlies this arrangement is, in the (language of) modern political dictionary "reprisal". "The jails in India are not indeed heaven. The retaliatory measures of mediæval sternness which exist are enough for the preservation of order and discipline". Held, that the article, on a plain reading of it, was intended to support a protest against the measure adopted by the Government; that the word "reprisal" denotes an act of retaliation for some injury or attack, and that it was borrowed from International Law for describing the relations between the Government and the people; and that the use of the word "reprisal", cannot be taken to tend to bring into hatred or contempt the Government established by law in British India, or "to excite disaffection" towards the Government, and as such do not fall under sec. 4 (1) of the Press Act (1931), as amended by sec. 16 of Act XXIII of 1932. Held, further, that the use of the word 'retaliatory' in the second passage was only intended to convey that the punishments provided by the jail Code were quite sufficient for subduing recalcitrant prisoners and for maintaining peace or orderliness, and that the writer was not ascribing any base motive to the Government, but only characterising the jail measures as harsh and retaliative. That the article read as a whole was not open to real objection; it only expressed disapprobation of certain measures of the Government with a view to getting them altered by lawful means without exciting or attempting to excite hatred, contempt or disaffection, and that it could not tend directly or indirectly to bring the Government into hatred or contempt. 61 Cal. 827 = 38 C.W.N. 674 (S.B.).

INCITEMENT AGAINST BRITISH RULE—OF FENCE.—The accused was shown to have by

(i) to prejudice the recruiting of persons to serve in any of His Majesty's forces, or in any police force, or to prejudice the training, discipline or administration of any such force;]

the Provincial Government may, by notice in writing to the keeper of such printing-press, stating or describing the words, signs or visible representations which in its opinion are of the nature described above,—

(i) where security has been deposited, declare such security, or any portion thereof, to be forfeited to His Majesty, or

(ii) where security has not been deposited, declare the press to be forfeited to His Majesty, and may also declare all copies of such newspaper, book or other document wherever found in British India to be forfeited to His Majesty.

Explanation ¹[1].—No expression of approval or administration made in a historical or literary work shall be deemed to be of the nature described in this sub-section unless it has the tendency described in clause (a).

means of a newspaper article incited the people to deliver the country from foreign bondage and the oppression and humiliation of the country and the wrongs inflicted by foreign rule were referred to. Held, that the article constructed an offence under the Press Act read with Ordinance X of 1932. 142 I.C. 225=34 Cr.L.J. 316 (F.B.). Certain articles published in the Indian Daily Mail alleged that the Ordinances were applied ruthlessly and not reasonably, excessive sentences were passed, the way in which particular individuals were picked out for punishment and the unanimity of the magistrates in inflicting heavy sentences showed that the Magistrates were working in consultation and in co-operation with the executive, the abuse of powers indicated a policy of vindictiveness and that the Government should take steps against such abuse. Held, (i) that the general tendency of the articles was not to criticise the policy of the Government of India in promulgating the Ordinances, but to assert that the Local Government were deliberately abusing and misusing the powers conferred on them by the Ordinances; (ii) that there was no exception in sec. 4 of the Press Act making truth and public good an answer to a charge under the section; (iii) that the section made punishable, not merely the creation of hatred or contempt but also the tendency of an article to create such feelings and the article in question had such a tendency; (iv) that (on the question whether the articles tended to bring into hatred or contempt the administration of justice); (a) the special Courts under the Ordinance were acting in a judicial capacity; (b) the method of dealing with persons charged under the Ordinances was part of the administration of justice in force in India; (c) the allegation of consultation and co-operation between the magistracy and the judiciary was such as to have a tendency to bring the administration of justice into contempt. 56 Bom. 472=33 Cr.L.J. 749=34 Bom.L.R. 917=1932 Bom. 468.

ATTACK ON POLICE OFFICERS AS SUCH.—Where there is an attack on the police as a whole it may be said that there is an attack on a class or section of His Majesty's subjects within the meaning of sec. 4 (1) (c). 149 I.C. 370=35 Cr.L.J. 966=1934 Lah. 219. The Jana sakti published an item of news to the effect that as soon as certain Satyagrahis went to a Congress Office, a police inspector and six constables arrested them, took them to a village and used lathis on them as a result of which one was unconscious and in a precarious condition. Held, (i) that in the absence of any suggestion that the misconduct of the officer was approved of by the administration or was part of a deliberate policy of repression, the words were not covered by cl. (d) (ii) that the police-officers on the one hand and Satyagrahis on the other could not be designated "different classes of His Majesty's subjects" and so the words did not fall under cl. (h). ARTICLE INCITING MUSLIMS TO GET RID OF NON-MUSLIM GOVERNMENT.—There is a good deal of distinction between a comment upon the measures of Government and asking that steps be taken to have them charged and an exhortation to people to run out the Government which has promulgated these measures. The one is innocent and the other an offence. Where an article published by a Muslim went on to say that the Mussalmans of India were allowing a non-Muslim Government to dominate them and were submitting to the irreligious laws made by that Government, that not taking

(3) All documents seized under sub-section (1) shall be produced as soon as may be before a Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate, Sub-divisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, and all documents seized under sub-section (2) shall be produced as soon as may be before the Court of the Magistrate who issued the warrant.

(4) If, in the opinion of such Magistrate or Court, any of such documents are unauthorised news-sheets or unauthorised newspapers, the Magistrate or Court may cause them to be destroyed. If, in the opinion of such Magistrate or Court, any of such documents are not unauthorised news-sheets or unauthorised newspapers, such Magistrate or Court shall dispose of them in the manner provided in sections 523, 524 and 525 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

authorise any police-officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector to enter upon and search any place wherein such undeclared press may be or may be reasonably suspected to be, and if, in the opinion of such police-officer, any press found in such place is an undeclared press and is used to produce an unauthorised news-sheet or unauthorised newspaper, he may seize such press and any documents found in the place which in his opinion are unauthorised news-sheets or unauthorised newspapers.

(2) The police-officer shall make a report of the search to the Court which issued the warrant and shall produce before such Court, as soon as may be, all property seized:

Provided that where any press which has been seized cannot be readily removed, the police-officer may produce before the Court only such parts thereof as he may think fit.

(3) If such Court, after such inquiry as it may deem requisite, is of opinion that a press seized under this section is an undeclared press which is used to produce an unauthorised news-sheet or unauthorised newspaper, it may, by order in writing, declare the press to be forfeited to His Majesty. If, after such inquiry, the Court is not of such opinion, it shall dispose of the press in the manner provided in sections 523, 524 and 525 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

SEC. 18: FORUM.—There is no restriction in the provisions of the Act as to the Court by which offences under sec. 18 are triable. The maximum punishment under that section is 6 months and therefore any Magistrate may try the offence. 1933 M.W.N. 911.

OFFENCE—WHAT CONSTITUTES.—Where a pamphlet published and distributed by the accused, purporting to deal with the grievances of the poor Kisan labourers as against the rich zamindars, bankers and petty shopkeepers, exhorted the labourers to assemble in very large numbers to advocate reduction of rate of interest and of rents of houses and shops, heavy taxation of the rich, enhancement of wages of all labourers and so on and it appeared that the assembly which was to meet would be so large as could not be controlled by the convener, and the feelings of the assembly would be inflamed by the pamphlet against the rich, and that thereby a breach of the peace was likely. Held, the pamphlet tended to create feelings of hatred and enmity between different classes of His Majesty's subjects, namely, between the rich and the poor, which were sufficiently well-defined and that it fell within the offence contemplated by sec. 18 of the Press Act (XXIII of 1931), read with secs. 15 and 16 (h) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. 149 I.C. 710=35 Cr.L. J. 1000=1934 A. 717. The printer of a news-sheet cannot be said to make a news-sheet and so is not liable under sec. 18 (1). 1942 Bom. 328=44 Bom.L.R. 799. A handbill or poster announcing that nearly 1000 political prisoners are detained in India without trial can hardly be described as a newspaper or news-sheet, when this information has been in possession of the public for some time. Consequently an unauthorised issue of such a poster is not an offence under sec. 18. I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 553=44 P.L.R. 26=A.I.R. 1942 Lah 203. See also (1945) 1 M.L.J. 314.

SEC. 18 (1): UNAUTHORISED NEWS-SHEET—PAINTING WORDS "BOYCOTT BRITISH GOODS" ON ROAD—OFFENCE.—"A view to cause loss" is, under sec. 3 (b) of Ordinance V of 1932 as amended by Ordinance VII of 1932, the essence of the offence of molestation but the words "Boycott British goods" cannot be supposed to incite the public to entertain the view to cause loss to the dealers in those goods and painting those words on the road does not amount to making an unauthorised news-sheet as defin-

SCOPE OF INQUIRY.—Under the Act what the High Court, and indeed the Provincial Government, is primarily concerned with is whether the words complained of have or 6, section 8, section 10 or section 19 may, within two months from the date of such order, apply to the High Court for the local area in which such order was made, to set aside such order, and the High Court shall decide if the newspaper, book or other document in respect of which the order was made did or did not contain any words, signs or visible representations of the nature described in section 4, sub-section (1).

(2) The keeper of a printing-press in respect of which an order of forfeiture has been made under sub-section (2) of section 12 on the ground that it has been used in contravention of sub-section (1) of that section may apply to such High Court to set aside the order on the ground that the press was not so used.

24. Every such application shall be heard and determined by a special

Hearing by Special Bench. Bench of the High Court composed of three Judges, or, where the High Court consists of less than three have not the prohibited tendency and are of the prohibited nature. The Act does not require that it shall be proved that this is so. The words "whenever it appears to the Provincial Government" in secs. 3 (3), 4 (1) and 7 (3) of the Act, have or are intended to have the same use and purpose. The essential condition of action under the Act is that the words complained of must have the prohibited tendency and be of the prohibited nature. It is the printing or publishing of the prohibited words which is the offence and the words must speak for themselves. In interpreting the meaning or the tendency of the words, the Judges should use their knowledge and experience of the habits and customs and thoughts of those upon whose acts they are called to sit in judgment. Indeed Sec. 114, Evidence Act, permits a Judge to use his knowledge of human conduct and affairs having regard to time, place and circumstances in which the words were used. The general context in which the words are used can also be looked into. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.). In dealing with notices issued by Government under secs. 3 (3) and 7 (3) in respect of an offence alleged to fall within sec. 4 (1) (e), the High Court is not much concerned with the promptness or lack of promptness with which Government took action. It is principally concerned with the nature of the words used in the newspaper. Nor is the question of the expediency of the action of Government a matter for the Court to consider. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SECS. 23 AND 7.—High Court has jurisdiction to stay execution of order sec. 7 pending its decision on application under sec. 23. A.I.R. 1944 Pesh. 36 (1).

SECS. 23 (1) AND 27—RULES UNDER—SCOPE.—Per Davis, C.J.—The rules framed under sec. 27 by the Chief Court relating or pertaining to orders of forfeiture are not exhaustive and apply mutatis mutandis to orders for deposit of security falling within the first part of sec. 23 (1). I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

LIMITATION.—Applications under sec. 23

being in the nature of the civil proceedings are treated as civil miscellaneous applications. Therefore when the period of two months for applying under sec. 23 to set aside an order made under sec. 7 expires on a day when the High Court is closed so far as civil work is concerned, such application if made on the day when the High Court reopens will be deemed to have been presented in time. 180 I.C. 252=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 6. The word "order" in sec. 23 contemplates the notified order. It must be read as being the notified order because there can be no forfeiture until the declaration referred to in sec. 19 has been notified. The period of limitation for an application under sec. 23 for setting aside the declaration of forfeiture made under sec. 19 therefore begins to run from the date of the notification of the order in the Official Gazette and not from the date on which the order is passed. I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 9=55 L.W. 844 (2)=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 690=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 509 (S.B.).

ORDER OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT FORFEITING SECURITY UNDER SEC. 4 (1) (i)—APPLICATION TO SET ASIDE—CONSIDERATIONS.—In an application to the High Court under sec. 23 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act by the keeper of a press to set aside an order of the Local Government forfeiting his security on the ground that a letter set out in the issue of a newspaper printed at that press contained words which "tend directly or indirectly to promote feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects" within sec. 4 (1) (h) of the Act, the motive or intention of the applicant would appear to be nilhil ad rem except in cases which fall within Explanation 4 of sec. 4 of the Act. What has to be considered is the effect likely to be produced upon persons who may be expected to read the passages in question, and for that purpose not only ought the article to be read as a whole, but under sec. 26 of the Act it is permissible for the Court to have regard to what is contained in other issues of the same publication with a view to ascertaining what would be the probable effect of the offending passages visible representations contained in the newspaper, book or other document in respect of which the order in question was made were not of the nature described in section 4, sub-section (1), the Special Bench shall set aside the order.

(2) If it appears to the Special Bench on an application under sub-section (2) of section 23 that the printing-press was not used in contravention of sub-section (1) of section 12, it shall set aside the order of forfeiture.

(3) Where there is a difference of opinion among the Judges forming the Special Bench, the decision shall be in accordance with the opinion of the majority (if any) of those Judges.

(4) Where there is no such majority which concurs in setting aside the order in question, the order shall stand.

upon those persons who normally would see the articles that are published in the newspaper. The fact that the offending passages occur in a letter set out in the newspaper would make no difference. 13 Rang. 98=36 Cr.L.J. 871=1935 Rang. 120 (S.B.). For a subject nation to pray to Sri Krishna on a "Janmashtami" day for attainment of political freedom is not a thing which can be legitimately condemned. But for an innocent sentiment of such character expressions such as "uplifted hand of oppression," "oppressed and humiliated India," "India persecuted and under subjection" and "Piteous wail of a suffering people" will have no place and would be wholly inapposite. These expressions assume the presence of an agency which has oppressed and humiliated her, has uplifted its hand for oppressing her further, and has been persecuting her by keeping her under subjection and being heedless of the piteous wails of her suffering people. The only agency for which it is possible to behave in that way is the Government established by law, and the expressions, having been used with reference to it, obviously tend to bring it into hatred or contempt and are calculated to excite disaffection towards it. A.I.R. 1933 Cal. 278=34 Cr.L.J. 316 (S.B.).

HIGH COURT'S POWER—EXTENT OF.—The High Court is given jurisdiction only to decide whether or not the matter published was of the nature described in sec. 4, sub-sec. (1). 29 N.L.R. 244=143 I.C. 119=A.I.R. 1933 Nag. 148 (F.B.). The jurisdiction of the High Court under sec. 23, Press (Emergency Powers) Act, is of an extremely limited character and the Courts are not concerned with the question of the intention of the writer of the objectionable passages; all that they are concerned with is to find out whether the words used tended directly or indirectly to bring into hatred or contempt the Government or to excite disaffection towards the Government. If they do, then the petitioners are hit by Emergency Powers Ordinance; if they do not it is competent to the High Court to set aside the orders of the Local Government. 33 Cr.L.J. 839=37 C.W.N. 104=A.I.R. 1932 Cal. 745 (S.B.). See also 1941 N.L.J. 44.

SEC. 25: SCOPE—IF EXHAUSTIVE.—Sec. 25 is not exhaustive. Where the security demanded by the Government under sec. 3 (3) or sec. 7 (3) is in excess of what is permitted by law, the High Court can interfere under sec. 25. But sec. 25 does not empower the High Court to reduce the security when the same is within the statutory limits. The fact that the maximum security of Rs. 3,000 has been demanded from the same person in his capacity as printer and publisher, is a matter for Government and not for the High Court. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SEC. 26: CONSTRUCTION AND SCOPE.—Sec. 26 is merely an enabling section and is not exhaustive. It merely permits the words to be considered in their general context. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SECS. 26 AND 27: PROCEDURE—EVIDENCE.—The method whereby a fact is or is not proved is a matter of procedural law. Sec. 27 itself indicates the manner in which, apart from sec. 26, the tendency of the words complained of may be proved. It does not contemplate the examination or cross-examination of witnesses. The procedure contemplated is the procedure of revision applications or references to the High Court. But even in revision applications the Court may look at statements of fact testified to in affidavits. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.). Per Weston and Tyabji, JJ.—Sec. 26 is nothing more than an enabling section permitting the words to be considered in their Every High Court shall, as soon as conveniently may be, frame rules to regulate the procedure in the case of such applications, the amount of the costs thereof and execution of orders passed thereon, and until such rules are framed the practice of such Court in proceedings other than suits and appeals shall apply, so far as may be practicable, to such applications.

Supplemental.

28. Every notice under this Act shall be sent to a Magistrate, who shall cause it to be served in the manner provided for the service of summonses under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898:

Provided that if service in such manner cannot by the exercise of the due diligence be effected, the serving officer shall, where the notice is directed to the keeper of a press, affix a copy thereof to some conspicuous part of the place where the press is situate, as described in the keeper's declaration under section 4 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, and where the notice is directed to the publisher of a newspaper, to some conspicuous part of the premises where the publication of such newspaper is conducted, as given in the publisher's declaration under section 5 of the said Act; and thereupon the notice shall be deemed to have been duly served.

29. Every warrant issued under this Act shall, so far as it relates to a search, be executed in the manner provided for the execution of search warrants under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

30. Every declaration of forfeiture purporting to be made under this Act shall, as against all persons, be conclusive evidence that the forfeiture therein referred to has taken place, and no proceeding purporting to be taken under this Act shall be called in question by any Court, except the High Court on application under section 23, and no civil or criminal proceeding, except as provided by this Act, shall be instituted against any person for anything done or in good faith intended to be done under this Act.

general context. It does not mean that the Court may consider no other evidence whatever. There is nothing in sec. 26 or in any other section of the Act to suggest that, when forming its opinion under sec. 3 or under sec. 7, the Local Government is subject to any limitations as to the evidence it may consider. When hearing an application made under sec. 23 (1), it is open to the High Court to consider evidence other than the words themselves or their context immediate or general, such as letters from aggrieved persons revealing the prohibited purpose of the articles published in a newspaper within sec. 4 (1) (e) relied on by the Provincial Government in support of the issue of notices by it under secs. 3 (3) and 7 (3) of the Act, 1942 Sind 65. Per Davis, C.J.—There is nothing in the Act which precludes the Provincial Government from satisfying itself before taking action either under sec. 3 or sec. 7 of the Act, that the words complained of have in fact succeeded in their purpose, and that they have not merely the tendency to cause the harm which the Act seeks to avoid but they have caused that harm. This, however, is more a matter for the prudence and good conscience of Government than of law. The answer to the question whether the Provincial Government can lawfully support the notices issued by it under secs. 3 (3) and 7 (3) of the Act by the evidence of the aggrieved persons must be found in the Statute itself and not in the rules framed under sec. 27. I. L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SEC. 27.—Rules framed under sec. 27 by the Chief Court of Sind are not exhaustive, 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.). Rules framed by Sind Chief Court under sec. 27 do not necessarily relate to notices issued by the Provincial Government. They relate to applications made under sec. 23 by the printers and publishers. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 127=1942 Sind 65.

SEC. 27 AND R. 5: APPLICATION TO SET ASIDE FORFEITURE ORDER—AFFIDAVIT TO SUPPORT.—Under R. 5 the applicant is entitled to support by statement of facts in affidavits the grounds on which he relies for the order of forfeiture to be set aside. A.I.R. 1942 Sind 65 (S.B.).

SECS. 30 AND 23: SCOPE AND EXTENT OF JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT.—The Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, deals with the exact scope of the powers of superintendence which the High Court is to have in respect of these matters and consequently

4. (1) If any person performs upon any cow or other milch animal the operation called phooka or doom dev, or permits such operation to be performed upon any such animal in his possession or under his control, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with both, and the animal on which the operation was performed shall be forfeited to Government:

Provided that in the case of a second or subsequent conviction of a person under this section he shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees and with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years.

(2) A Court may order payment out of any fine imposed under this section of an amount not exceeding one-tenth of the fine to any person other than a police officer or officer of a society or institution concerned with the prevention of cruelty to animals who has given information leading to the conviction.]

preliminaries required under secs. 1 and 2 of the Act are not shown to have been made or done. These requirements are not necessary for determination of the case on the merits. The fact that the Local Government have not determined the maximum weight to be carried by animals, and that the District Magistrate's orders have not been published in the Local Gazette cannot render the prosecution incompetent. 48 L. If an accused person who was charged only under the first branch is convicted under the second branch it is necessary in the interest of justice that he should be retried for the offence of which he has been convicted. 71 C.L.J. 179=44 C.W.N. 398=A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 328.

Penalty for being in possession of the skin of a goat killed with unnecessary cruelty.

Presumptions as to possession of the skin of a goat.

offence, and, for the purposes of section 4, if he fails to prove that he has exercised such care and supervision.

6-B. (1) The Provincial Government may, by general or special order, appoint infirmaries for the treatment and care of animals in respect of which offences against this Act have been committed, and may authorise the detention therein of any animal pending its production before a Magistrate.

(2) The Magistrate before whom a prosecution for an offence against this Act has been instituted may direct that the animal concerned shall be treated and cared for in an infirmary, until it is fit to perform its usual work or is otherwise fit for discharge, or that it shall be sent to a pinjrapole, or, if the Veterinary Officer in charge of the area in which the animal is found or such other Veterinary Officer as may be authorised in this behalf by rules made under section 15 certifies that it is incurable or cannot be removed without cruelty, that it shall be destroyed.

(3) An animal sent for care and treatment to an infirmary shall not, unless the Magistrate directs that it shall be sent to a pinjrapole, or that it shall be destroyed, be released from such place except upon a certificate of its fitness for discharge issued by the Veterinary Officer in charge of the area in which the infirmary is situated or such other Veterinary Officer as may be authorised in this behalf by rules made under section 15.

Provided that when the Magistrate so orders, on account of the poverty of the owner of the animal, no charge shall be payable for the treatment of the animal.

(b) baits any animal, or

(c) aids or abets any such incitement or baiting,

10. (1) When any Magistrate, Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police has reason to believe that an offence against this Act has been committed in respect of any animal, he may direct the immediate destruction of the animal, if in his opinion, its sufferings are such as to render such a direction proper.

⁶[(2) Any police officer above the rank of a constable who finds any animal so deceased, or so severely injured, or in such a physical condition that it cannot, in his opinion, be removed without cruelty may, if the owner is absent or refuses to consent to the destruction of the animal, forthwith summon the Veterinary Officer in charge of the area in which the animal is found and, if the Veterinary Officer certifies that the animal is mortally injured, or so severely injured or in such a physical condition that its destruction is desirable, the police officer may, after obtaining orders from a Magistrate, destroy the animal or cause it to be destroyed.]

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Interpretation clause. 1. In this Act—

⁵[* * * * *],
 “Common gaming-house” means any house, walled enclosure, room or place in which cards, dice, tables or other instruments of gaming are kept or used for the profit or gain of the person owning, occupying, using or keeping such house, enclosure, room or place, whether by way of charge for the use of the instruments of gaming, or of the house, enclosure, room or place, or otherwise howsoever.

⁶[* * * * *]
 2. ⁷[Sections 13 and 17] of this Act shall extend to the whole of the said territories; and it shall be competent to the ⁸[Provincial Government], whenever ⁹[it] may think fit, to extend, by a notification¹⁰ to be published in three successive numbers of the Official Gazette, all or any of the remaining sections of this Act to any city, town, suburb, railway station-house and place being not more than three miles distant from any part of such station-house within the territories subject to ¹¹[its]

³ To be construed now “Governor of the Punjab”. See sec. 31 of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897).

¹¹ Substituted by A.O., 1937 for the word ‘his’.

SEC. 1: CONSTRUCTION OF THE ACT.—Act must be construed strictly. See L.B.R. (1872-1882), 429; ibid., pp. 53, 86, 281; 1890 A.W.N. 226.

SCOPE AND OBJECT OF THE ACT.—See 2 N. W.P. 289. By a Government notification the Act was extended to the north bank of the Gauges. Certain persons were found gambling in the mid-stream. Held, it was no offence. 88 I.C. 5 (1)=26 Cr.L.J. 1061 (1)=23 A.L.J. 457=1925 A. 518=45 A. 258. It is not all gaming of digits which constitutes the house, vessel, etc., in which the instruments of gaming are kept, a common gaming house. If the winning number is to be ascertained, in some manner other than that mentioned in para. 1 of sec. 1 of the Public Gambling Act, then the place where the gaming was taking place would not be a common gaming house unless the occupier was obtaining some profit from the use of the place. L.L.B. (1940) All. 559=190 I.C. 252=1940 A.L.J. 456=1940 A.W.R. (H. C.) 391=A.I.R. 1940 All. 412. See also A.I.R. 1941 Cal. 32. Dara gambling is a specified form of Satta gambling and in such a case the omission on the part of the prosecution to prove the commodity concerned is not a fatal defect. Where betting slips are recovered in a house searched under a warrant under sec. 5 of the Act, they constitute instruments of gaming within the meaning of the Act and give rise to a presumption under sec. 6 that the house is a common gaming house. 1941 O.W.N. 794=1941 A.Cr.C. 138=1941 All. 330=I.L.B. (1941) All. 576.

APPLICABILITY.—The Habitual Offenders Restriction Act cannot be applied in respect of persons dealt with under the Gambling Acts. See 5 Bur.L.J. 228=101 I.C. 668=28 Cr.L.J. 490=1927 E. 122; 7 E. 1=117 I.C. 255=30 Cr.L.J. 755=1929 R. 147. Sec. 562, Cr. P. Code, has no application to a case government or administration, and in such notification to define, for the purposes of this Act, the limits of such city, town, suburb or station-house, and from time to time to alter the limits so defined.

From the date of any such extension, so much of any rule having the force of law which shall be in operation in the territories to which such extension shall have been made, as shall be inconsistent with or repugnant to any section so extended, shall cease to have effect in such territories.

3. Whoever, being the owner or occupier, or having the use, of ¹[any house, walled enclosure, room or place] situate within the limits to which this Act applies, opens, keeps or uses the same as a common gaming-house; and Penalty for owning or keeping, or having charge of a gaming-house.

LEG. REF.

¹ These words have been amended in the U. P. by U. P. Act (I of 1917), in the Punjab by Punjab Act (I of 1929) and in the C. P. by C. P. Act (III of 1927).

under the Gambling Act. 71 I.C. 62=1922 Oudh 224; 1924 L. 224.

"COMMON GAMING HOUSE"—WHAT IS.—See notes under secs. 3 and 13. Under the C.P. Amendment Act (III of 1927) the term would include a public road. I.L.R. (1936) Nag. 89=162 I.C. 332=A.I.R. 1936 Nag. 78. See also 1941 N.L.J. 297; A.I.R. 1940 All. 412. Under sec. 1 of the Act as amended by the C. P. Act, III of 1927, 'gaming' includes wagering or betting and 'common gaming house' includes in the case of gaming on the occurrence of rain or other natural event any enclosure, space, etc., in which such gaming takes place. Betting on the number of carts that would enter the cotton markets on a particular day cannot possibly come under cl. (1) (d). The word 'natural' seems to have been deliberately used in juxtaposition to the word 'rain' in order to make it clear that a reference is intended to an event dependent on natural and not on human causes. 1939 N.L.J. 401.

SECS. 1 AND 2: LIMITS WITHIN WHICH ACT IN FORCE.—Where the Lieut.-Governor, declared by notification that the Act should be in force within the boundaries of a Municipality and those boundaries were subsequently revised, and an offence was committed within the boundaries as existing at the time of the notification but without the boundaries as revised, held, that the boundaries for the purpose of Act must be taken to be those existing at the time of the notification under that Act. 1906 A.W.N. 133=3 Cr.L.J. 439.

NOTIFICATION EXTENDING PROVISIONS OF THE ACT—VALIDITY.—The notification in the Punjab Gazette extending the whole of the Act to a town, are not ineffectual by reason of their defining the limits of the town. 12 P.R. 1886 (Cr.). Notification extending the Act to a 'town'—Cantonment not included. 23 P.R. 1887 (Cr.). The Act, or any of its provisions, cannot be extended to a town or place, to which the Act does not ipso facto apply, under the terms of sec. 2, by the mere publication of a notification in one issue of the Gazette only. 3 P.R. 1885 (Cr.). Gambliing on a kachcha public road outside the limits of a Municipality, to which the Act has been extended, is an offence under sec. 13 because the words "limits aforesaid", in that section refer to the whole of the territories under administration of a Lieut.-Governor. 12 Cr.L.J. 107=9 I.C. 630. Although the Act as amended by the Punjab Amendment, 1929, has been extended by a notification to the Cantonment of Ambala, it does not apply to Sadar Bazar which has been excluded from the limits of that cantonment by a later notification. 38 P.L.R. 432.

QUESTION OF WHAT PROVISION OF THE ACT HAS BEEN EXTENDED TO A PARTICULAR LOCALITY—WHETHER A QUESTION OF LAW OR FACT.—Whether or not portions of the Act had been extended to a particular locality, and whether the steps taken in this view were sufficient in law to effect it, are questions of law and fact, which the Criminal Court has to decide for itself before convicting the accused. When once a decision has been arrived at, the point cannot be reopened in a subsequent case except where the facts of a particular case bring it within sec. 44, Evidence Act. 41 P.R. 1885 (Cr.). It would not be an offence if gambling takes place outside the area to which the Act has been applied by notification. 88 I.C. 5=23 A.L.J. 457=26 Cr.L.J. 1061. Trial by Magistrate who issued warrant not desirable—Conviction by such Magistrate may not stand. 4 A.W.R. 345.

SECS. 3 AND 4.—[See also notes under secs. 4 to 6 and 13].

ESSENTIALS OF OFFENCE UNDER SECS. 3 AND 4.—A person who is simply caught on one occasion gambling on a public road cannot be said to use the same as a common gaming house. Sec. 3 contemplates a more serious offence than sec. 4 as the respective punishments will show, and it is evidently aimed at the keeper of a gaming house or other persons who habitually come within the same category. I.L.R. (1936) Nag. 89=162 I.C. 332=37 Cr.L.J. 538=A.I.R. 1936 Nag. 78. Indulging in a common friendly amusement where the idea of making a profit by levying a commission was not present to the mind of the owner of the house is no offence. 20 O.C. 4=18 Cr.L.J. 494=39 I.C. 334. In order to bring the case under the Act, it is not necessary to prove that pro-whoever, being the owner or occupier of any such ¹[house, walled enclosure, room, or place] as aforesaid, knowingly or wilfully permits the same to be opened, occupied, used or kept by any other person as a commons gaming-house; and whoever has the care or management of, or in any manner assists in conducting, the business of any ¹[house, walled enclosure, room or place] as aforesaid, opened, occupied, used or kept for the purpose aforesaid; and whoever advances or furnishes money for the purpose of gaming with persons frequenting such ¹[house, walled enclosure, room or place], shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two-hundred rupees, or to imprisonment of either description,² as defined in the Indian Penal Code, for any term not exceeding three months.³

UNDER THE C. P. AMENDMENT ACT (III of 1927).—In the case of a public place, such as a road used as a gaming house, sec. 3 would apply to a man who habitually uses that spot and has his regular beat or stand there, but not a casual gambler whether he hands over or accepts the money staked. JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE.—See I.L.R. (1872-1892) 486.

MEANING OF TERMS.—A 'person' not only includes a natural person but a juristic person such as Municipal Committee. 24 Cr. L.J. 463; 72 I.C. 623. The words "for the profit or gain of" used in the definition of "common gaming-house" in sec. 1 cannot be read as meaning for the purpose of carrying on the gaming. 20 A.L.J. 218; 23 Cr. L.J. 196; 65 I.C. 852. Sec. 3 of the Bombay Gaming Act makes "gaming" within the meaning of the Act the collection or soliciting of bets, and it makes no difference if these bets are brought by a messenger or person or sent by telephone or sent and received by telephone. It is gaming within the definition of sec. 3, and in sec. 7 the word "persons" includes "person", the plural includes the singular. Hence, a person caught actually in the act of taking bets over telephone can be convicted of gaming under sec. 5. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 150=187 I.C. 78=41 Cr.L.J. 399=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 28. Common gaming-houses are houses, etc., in which instruments of gambling are kept or used for the profit or gain of the owner or occupier, whether by way of charge for the use of the instruments of gaming or of the house, or otherwise howsoever. 3 N.W.P. 134. See also 20 A.L.J. 218=65 I.C. 852. Instruments of gaming include articles used as a means or appurtenance of, or for the purpose of, carrying on, or facilitating gaming. 20 A.L.J. 218=23 Cr.L.J. 196=65 I.C. 852. See also I.L.R. (1940) All. 559=1940 A.L.J. 456=A.I.R. 1940 All. 412 (slip with numbers and a register); A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 18 (Marked coins). A lottery or sweep ticket is not an instrument of gaming within the meaning of sec. 13. Mere betting without gaming is no offence in the Central Provinces and Berar. 47 I.C. 433=19 Cr.L.J. 917=14 N.L.R. 137. So also books used for registering or recording gaming transactions. 53 R. 367=31 Bom.L.R. 158=30 Cr.L.J. 595=1929 Bom. 157 (case law discussed); so also register or record of transactions in American futures as books registering Kacha Mandi transactions and Tej Mandi transactions (ibid.); so also advertisements of Satta gambling and accounts of Satta gambling are "instruments of gaming". 49 A. 562=23 A.L.J. 346=1927 A. 408 (1924 A. 338, Foll.). Anything which assists gaming or which is used for furtherance of gaming would be instrument of gaming. It is not possible to give an exhaustive list of such articles. It will be necessary to consider the article in question with reference to the game that is played. Slips of papers found in the house held to be instruments of gaming. (65 I.C. 852; 46 A. 447 and 49 A. 562, Rel.) 1933 A. 554. Telegrams and documents which enabled gamblers to settle differences but could not be deciphered are not implements of gaming within the meaning of the Act such as, if found in a house, would enable a Court to presume that the house was a common gaming-house. 21 A.L.J. 318=76 I.C. 28=25 Cr.L.J. 92. Cowries, if instruments of gaming, 90 I.C. 713=3 O.W.N. 638=26 Cr.L.J. 160=1925 O. 674; 3 P.R. 1896 (Cr.). See also 6 C.P.L.R. 17 (Cr.); 18 A. 23; 12 Cr.L.J. 28=8 I.C. 1127=6 N.L.R. 168; 19 A. 311. The expression "using or keeping" in sec. 3 of the Bombay Prevention of Gambling Act means having a right to use or keep as in sec. 4 (a) and if the accused was not a person having a right to use this passage, then it would be irrelevant to prove that he was making a profit out of the gaming carried on there. To bring a case within the definition, it would be necessary to show that profit was to be made for the person owning, keeping or using the passage, that is, presumably the landlord. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 322=42 Bom.L.R. 161=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 129. See also A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 18.

"OWNER OR OCCUPIER OF HOUSE".—Meaning of. See 41 Bom.L.R. 1826=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 62. "Having the use of"—Meaning of. See A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 18.

COMMON GAMING-HOUSE — PRESUMPTIVE EVIDENCE.—[See also Notes under secs. 5 and 6]. It is only in the case of a house searched under the provisions of sec. 5 that a presumption arises, under sec. 6, from the mere discovery of cards, dice, or other instruments of gaming, that it is a common gaming house. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 548; 101 I.C. 659=28 Cr.L.J. 483. See also 155 I.C. 496=41 L.W. 679=68 M.L.J. 421; 1941 O.W.N. 794. The presence of implements of gaming, which were not actually being used at the time does not give rise to a presumption that the house was a common gaming-house. 45 A. 258=21 A.L.J. 36=76 I.C. 969; 25 Cr.L.J. 297=1923 A. 192. To justify conviction of the accused for keeping a common gaming-house it must be established that the owner or occupier of the house takes a fixed commission which is irrespective of the result of the gaming, or that he manipulates the conditions in such a manner that he cannot possibly lose, 20 A.L.J. 218=65 I.C. 852. Where chance of loss is extremely rare, offence is complete. 23 A.L.J. 185=47 A. 405=1925 A. 309; 2 Bur. L.J. 5=75 I.C. 71=1923 R. 141. Where in pursuance of a warrant issued under sec. 5 of the Act, certain slips with numbers upon them and a register were found in the house of the accused, in the absence of any explanation as to the purpose of these slips, it should be inferred that they are instruments of gaming and consequently the discovery of them is evidence, until the contrary is made to appear, that the place was being used as a common gaming house. I.L.R. (1940) All. 559=1940 A.L.J. 456=1940 A.W.R. (H.C.) 391=A.I.R. 1940 All. 12. See also 1941 O.W.N. 794.

"PUBLIC PLACE", WHAT IS.—[See also Notes under secs. 4 and 13]. When the public have access to a place without their access being refused or interfered with, that place is a public place whether the public have a right to go there or not. 20 A.L.J. 31=44 A. 205=65 I.C. 419. See also 9 N.J.R. 134; L.B.R. (1872-1892) 57, 59. Consequently gambling in a private grove frequented by the public on the occasion of a fair is an offence. 20 A.L.J. 80; 44 A. 265=65 I.C. 419. A garden enclosed with a hedge or ditch where gambling takes place, cannot be considered as a "common gaming-house". 14 P.R. 1896 (Cr.). "COMMON GAMING-HOUSE" — "RING-GAME" KEPT AS ONE OF ITEMS IN VARIETY ENTERTAINMENT.—In an enclosure erected for a variety entertainment one of the items was the ring-game. This was a game where the public may, if they so desire, try to throw brass rings, which they buy from the management at four to the anna, over small coin placed on a table. The coins were ranged from one anna to a rupee. Held, that this enclosure could not be properly described as a "common gaming-house", nor could the table on which the coins were spread be described as an instrument of gaming and that even if technically it could be so described, this was clearly a case of de minimis non curat lex, a principle of law well recognized by Courts and enunciated by sec. 95, I. P. Code. Held, further, that this type of game when played for such small prizes was not the mischief aimed at by the Public Gambling Act. 1935 L. 225. See also 1940 N.L.J. 297.

GOVERNMENT OFFICE if used for gambling would come under the definition of "common gaming-house". 26 A.L.J. 400=29 Cr. L.J. 448=1928 A. 215.

PRESUMPTION.—If there is a fair presumption under sec. 6 that the person is the occupier or has the use of a room within sec. 3 as a common gaming-house the issue of a warrant is not illegal. 21 Cr.L.J. 442=56 I.C. 234 (A.). To substantiate a conviction under sec. 4 it is sufficient if the accused persons were seen on the premises on the entry of the police in the course of a lawful search though most of them managed to evade arrest at the moment. 22 Cr.L.J. 508=62 I.C. 332=17 N.L.R. 59. Where a house is not proved to be a common gaming-house, the presence of other persons therein will not raise a presumption against them and even if it were one, no presumption will arise against such persons unless it can be shown that gambling was going on at the time when they were present. 19 Cr.L.J. 958=47 I.C. 810=16 A.L.J. 760. In a case under secs. 3 and 4, the owner of the house should be allowed to prove that the house was not used as a common gaming-house. L.B.R. (1871-1892), 53.

EVIDENCE OF USE OF INSTRUMENTS OF GAMING ESSENTIAL FOR CONVICTION.—In order to support a conviction under sec. 3 of keeping a common gaming-house as defined by sec. 1 there must be evidence that instruments of gaming were kept or used. L.B.R. (1872-1892), 532. See also 116 I.C. 57=1929 O. 1151=6 O.W.N. 45. The mere finding of cards, dice, etc., is not evidence that the house is a common gaming-house. The owner or tenant must derive profit or gain from the gambling. 19 P.R. 1871 (Cr.). The fact that certain instruments of gaming, such as race-books, were found in the house is not sufficient to show that the house is a common gaming house, though they might be treated as evidence. A.I.R. 1941 Cal. 32. See also A.I.R. 1940 All. 412; 1941 O. W.N. 794 (finding of betting slips).

SEARCH WARRANT—CREDIBLE INFORMATION—PRESUMPTION.—When a search warrant purported to be issued upon credible information and after enquiry signed by the District Superintendent of Police, held, that it was open to the Magistrate to presume until the contrary was made to appear, that it was open to the Magistrate to presume the warrant was issued on credible information after sufficient enquiry and that the prosecution need not give evidence, in the enquiry, if any, held thereupon. 29 P.R. 1881 (Cr.) See 5 O.C. 37. (See also notes under secs. 5 and 6). Where at the time when the Magistrate signed the warrant the place used as public gaming-house is not stated at all in the body and the warrant was issued on credible information it should be presumed that the Magistrate signing the warrant had such information. A police report is prima facie credible information. 14 Cr.L.J. 293=19 I.C. 949=9 N.L.R. 68. As to imperfect description in the warrant of the house to be searched, see 1905 A.W. N. 105=2 Cr.L.J. 243. Where there was no credible information and no enquiry was made for the purpose of being satisfied that a house was used as a common gaming house and a warrant is issued by the Magistrate, it could not be legal and hence sec. 6 of the Act could not be invoked to raise a presumption against the accused in such a case. 1939 N.L.J. 357.

JOINT TRIAL.—Joint trial of keeper of house and persons found in the house is not illegal. 3 Lah. 359. See also 104 I.C. 441=28 Cr.L.J. 825=1927 Lah. 699 (case-law discussed). Offences under secs. 3 and 4 are inter-dependent and are compliments of one another. 1930 A.L.J. 229=31 Cr.L.J. 35=1929 A. 937. Two accused under secs. 3 and 4 can be tried in the same trial. 35 P. R. 1914 (Cr.); 9 N.L.R. 68. The offence of keeping the gaming-house and the offence of using it, both appear to be offences committed in the same transaction. 20 A.L.J. 967=71 I.C. 507=1923 All. 88 (1). Offences under secs. 3 and 4 are different offences. The offence under sec. 3 is that the owner or occupier opens or keeps the house as a common gaming-house. He may do this without himself taking part in the gaming under sec. 4. 81 I.C. 186=25 Cr.L.J. 698=1924 Oudh 403.

MISJOINDER OF CHARGES—DISCRETION OF CHIEF COURT TO HEAR PLEADER IN REVISION.—A person accused under sec. 3 cannot be tried together with the person accused under sec. 4 on the ground of misjoinder of charges. See 5 P.W.R. 1910 (Cr.). See also 31 Cr.L.J. 35=1930 A.L.J. 229=1929 All. 937. Obiter:—When the District Magistrate has refused to appoint a legal practitioner to represent the Crown in revision, the Chief Court must decline to hear him. 5 P.W.R. 1910 (Cr.).

CONVICTIONS UNDER SECTIONS, ESSENTIAL FOR.—In order to sustain a conviction under secs. 3 and 4 it must be shown that the house in which the alleged offence was committed was a common gaming-house within the meaning of sec. 1. 46 P.R. 1867 (Cr.). See also 6 C. P.L.R. 17 (Cr.); 116 I.C. 57=1929 Oudh 151. A man, who keeps a common gaming-house and gambles in it himself, cannot be convicted and separately sentenced under secs. 3 and 4. L.B.R. (1893-1900), 459.

CONVICTION WHEN SUSTAINABLE.—Before a conviction could be had under sec. 3 or sec. 4 it should be proved that cards, dice, tables or other instruments of gaming were "kept or used for the profit or gain of the person owning, occupying, using or keeping the house". 6 C.P.L.R. 17 (Cr.). Where a Magistrate convicted certain persons under secs. 3 and 4 but directed their release on their entering into a personal bond for good behaviour for one year, held, that the order was illegal inasmuch as sec. 562, Cr. P. Code, had no application to the case. 25 O.C. 111=71 I.C. 62; 24 Cr.L.J. 14=1922 Oudh 224. L.J. 368. In the case of an offence under sec. 3 of the Public Gambling Act, for keeping a shop as a gaming house for satta gambling, it is incumbent for the prosecution under the law to prove by definite evidence the commodity in respect of which the alleged satta gambling was going on. Mere vague and general statement by prosecution witnesses that satta gambling was going on prove nothing in law. 1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 736=1930 A.L.J. 990=A.I.R. 1939 All. 734.

FRIENDLY AMUSEMENTS NO OFFENCE.—It is not unusual for persons to gamble on the occasion of the Deepavali festival by way of a common friendly amusement rather than for the purpose of making any profit or reaping a commission. 25 O.O. 111=71 I.C. 62=24 Cr.L.J. 14=1922 Oudh 224; 7 O.W.N. 757=1930 Oudh 403; 90 I.C. 713=1925 Oudh 674. See also 20 O.C. 4=39 I.C. 334=11 Cr.L.J. 494. A person simply allowing the use of his house to gamblers during a Deepavali festival without any idea of demanding rent, etc., cannot be said to keep a common gaming-house within secs. 3 and 4. 20 Cr.L.J. 283=50 I.C. 171 (All.).

SENTENCE OF IMPRISONMENT AND FINE.—A sentence of imprisonment and fine under sec. 3 or sec. 4 is illegal. L.B.R. (1872-892) 434; 28 P.L.R. 577=28 Cr.L.J. 790=1927 Lah. 672. Fine is a more appropriate form of punishment, for a first offence under sec. 4 than imprisonment. A Magistrate should strongly mark the distinction between offences under secs. 3 and 4. L.B. (1872-1892), 428. It is not proper to convict the accused person under the two sections and pass a cumulative sentence on him on count only. 31 Cr.L.J. 35=1930 A.L.J. 29=1929 All. 937.

REWARDS TO INFORMERS.—There is no justification in sec. 16 for the payment of any portion of a fine imposed under sec. 13 to the informer. There is no authority for awarding an arresting officer out of the fine imposed under secs. 3 and 4, or out of the moneys or sale proceeds of articles seized and ordered to be forfeited under the Act. B.R. (1872-1892), 407.

JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE.—Accused has a right to examine the Magistrate issuing warrant as a witness to enquire from him what was the information received by him and how the warrant was filled up; and therefore accused would be materially prejudiced by trial by the very Magistrate who issued the warrant. 73 I.C. 521=24 Cr. L.J. 633=1924 Lah. 247.

SEC. 4.—See also notes under secs. 3, 5 and 13.

ESSENTIALS FOR CONVICTION.—The only crime under the Public Gambling Act is being found in the place where gambling is going on and it is no offence to gamble in a public place as long as a person is not found doing it. The persons not found in the place where gambling was going on cannot therefore be convicted under sec. 4 of the Act. [35 P.R. 1894 (Cr.), Foll.] 177 I.C. 298=40 P.L.R. 916=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 631.

GAMBLING IN A PRIVATE HOUSE.—Sec. 13 punishes gambling in a public street or place. Sec. 4 punishes gambling in a common gaming-house. Gambling in a private house is not an offence under the Act. 2 N.W.N. 289. See also 1941 Nag. 16 (open space in front of panstall).

GAMBLING IN A COMMON GAMING-HOUSE.—In order to support a conviction, the accused must actually be found in the house when search was made. 36 P.R. 1894 (Cr.). Where a panstall is very small and customers never actually enter it as there is no room for them, but they stand in front of it, and carry on the betting or gaming, the area in which the customers usually stand should be included in the definition of 'common gaming house' when the place is so used. 190 I.C. 764=1940 N.L.J. 297; A.I.R. 1940 B. 120. Persons present during game—Presumption. See A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 63. See also A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 16.

BEING FOUND IN A COMMON GAMING-HOUSE.—A person seen actually in a gaming-house by the officer executing the warrant at the time of their reaching the house is "found" in the house within the meaning of sec. 4. It is not necessary that he should be actually arrested in the house. 22 P.R. 1895 (Cr.). [35 P.R. 1894 (Cr.), Expl.] In order to make person punishable under sec. 4, it is not necessary either that he should be found by a Magistrate or by a police-officer acting in the manner provided by sec. 5, or that information should be given by a police-officer. A Magistrate may take action under sec. 4 upon information given by a private

COMMON GAMING-HOUSE — EVIDENCE — "CREDIBLE INFORMATION".—When a house is searched by the Police on information that it is a common gaming-house the finding of instruments of gaming will be admissible evidence that the house is used as a common gaming-house, notwithstanding that the warrant is defective, though the finding of such articles may not be evidence to the extent mentioned in sec. 6. "Credible information" as used in sec. 5 has not the same meaning as "credible evidence". The "credible information" there mentioned need not be in writing. 28 A. 210; 30 A. 60. "Credible information" includes any information which in the judgment of the officer to whom it is given appears entitled to credit on the particular instance and which he believes. It need not be sworn information. 116 I.C. 455=30 Cr.L.J. 625=1929 L. 720. The Public Gambling Act does not require the Magistrate to make an inquiry before issuing a search warrant. All that the Act requires is that the Magistrate should have credible information. He may, but he is not, bound to make an inquiry. I.L.R. (1938) A. 422=175 I.C. 233=1938 A.W.R. (H.C.) 147=1938 A.L.J. 222=A.I.R. 1938 All. 252. Sec. 5 of the Act merely requires that the search warrant should be issued after the receipt of credible information. The warrant is, therefore not invalid if it does not state that it was issued after the receipt of credible information. 171 I.C. 1007=39 Cr.L.J. 55=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 63; A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 357. As to information being credible the presumption as to regularity of official act applies. 81 I.C. 186=15 Cr.L.J. 698=1924 O. 403.

SEC. 5: SEARCH WARRANT — CONDITIONS FOR ISSUING.—Before issuing a search warrant under sec. 5, the officer, whether Magistrate or Police shall have, upon credible information, reason to believe that the premises to be searched are used as a common gaming house. It is not necessary that the informant should be examined upon oath or affirmation, or that further enquiry should be made or that a record should be prepared. 7 P.R. 1892 (Cr.) (F.B.) [19 P.R. 1871 (Cr.); 9 P.R. 1876 (Cr.) Ref.] To apply sec. 6 the premises must be entered or searched under the provisions of sec. 5. The credible information, which the police officer must obtain before he can enter a place must show that the gambling is being carried on for the profit of the owner or occupier, and there ought to be evidence to describe either how the game itself was played or how a toll, if any, was levied. The mere fact that small sums are set aside for remunerating those who minister to the comfort of the persons assembled, does not show that such payments represent any advantage whatsoever to the person occupying or keeping the premises. A police-officer is not at liberty to raid premises merely because a number of persons are collected to gamble there, and a conviction based on such information cannot be sustained. 62 I.C. 332=22 Cr.L.J. 498 (Nag.) The body of the search warrant issued under sec. 5 of the Act need not be filled up by the Magistrate or his clerk. All that the Magistrate has to do is to satisfy himself, that there is credible information that the accused's house is being used as a common gaming house. 1945 N.L.J. 237. There is no provision in the Public Gambling Act about the execution of search warrants. Warrants issued under sec. 5 of the Act to a police officer may be endorsed by him to another police officer in accordance with the provisions of sec. 79, Cr. P. Code. 1945 N.L.J. 237.

SEARCH BY OFFICER OTHER THAN THE ONE NAMED IN THE SEARCH-WARRANT.—The only person authorised to make a search is the officer named in the warrant. The officer named in the warrant is not competent to authorize any one else to make the search. 22 P.R. 1895 (Cr.). A charge of being the owner or keeper of a common gaming-house may be proved and conviction sustained even if there has been no legal warrant and search. 22 P.R. 1895 (Cr.) Assistant Superintendent of Police is not authorised to search without warrant. 23 A.L.J. 137=26 Cr.L.J. 896=1925 A. 301. Superintendent GUILT OR INNOCENCE OF ACCUSED.—IF AFFECTED BY LEGALITY OF ARREST.—Under sec. 5 the District Superintendent of Police may arrest without a warrant. In order that an offence may be cognizable offence it is not necessary that every police officer should have the power to arrest without a warrant. The fact that District Superintendent of Police has such power makes it a cognizable offence. The question whether the arrest was valid or not would not affect the question of the guilt or otherwise of the accused, because even if it was illegal, the Court would still have jurisdiction under sec. 190, Cr. P. Code, to take cognizance of the offence. 1941 N.L.J. 465=A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 338.

LIMIT OF SENTENCE.—See 190 I.C. 703=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 187 (case under Bombay Gambling Act). A person who had been seven times previously convicted under the Gambling Act was convicted of being found in a gaming house and was sentenced under secs. 4 and 15 to rigorous imprisonment for six months. Held, that the utmost punishment allowed by the law being a fine of Rs. 200 or rigorous imprisonment for two months, the sentence passed was illegal. 1881 A.W.N. 129. (See also notes under sec. 3.) Where either of two offences under the two different Acts are constituted by the same acts the offender cannot be punished for both. 25 Cr.L.J. 225=76 I.C. 689=1923 Lah. 342. Where the prosecution have relied upon the same facts and upon the same acts of the accused to prove that the offences under secs. 4 and 5 (Bombay Gambling Act), were committed the convictions under both sections may be confirmed, but there should be one punishment for both. He should not be punished twice over for the same acts. I. L.R. (1940) Kar. 150=187 I.C. 78=41 Cr. L.J. 399=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 28.

DAING should be punished much more heavily than an ordinary gambler. It is the Daing who makes opportunity for other people to commit gambling. 6 R. 655=117 I.C. 60=30 Cr.L.J. 709=1929 Rang. 30.

IMPRISONMENT IN DEFAULT OF FINE.—As the maximum term of imprisonment under sec. 4 is one month, the accused could not, under sec. 65, I. P. Code, be sentenced to more than one week's imprisonment in default of payment of fine. Sec. 65 has been made applicable to fines imposed under the Gambling Act by sec. 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897. L.B.R. (1893-1900), 385. It is ordinarily undesirable that a Magistrate who believes that the information that a house is credible and issues a search warrant, should try the case. He cannot, however, be said to be personally interested in the case, and sec. 526, Cr. P. Code, would not apply. 171 I.C. 1007=39 Cr.L.J. 55=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 68.

SECS. 5, 6 AND 7.—(See also notes under secs. 3, 4, 6 and 13). It is ordinarily undesirable that a Magistrate who believes that the information that a house has been used as a public gaming house is credible and issues a search warrant, should not try the case. He cannot, however, be said to be personally interested in the case, and sec. 526, Cr. P. Code, would not apply. 171 I.C. 1007. As to who can issue search warrant see 42 Bom.L.R. 203=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 127. An additional Superintendent of Police appointed under sec. 6 of the Bombay District Police Act, has no power to authorise the issue of a search warrant under sec. 6 of Gambling Act. Where a search warrant is issued by an Assistant Superintendent of Police the presumption under sec. 7 of the Act does not arise, and a conviction based on such presumption cannot be sustained. 187 I.C. 459=42 Bom.L.R. 203=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 127.

SEARCH WARRANT.—APPLICABILITY OF PROVISIONS OF CR. P. CODE.—The provisions of Ch. VII of the Cr. P. Code relating to search do not apply to a search conducted under a warrant issued under sec. 5 of the Gambling Act. 3 Lah. 359=23 Cr.L.J. 621=1922 L. 458. See also 31 Cr.L.J. 35=1930 A.L.J. 229=A.I.R. 1929 A. 937. The object of the legislature is to ensure that searches are conducted fairly and that there is no "planting" of articles by officers engaged in the search. Where, therefore, the witnesses are given an opportunity of satisfying themselves that the police had nothing on their persons, the mere fact that the witnesses actually helped the officers in making the search will not invalidate the search nor prevent presumption arising under the Gambling Act. 5 R. 291=28 Cr.L.J. 701=1927 Rang. 241. Dara gambling is a specified form of Satta gambling and in such a case the omission on the part of the prosecution to prove the commodity concerned is not a fatal defect. Where betting slips are recovered in a house searched under a warrant under sec. 5 of the Public Gambling Act, they constitute instruments of gaming within the meaning of the Act and give rise to a presumption under sec. 6 of the Act that the house is a common gaming house. I.L.R. (1941) All. 576=1941 A.L.J. 421=A.I.R. 1941 All. 330.

WARRANT FOR SEARCH, WHEN CAN BE ISSUED.—A warrant cannot be issued under sec. 5 unless the house is used as a gaming house. It is not justifiable where it is issued on the information that it was going to be so used. In the latter case, issue of a warrant is illegal, and does not give rise to any presumption under sec. 6 or any examinaand may seize or authorise such officer to seize all instruments of gaming, and all moneys and securities for money, and articles of value, reasonably suspected to have been used or intended to be used for the purpose of gaming which are found therein; and may search or authorise such officer to search all parts of the ¹[house, walled enclosure, room, or place] which he or such officer shall have so entered when he or such officer has reason to believe that any instruments of gaming are concealed therein, and also the persons of those whom he or such officer so takes into custody;

tion under sec. 10 19 A.L.J. 691. A warrant issued under sec. 5 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act must indicate that the Magistrate has reason to believe that the house which he directs to be searched is used as a common gaming-house, or, in other words, as a house which is used by its owner or occupier for the purpose of making profit out of gambling transactions which take place therein. A warrant which merely states that the Magistrate has reason to believe that the house is used for certain gambling is not legal, and if the house is searched under such a warrant, the presumption which is raised under sec. 6 of the Act cannot arise from the instruments of gaming found therein. In such a case, it must be proved by independent evidence that the owner or occupier of the house derived a profit from the use of these instruments of gaming. 45 C.W.N. 24. The expression "a common gaming-house" has a special meaning under the Public Gambling Act and unless that expression is used in the search warrant, the prosecution cannot avail themselves of that special provision of sec. 6 of the Act. 71 C.L.J. 542=44 C.W.N. 1123.

GENERAL WARRANT.—To issue a warrant to raid houses where gambling goes on at the time of Deepavali is highly undesirable as the police are merely encouraged to run on members or perfectly innocent persons in order to get a reward. 7 O.W.N. 757=1930 Cr. C. 943=1930 O. 403=126 I.C. 702. Place used for public gaming not stated in the warrant—Warrant illegal. See 73 I.C. 521=24 Cr.L.J. 633=1924 L. 247. But a warrant for the search of a house is not invalid merely because its boundaries are not specified and particularly so where it is described by the name of the owner or occupier and where there is no likelihood of anybody being in doubt as to the identity of the house to be searched. 1938 A.L.J. 222. If the description in the search warrant is otherwise adequate to identify the place without ambiguity, it is immaterial that the boundaries are not specified. 190 I.C. 764=1940 N.L.J. 297. The omission to describe a house by its boundaries or number renders a warrant ineffective. Where the prosecution is not entitled to the presumption under sec. 6 of the Gambling Act, the burden of proof lies on the prosecution. 1939 N.L.J. 257. see also 1941 Nag. 16. A warrant for the search of a house is not invalid merely because boundaries are not specified and particularly so where it is described by the name of the owner or occupier and where there is no likelihood of anybody being in doubt as to the identity of the house to be searched. I.L.R. (1938) All. 422=1938 A.L.R. 389=1938 A.W.R. (H.C.) 147=1938 A.L.J. 222=A.I.R. 1938 All. 252.

SEARCH OF TWO OR MORE HOUSES.—Two or more houses may be specified in one warrant provided that they are clearly disjoined in it. 17 P.R. 1897 (Cr.). A warrant in the alternative to different police-officers is not bad. 17 P.R. 1897 (Cr.). A Magistrate cannot issue a warrant of search leaving it to the discretion of the police to determine whether it shall or shall not be executed. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 86. Search under gambling Act—Cr. P. Code, sec. 103 not applicable—Entry by Police Officer scaling walls at midnight does not invalidate the search. 9 Luck. 355=11 O. W.N. 62=147 I.C. 317=36 Cr.L.J. 397=1934 O. 90 (68 I.C. 845; 1 Luck. 301, Foll.). If the search warrant is executed by an officer different from the one to whom it is issued, the search is illegal. 71 C.L.J. 542=44 C.W.N. 1123. Failure to examine panchas and to produce independent evidence as to what was found at raid—Effect. See 185 I.C. 203=12 R.B. 229=41 Cr.L.J. 127.

SIGNING A WARRANT—MEANING.—Sec. 5 merely requires that the search warrant should be issued after the receipt of credible information. The warrant is, therefore, not invalid if it does not state that it was issued after the receipt of credible information. 171 I.C. 1007. The Act does not require the Magistrate to make an inquiry before issuing a search warrant. All that the Act requires is that the Magistrate should have credible information. He may but, he is not, bound to make an inquiry. 1938 A.L.J. 222. When a warrant, signed by a District Superintendent of Police contained the following words "there is reason to believe," held, that the signatory had reason to believe, and acted upon credible information, within the meaning of sec. 5. 17 P.R. 1897 (Cr.). The term "credible information" includes any information which, in the judgment of the officer to whom it is given, appears entitled to credit and which he believes. It is not necessary that such information should be taken upon oath or affirmation. 7 P.R. 1882 (Cr.) (F.B.) [19 P.R. 1871 (Cr.) and 9 P.R. 1876 (Cr.), Ref.] To apply sec. 6 the premises must be entered or searched under the provisions of sec. 5. The credible information, which the police-officer must obtain before he can enter a place must show that the gambling is being carried on for the profit of the owner or occupier, and there ought to be evidence to describe either how the game itself was played, or how a toll, if any, was levied. 62 I.C. 322 and may seize or authorize such officer to seize and take possession of all instruments of gaming found upon such search.

=22 Cr. L.J. 198 (Nag.). See also 1889 A.W.N. 162. The mere fact that small sums are set aside for remunerating those who ministered to the comfort of the persons assembled, does not show that such payments represent any advantage whatsoever to the person occupying or keeping the premises. 62 I.C. 322=22 Cr.L.J. 198 (Nag.). A police-officer is not at liberty to raid premises merely because a number of persons are collected to gamble there, and a conviction based on such information cannot be sustained. 62 I.C. 322=22 Cr.L.J. 198 (Nag.). A search warrant cannot be issued on the mere report or information of a police-officer, as such information does not amount to "credible information". 9 P.R. 1876 (Cr.). An accused under the Act has the right to examine the Magistrate issuing the warrant as a witness to enquire from him what was the information received by him and how the warrant was filled up and therefore he is materially prejudiced by the trial of the case by the very Magistrate who issued the warrant. 73 I.C. 521=24 Cr.L.J. 633=1924 L. 247.

MAGISTERIAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST PERSONS NOT APPREHENDED BY THE POLICE ON THE SPOT.—Although a magistrate is not restrained from trying an offence punishable under sec. 13 when the police have failed to exercise the power of arrest without warrant conferred upon them in respect of offences punishable under sec. 12; yet it is not indiscreet and ill-advised for a Magistrate to issue a warrant of arrest against a person found gambling, who was apprehended by the police on the spot. L.B.R. (1893-1900), 251.

ENTRY AND SEARCH UNDER THE SECTION, WHEN JUSTIFIED.—To justify action under the section, the Magistrate must have "credible information" and reason to believe that the house is used as a "common gaming-house" within the meaning of the term. 2 N.-W.P. 476. [Ref. to in 9 B.L.R. 695=31 B. 438.] Where a warrant did not show that the officer issuing it (the District Superintendent of Police) had reason to believe that the house in respect of which it was framed, was a common gaming-house, and there was nothing on the record to show that such belief was entertained "upon credible information," and where the accused, who were in the house at the time of the search were charged with and convicted of offences under the Act, held, that the convictions and sentences obtained and imposed under the above circumstances could not be sustained. (1891) A. W.N. 111. See also 1890 A.W.N. 226.

FINDING OF CARDS—WHEN PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE.—[See also under sec. 13, supra.] Only when a house is entered and searched under the provisions of sec. 5 is the finding of cards, dice, etc., sufficient evidence against the accused, until the contrary is made to appear. 2 N. W.P. 476. See also 146 I.C. 244=34 Cr. L.J. 1232=1933 A. 574 (as to the presumption under sec. 6). Presumption would not arise if the warrant is not a legal warrant. 1930 A. 740; nor where it is found that the search is illegal. 86 I.C. 832=23 A.L.J. 137=1925 A. 301; 105 I.C. 825=50 A. 412=1928 A. 20; 104 I.C. 441=28 Cr.L.J. 825=1927 L. 699; 73 I.C. 518=A.I.R. 1924 A. 128; 51 C.L.J. 224=1930 C. 365; 1940 Bom. 18 (Presumption from finding of marked coins). The mere finding of cards, dice, etc., without the house being searched under the provision of sec. 5, is not evidence that the house is a common gaming-house. See 19 P.R. 1871 (Cr.); 141 I.C. 659=33 Cr.L.J. 252=1933 L. 234. There is a presumption under sec. 6 of the Act that a house is a public gaming house if instruments of gaming are found therein in pursuance of a search made in accordance with a warrant under sec. 5 of the Act. Where the warrant is quite legal and instruments of gaming in the form of Satta slips are found in a house, it has to be presumed that the house is a gaming house, which includes the presumption that it was used for the profit of the owner or occupier. 1938 All. 252=I.L.R. (1938) All 422=175 I.C. 233=1938 A.W.R. (H.C.) 147. See also A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 18; A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 129. Under sec. 7 of the Bombay Prevention of Gambling Act, certain presumptions arise when two things are proved. It must be proved first that there was a house, room or place, entered under sec. 6; and secondly that an instrument of gaming was found in such a house, room or place on the occasion of the raid under sec. 6 or upon the person of any one found therein. When these two facts are proved, then two presumptions arise: (1) that the house, room or place is used as a common gaming house, and (2) that the persons found therein were there for the purposes of gaming. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 322=188 I.C. 316=42 Bom.L.R. 161=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 129. A search warrant can only be issued on credible information that the house is a common gaming-house. 19 P.R. 1871 (Cr.). See also 9 P.R. 1876 (Cr.). Instruments of gaming found, use of—Evidence. See 146 I.C. 293=34 Cr.L.J. 1244=1933 A. 554. On this point, see also I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 105=41 Bom.L.R. 1326=1940 Bom. 62.

"PUBLIC PLACE"—MEANING.—A place to which persons are in the habit of going, even without having any strict legal right to do so, is a public place. S.C. 91 Oudh. A public place is one which is in full view of the public and one to which the public have access. 7 O.W.N. 621=1930 O. 394 (1922 O. 275; 51 I.C. 971; 1922 O. 196, Dist.) See also 147 I.C. 1028=35 Cr.L.J. 564=1934 A.L.J. 360=1934 A. 17; 1940 N.L.J. 297 (Pannal in front of shop). The words "any public street, place or thoroughfare" in sec. 13 does not include the verandah of a private house facing such street, place or thoroughfare. 49 A. 913=103 I.C. 202=1927 A. 560. A "public place" is a place appropriated to the use of the public. A place near a public road and exposed to public view is not a public place. 17 P.R. 1882 (Cr.). As to what constitutes common gaming-house, see 71 I.C. 238=45 Mad. 843=1923 M. 191; 77 I.C. 303=47 M. 426=1924 M. 729=46 M.L.J. 309; 119 I.C. 165=1929 M. 603; 122 I.C. 788=31 Cr.L.J. 459=1930 M. 128. ambiguity on that point it must be held that a second warrant can only issue on the strength of a fresh sworn testimony. 1935 Sind 102.

DEFECT IN WARRANT OF SEARCH—EFFECT.—The defect in the form of a warrant of search under Act III of 1867 in that it did not direct the search of a house but only the arrest of a person, is an irregularity that renders the rule of evidence in sec. 6 inapplicable. But it does not vitiate the conviction if it had not caused any failure of justice and if the presumption ordinarily raised under sec. 114 of the Evidence Act by the evidence as to search and the other evidence in the case support the conviction. 1884 A.W.N. 291 (Foll. in 12 Cr.L.J. 28=8 I.C. 1127=6 N.L.R. 168). See also 104 I.C. 441=28 Cr.L.J. 825=1927 L. 699 (case-law reviewed); 21 A.L.J. 602=73 I.C. 518=24 Cr.L.J. 630=1924 A. 128. Powers of Superintendent—Warrant for search of house—Omissions corrected by Sub-Inspector—Legality of arrest. See 1924 A. 128. Irregularity in a warrant issued under sec. 5 will not per se vitiate a conviction following on a search made under it, if there is evidence on which such conviction can be supported without invoking the presumptions prescribed by sec. 6. But those presumptions only arise when a search has been duly made under sec. 5, and a conviction cannot be sustained, merely on the strength of such presumptions in a case where the search was not duly made. 6 N.L.R. 168 (1881 A.W.N. 286; 4 C. 710; 4 C. 659, Foll.; 14 A.W.N. 291, discussed).

SEARCH BY SUB-INSPECTOR—EFFECT.—The entrustment of a search-warrant issued under Act III of 1867, to a police-officer of a rank not competent to execute such warrants under sec. 5 and the rules framed by the Government, is an irregularity which renders the special rule of evidence in sec. 6 inapplicable to the case. The word "evidence" in the latter section means "proof." The irregularity, however, is not such as to vitiate the whole trial, under sec. 537 of the Cr. P. Code. 1884 A.W.N. 286.

The entrustment of a search warrant to a Sub-Inspector of Police at a station where there is an Inspector, though not proper under sec. 6, is an irregularity that could be covered by sec. 537 of the Cr. P. Code, and cannot have the effect of nullifying the evidence of the Sub-Inspector. 1884 A.W.N. 59 (1884 A.W.N. 286, Ref.).

SEC. 7: COMMON GAMING-HOUSE—PRIVATE ROOM CONTAINING ALL PARAPHERNALIA OF CLUB.—A private room containing all the paraphernalia of a club and rented by members of only one caste is not prima facie a common gaming-house within the meaning of the Act, even if the members indulge in a game of cards and even if there is a certain amount of money at stake upon the issue of the game. 1935 Sind 52. See also 155 I.C. 496=41 L.W. 679=68 M.L.J. 421.

SEC. 8: FORFEITURE—MONEY FOUND ON PERSON.—Sec. 8 justifies the confiscation of money found not only in a gambling house and not found on the person of the gamblers. 19 A.L.J. 765=63 I. C. 408=22 Cr.L.J. 648. See also I.L.R. (1938) All. 422=1938 A.L.J. 422=A.I.R. 1938 All. 452; I.L.R. So also, it would be unsafe to order confiscation of all moneys or valuables, such as gold watches, rings and other ornaments found on the person of a man arrested in a gaming-house. 8 Lah. 320=28 P.L.R. 332=1927 Lah. 338. But see 1938 A.L.J. 222=A.I.R. 1938 All. 252. See also notes under sec. 5. Search must be limited to instruments of gaming, not money. 96 I.C. 503=27 Cr.L.J. 951=1926 Lah. 290 (previous case-law discussed). In the ordinary case of money found in the possession of a person who is discovered in a gaming-house such money is not capable of being forfeited. Any such person so required to be examined as a witness, who refuses to make oath or take affirmation accordingly or to answer any such question as aforesaid, shall be subject to be dealt with in all respects as any person committing the offence described in section 178 or section 179 (as the case may be) of the Indian Penal Code.

L.T. 622=77 I.C. 177=25 Cr.L.J. 321. It was not the intention of the Legislature that moneys should be forfeited when there was no reason to believe that these moneys were connected with the gaming. The power of forfeiture exercisable by the Magistrate under sec. 8 is discretionary. Where the money was found in the coat pocket of the accused convicted of gaming, it cannot be said, in the absence of any satisfactory explanation by the accused that this money cannot be seized under sec. 6 and was not connected with the gaming of which the accused had been convicted. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 150=41 Cr.L.J. 399=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 28. The money seized under sec. 5 and forfeited under sec. 8 of the Public Gambling Act is money seized as found on the premises and connected with gaming by suspicion, not money found in the pockets of those taken into custody. It follows that a ring seized in personal search cannot also be forfeited. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 667=210 I.C. 123=1916 R.N. 144=45 Cr.L.J. 93=1943 N.L.J. 430=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 286.

SEC. 10: APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—The prosecution can proceed only against some only of the persons found gaming or present in a common gambling-house and can call others not prosecuted as witnesses. Sec. 10 does not apply to such persons. It applies to persons converted by the Magistrate into witnesses, out of persons brought before him for trial. 19 I.C. 949=14 Cr.L.J. 293=9 N.L.R. 68.

EVIDENCE OF PERSONS EXAMINED UNDER SEC. 10 SHOULD BE RECEIVED WITH CAUTION.—A person examined under sec. 10 remains liable to prosecution till he succeeds in satisfying the Magistrate that he has made a true and full faithful discovery. Evidence of such persons should be received with caution. It is usually the evidence of an accomplice and is given under certain inducement to make a statement favourable to the prosecution in order to secure certificate of indemnity for himself. These considerations bear upon the weight to be attached but have nothing to do with its inadmissibility. 42 A. 385=18 A.L.J. 383=21 Cr.L.J. 737. Where the warrant was not a legal one, it would not be open to the Magistrate to examine one of the gamblers arrested at the time of the search. He could no doubt examine them though they are accomplices and their evidence would be admissible by virtue of sec. 10 of the Act only, if the search was made in accordance with law. 1939 N.L.J. 357. Persons illegally arrested cannot be examined under this section. 86 I.C. 832=23 A.L.J. 137=26 Cr.L.J. 896=1925 A. 301.

11. Any person who shall have been concerned in gaming contrary to this Act, and who shall be examined as a witness before a Magistrate on the trial of any person for a breach of any of the provisions of this Act relating to gaming, and who upon such examination, shall, in the opinion of the Magistrate make true and faithful discovery, to the best of his knowledge, of all things as to which he shall be so examined, shall thereupon receive from the said Magistrate a certificate in writing to that effect, and shall be freed from all prosecutions under this Act for anything done before that time in respect of such gaming.

12. Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this Act contained shall be held to apply to any game of mere skill wherever played.

13. A police-officer may apprehend without warrant—any person found ¹[playing for money or other valuable thing with cards, dice, counters or other instruments of gaming, used in playing any game not being a game of mere skill] in any public street, place or thoroughfare situated within the limits aforesaid, or any person setting any birds or animals to fight in any public street, place or thoroughfare situated within the limits aforesaid, or any person there present aiding and abetting such public fighting of birds and animals.

Such person when apprehended shall be brought without delay before a Magistrate, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, or to imprisonment, either simple or rigorous for any term not exceeding one calendar month ; .

ESSENTIALS OF OFFENCE.—Gambling in itself is not an offence, and only becomes punishable as an offence, when it takes place in a common gaming-house or in a public place. S.C. 203, Oudh. purposes of the Criminal Law and in the absence of special enactments, the Courts have always refused to punish betting as an instance of gaming. 47 I.C. 433=19 Cr.L.J. 917=14 N.L.R. 137. See also 1939 N.L.J. 401. A public place must be interpreted in connection with a public street and public thoroughfare, with which it is joined. The fact that the gaming was going on at a place which was exposed to public view and not shut out does not make the place a public place. 1944 N.L.J. 383=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 328. If the public have access to a place without its being refused or otherwise interfered with, that place is a public place, irrespective of the fact whether the public have a right to go there or not. Groves in Indian villages are open to any body to sit in, and there is normally no interference with anybody who wishes to have access to such groves. Where the accused were gambling on the edge of a grove, a few paces away from a public pathway, which is not shown to have been enclosed in any way or that the public were excluded from it, the place was held to be a public place within the meaning of the Act. I.L.R. 1938 All. 348=174 I.C. 556=1938 A.L.J. 102=A.I.R. 1938 All. 209; see also 41 Bom. L.R. 1326=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 62.

WHAT ARE AND WHAT ARE NOT PUBLIC PLACES.—ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Gambling at a place near a public street and exposed to public view but which was not a part of the public street is not an offence under sec. 13. 56 I.C. 672=21 Cr.L.J. 512=104 P.L.R. 1920. The expression "public place" in sec. 13 must be interpreted in the same way as "public street", "public thoroughfare" with which it is joined. 21 I.C. 910=14 Cr.L.J. 670=9 N.L.R. 164. The gist of the offence under sec. 13 is such publicity of action that the ordinary passer-by cannot avoid seeing it and get enticed in consequence. A private property though not dedicated to the public use may yet become public according to its locality and the actual use it is put to. 21 I.C. 910=14 Cr.L.J. 670=9 N.L.R. 164. A public place must be a place which is either open to the public or is used by the public and the publicity of its situation is not a necessary element of the offence any more than public ownership. 26 O.C. 41=68 I.C. 613=23 Cr.L.J. 581=1922 Oudh 275 (31 C. 542; 20 A.L.J. 80, Ref.). When the public have access to a place without their access being refused or interfered with, that place is a public place, whether the public have a right to go there or not. 44 A. 265=20 A.L.J. 80=23 Cr.L.J. 67=1922 All. 542 (1). The accused were found gambling in a grove which was a private property but was used by the public on the occasion of fairs without interference and the visitors on such occasions penetrated all parts of the grove. Held, the accused were gambling in a public place. 44 All. 265=20 A.L.J. 80=65 I.C. 419=23 Cr.L.J. 67=1924 All. 542 (1); 1938 A.L.J. 102. The words "public place" in sec. 13 signify a place to which the public resort as a matter of fact whether as of right or with the permission of the private owner. 47 I.C. 433=19 Cr.L.J. 917=14 N.L.R. 137. A blind alley removed a considerable distance from a public road and approached only by a circuitous lane is not a public place within the meaning of the section, and a conviction for gambling in a public place could not stand. 23 Cr.L.J. 624=68 I.C. 848=1923 L. 278 V of 1898.

17. All fines imposed under this Act may be recovered in the manner prescribed by section 61¹ of the Code of Criminal Procedure. ²[* * * * *]

(2). In order to be a public place or a public thoroughfare within the meaning of sec. 13, the place or the thoroughfare must either be open to the public or actually used by the public, and mere publicity of the gambling place or its visibility from a public place or a public thoroughfare is not sufficient. 147 I.C. 1038 (2)=50 Cr.L.J. 564=1934 A.L.J. 300=1934 A. 17. The answer to the question whether a foot-path passing through a grove is a public place depends on nature of the foot-path and the nature of the right or permission by whom it is used. If the path is used by the public as of right, it is public place. 25 O.C. 114=68 I.C. 611=23 Cr.L.J. 579=1922 Oudh 196. The bank of a canal belonging to the Government, whether or not accessible to the public, is not a public place. 3 L.L.J. 53. The premises of a Railway Station, i.e., that part of the compound to which the public have no right to go is not a public place within sec. 13. 21 Cr.L.J. 691=57 I.C. 931 (Lah.).

MAGISTERIAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST PERSONS NOT APPREHENDED BY THE POLICE ON THE SPOT.—Although a Magistrate is not restrained from trying an offence punishable under sec. 13 when the police have failed to exercise the power of arrest without warrant conferred upon them in respect of offences punishable under sec. 13, yet it is not indiscreet and ill-advised for a Magistrate to issue a warrant of arrest against a person found gambling, who was apprehended by the police on the spot. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 251. An offence under sec. 12, Bombay Prevention of Gambling Act, though not a very serious one, is still an offence, and a conviction for such offence will be a "previous conviction" for the purpose of sec. 562 (1), Cr. P. Code, so as to disentitle the offender to the benefit of sec. 562 (1). 37 Bom.L.R. 182=1935 Bom. 188.

INSTRUMENTS OF GAMING, SEIZURE OF.—On a conviction under sec. 13, the Magistrate may order all instruments of gaming found in a public place, or on the persons of those arrested to be forthwith destroyed, but that section contains no provision such as is found in sec. 8 authorising the forfeiture of money seized. 26 A. 270.

CONFISCATION OF MONEY IN ACCUSED'S POSSESSION.—IF LEGAL.—Only the instruments of gaming can be confiscated under sec. 13, not money in the possession of accused. 40 A. 617=19 Cr.L.J. 700=46 I.C. 156=16 A.L.J. 428; 1939 N.L.J. 403. See also A.L.R. 1938 A. 209; 20 O.C. 264; S. C. (Oudh) 63=18 P.R. 1891 (Or.); 1937 A.L.J. 975=A.L.R. 1938 A. 11. But the Magistrate has authority to confiscate the money under sec. 517, Cr. P. Code, where it is found on the person and it was not possible to say to which of the accused it belonged. It is an order for the disposal of the property in the custody of a Court or produced before it. 1938 A.L.J. 102=I.L.R. (1938) All. 348=A.L.R. 1938 All. 209. A Magistrate has no power on a conviction under the Act to order confiscation of the money found on the persons of the accused. Such an order is clearly in the teeth of the provisions of sec. 13 of the Act and is illegal. See also 1939 N.L.J. 403=172 I.C. 793=1937 A.W.H. 960 (1)=1937 A.L.J. 973 (1)=A.L.R. 1938 All. 11.

FINE AND IMPRISONMENT.—Under sec. 13 it is not legal to impose double punishment of fine and imprisonment. 25 P.R. 1880 (Or.). As to liability of persons who aid and abet gambling, see 141 I.C. 543=34 Cr. L.J. 174=34 P.L.R. 173=1933 Lah. 513.

ORDER FOR AWARD TO POLICE.—An order for award to the police officer, who arrested, of half the fine imposed under sec. 13, is illegal. Colm. Dig. Cr. 93 of 1887. See also 18 P.R. 1891 (Or.). As to order for security for good behaviour, see 1906 A.W.N. 13; 3 Cr.L.J. 91. As to arrest, see L.B.R. (1893-1900), 256. On this section, see also U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, p. 125.

CASES UNDER THE ACT—IF COGNISABLE—SUMMONS TO DEFENCE WITNESSES.—COURT, IF CAN CALL UPON ACCUSED TO PAY PROCESS FEES.—Arrests of persons who are supposed to have committed offences under sec. 11 or sec. 12 are made under sec. 6 (1) (b) of the Burma Gambling Act. Under this section, it is not any and every police-officer who can effect an arrest without a warrant. It is only the District Superintendent of Police who can do so and even he, only if he has received credible information or has other sufficient grounds upon which to believe that the place is used as a common gaming-house, and furthermore, has recorded in writing the information or the grounds of his belief. Accordingly cases under secs. 11 and 12 are not cognizable and in consequence a Magistrate can call upon the accused to pay process fees on his application to have certain defence witnesses summoned. 13 B. 130.

SEC. 89.—Scope of Chapter IX and the nature of offences and penalties contemplated therein. See 11 C.W.N. 583=5 C.L.J. 47; 11 C.W.N. 100.

There would ordinarily be no difficulty in prosecuting a railway company in a suitable case in respect of a breach of a statutory provision for which a penalty had been provided, and a State Railway does not occupy a more favourable position with reference to such matters. The general manager of a state railway is a legal entity in the same degree as a railway company is such an entity and it would be legal to prosecute him in his representative capacity in suitable cases. To such a prosecution no sanction under sec. 197, Cr. P. Code, and sec. 270 of the Government of India Act is necessary, as it is not sought to enforce against him personally any criminal liability which he has incurred in his personal capacity but merely to prosecute the railway administration for breach of statutory provision. I.L.R. (1941) 1 Cal. 345=45 C.W.N. 347=A.I.R. 1941 Cal. 319.

POWER OF MAGISTRATE TO INQUIRE ABOUT HEIRS OF DECEASED RAILWAY SERVANT.—The Railways Act does not empower a Magistrate to make an inquiry as to the true heirs of a deceased Railway servant. 17 Cr.L.J.

368=35 I.C. 672=10 S.L.R. 64.

JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE UNDER RAILWAYS ACT—CASE-LAW—RULINGS UNDER THE OLD LAW.—A Subordinate Magistrate (First Class) has no jurisdiction to punish for an offence under sec. 17 of Act XVIII of 1854. It was suggested that the Act in this respect required amendment so as to give Subordinate Magistrates such jurisdiction. 3 B.H.C. (Cr.) 54. See also 7 M.H.C. App. 8; 4 M.H.C. App. 9. A full power Magistrate had no jurisdiction to convict a person of an offence punishable under sec. 26 of Act XVIII of 1854, 3 B.H.C. (Cr.) 10 S. 30 of Act XVIII of 1854 and S. 2 of the Cr. P. Code, show that offences under the former Act punishable with fine exceeding twenty rupees are not triable by Magistrates inferior to a First-class Magistrate. Rat. Un. Cr. C. 83=Cr. Rg. 28—74. A Sessions Judge had no authority to direct a fresh trial of a charge of an offence under sec. 26 of the old Railways Act which has been dismissed by the Magistrate. 6 M.H.C. App. 41. See now 110 I.C. 589=29 Cr.L.J. 733=1928 B. 909; 43 B. 888.

FINE, HOW TO BE RECOVERED.—Sec. 34 of Act XVIII of 1854 prescribed the mode in which fines are to be recovered by distress and sale. It was only on the return of the warrant of distress unsatisfied, or on the Magistrate being otherwise satisfied that no sufficient distress existed that imprisonment could be imposed. 6 M.H.C. App. 37.

- Penalty for failure to comply with requisition under section 62 for maintenance of means of communication between passengers and railway servants.
95. If a railway company fails to comply with the requirements of section 64 with respect to the reservation of compartments for females or the provision of closets therein, it shall forfeit to the ²[general controlling authority] the sum of twenty rupees for every train in respect of which the default occurs.

LIABILITY OF COMPANY FOR TORT FOR ITS SERVANTS.—See 13 M. 34. There would ordinarily be no difficulty in prosecuting a railway company in a suitable case in respect of a breach of a statutory provision for which a penalty had been provided and a State Railway does not occupy a more favourable position with reference to such matters. The general manager of a state railway is a legal entity in the same degree as a railway company is such an entity and it would be legal to prosecute him in his representative capacity in suitable cases. To such a prosecution no sanction under sec. 191. Cr. P. Code, and sec. 270 of the Government of India Act is necessary, as it is not sought to enforce against him personally any criminal liability which he has incurred in his personal capacity but merely to prosecute the railway administration for breach of statutory provision. 45 C.W.N. 347.

OBJECT OF SECTION.—The object of sec. 101 and r. 100 is to lessen the risk of accidents through shunting on a through line, after the line clear has been given, and a breach of the rule will render the rule-breaker liable to punishment even though no accident might have occurred. 37 B. 685=14 Cr.L.J. 460=20 I.C. 620=15 Bom. L.R. 702.

ESSENTIALS FOR CONVICTION.—Breach of a rule of the railway company without evidence that it endangered the safety of passengers is not sufficient for conviction. 81 I.C. 917=26 O.C. 363=25 Cr.L.J. 1093=1924 O. 250. See also 37 B. 685.

DISOBEDIENCE OF A RULE.—Sec. 101 does not provide for cases in which the disobedience of a rule is merely 'likely, or calculated' to endanger the safety of any person. To render a person liable to conviction under sec. 101, it must be proved that the safety of a person was actually endangered in point of fact. 7 L.B.R. 72=15 Cr.L.J. 17=22 I.C. 161 (2). See also 14 Cr.L.J. 676=21 I.C. 996; 37 B. 685=20 I.C. 620. (a) by disobeying any general rule made, sanctioned, published and notified under this Act, or

(b) by disobeying any rule or order which is not inconsistent with any such general rule, and which such servant was bound by the terms of his employment to obey, and of which he had notice, or

(c) by any rash or negligent act or omission,

1924 O. 250. Where a train is stopped outside a distant signal, the omission of the guard to place detonators to protect the train, is a disobedience under R. 9 of G.I.P. Ry. Working Instructions and punishable under sec. 101 (a). Where a guard is charged under sec. 101 (b) the onus of proving that he did not comply with General Rule 86 is on the prosecution, which burden can be discharged by the Railway authorities inspecting the line to see if any metallic remnants are formed there. The standing of a train outside the distant signal is "authorized" detention and not due to "accident, failure or obstruction". The wording of G.I.P. Ry., r. 9 is somewhat inappropriate and allowance should be made, considering that even a District Traffic Superintendent misreads the rule. 21 I.C. 996=14 Cr.L.J. 676 (Nag.).

DISOBEDIENCE OF R. 187 (8) (3)—WHAT AMOUNTS TO.—The words "when it is required to change the position of a permanently locked point" in r. 187, cl. (8), sub-cl. (3) would indicate that the rule assumes that the man on duty is aware that a permanently locked point has been unlocked. It is only in that case that he is bound to relock it before any train is allowed to enter the station yard. Where, therefore a Station Master who unlocks a permanent point fails to re-set it before he is relieved by the Assistant Station Master and omits to inform the latter or to note that he has allowed the point to remain unlocked in the Journal or Diary kept in the Station in which these matters are noted, the Assistant Station Master cannot be said to have had notice that any permanent point has remained unlocked even though he would have discovered it if he had gone on a visit of inspection before taking over the charge and it is very doubtful whether according to the rule as it stands, he can be said to be guilty of having disobeyed it. 154 I.C. 1059=36 Cr.L.J. 630=1935 A. 121.

"ENDANGERING"—MEANING OF—SHUNTING TRAIN TO A WRONG LINE.—In every case where a travelling train is unexpectedly shunted on to a wrong line by an erroneous laying of the points in a station yard, the safety of the persons in the train or about the yard is endangered, within the meaning of that term in sec. 121; and if the error in the points is due to such disobedience as is referred to in the Act, an offence punishable under the Act is committed. 18 Cr.L.J. 822=41 I.C. 646=13 N.L.R. 90. From the facts of one case, no safe analogy can be drawn as to whether danger has arisen in the other case. 18 Cr.L.J. 822=41 I.C. 646=13 N.L.R. 90.

ACT LIKELY TO ENDANGER SAFETY OF PAS-

SENGERS.—Where there is no evidence that a Station Master, in sending a train without previously obtaining a line clear message, knew that his act was likely to endanger the safety of the passengers travelling therein, a conviction under sec. 45 of the Act is illegal. 1882 A.W.N. 172. On this point, see also 5 Cr.L.J. 81=59 P.L.R. 1902=13 P.R. 1907 (Cr.). The prisoner was convicted under sec. 29 of Act XXV of 1871 of endangering the safety of persons in a certain goods train by negligence. Although he was shown to have neglected his duty, there was no evidence whatever of the safety of any person in any train having been endangered by his neglect of duty, held, that he could not be convicted under sec. 29 of Act XXV of 1871, as it was plainly apparent that, by reason of the precautions taken by other persons any possible danger which might have resulted from his neglect was avoided. 5 N.W.P. 240. As to other cases of endangering public safety, see 1 Weir 869 (driver running train at full speed with danger signals against him); Rat. 721 (starting train without whistling); 9 P.R. 1892 (Cr.) (Gateman being asleep, at time when train is due); 8 I.C. 134 (Guard not liable for not doing a thing for which he is not responsible); 11 C.W.N. 173=5 Cr. L.J. 16 (case of station master's negligence). For a case where Station Master was held not liable, see 32 C. 73=8 C.W.N. 645.

OMISSION TO SET POINTS.—Under R. 12 of the rules framed under the Railways Act, it was the duty of the accused, who was a station master when he knew that a train was approaching the station to send the passed porter to the facing points with instruction for him to set and lock the points for the line on which the train was to come. The station master neglected to send the porter to the points. The signals were down to allow the train to pass into the station. But under the rules the engine driver should have stopped the train when he found that there was no porter at the points signalling him to pass on. The points were not properly locked and the consequence was that some of the carriages of the train were derailed. No person was hurt but the derailment of part of the train caused danger to persons travelling therein. Held, that it was not quite clear whether the engine driver could have avoided the derailment by stopping the train in time because the signals were in his favour. But if the station master had complied with the rules and had sent the passed porter out to the points to properly set and lock them, no accident would have occurred. Hence, the he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

102. If a railway servant compels or attempts to compel, or causes, any disregard by the accused of R. 12 enhanced the danger to the persons travelling in the train and therefore the accused was liable. 86 I.C. 61=6 Lah. 324=26 Cr.L.J. 685=1925 Lah. 423. The duty of a person in control of a railway station is first to give the fundamental orders regulating the arrival of a train and secondly to see that they are accurately carried out. Where such an order was given to set the points to the loop but the slides showed main the failure to act upon a defect in the working of the machinery is an act of grave negligence. Omitting to set the points, which would prevent a train after a clear line signal is given, from running into another train is an act endangering the safety of the persons in either of the two trains. 22 A.L.J. 20=25 Cr.L.J. 993=1924 All. 438. Station master allowing train contrary to rules to run over loop line instead of main line—Station master acting on signal of pointsman—One of points not properly set—Collision and injuries to persons. Held, that the station master was not guilty under this section as the breach of the rules was not the proximate cause of the accident, but only the improper setting of one of points and with reference to this the station master was entitled to rely on the pointsman on actual duty. 1936 A.L.J. 951=A.I.R. 1936 All. 745.

PLACING OBSTRUCTION ON THE RAILS.—Where the accused was charged with pulling up all iron mail post and placing it across the rails on a dark-night, held, that the act being wrongful in itself, rashness cannot be usually predicated, and that the offence, falling within sec. 45 of the Railways Act, should be committed to the Sessions Court and not tried by a Magistrate as falling within sec. 46. Rat. 458.

FAILURE TO REMOVE STONE FROM RAIL.—A person who fails to remove a stone from a rail is not guilty of negligently doing an Act which is likely to endanger the safety of persons travelling upon the railway, unless it be proved that he was legally bound to remove it. Rat. 394.

NEGLECT OF RAILWAY SERVANT—LIVES LOST—PUNISHMENT.—Where a Railway servant was convicted under sec. 29 of Act IV of 1879 for his gross negligence by which an accident happened in which several lives were lost, held, that three months' simple imprisonment was too light a sentence. 1890 A.W.N. 171.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS—DUTY OF GUARD.—Where some coolies were employed in assisting a ballast train into motion at a Railway station, and one of them, after pushing the train or in attempting to do so, fell and was so injured that he afterwards lost his life, held, that the evidence did not show that it was the duty of the guard to see that no one got up on the train when in motion. 8 W.

R. (Cr.) 43.

ACCIDENT—MESSAGE BY GUARD.—If under Rr. 87 and 87 (a) of the rules framed under Railways Act, the guard of a train sends a message asking for assistance, it is the duty of the driver to ascertain the terms of the message. His omission to do so would make him liable under sec. 101 (c), if it results in endangering the safety of any person. 54 I.C. 988=21 Cr.L.J. 204 (Nag.).

DUTY OF DRIVER—MINOR BRIDGES.—The drivers have regarded R. 131 as applying to what are known as important bridges; it is not fair when an accident does happen, to charge a driver with breach of the rules because in the accounts and engineering departments comparatively small bridges are called major bridges. 143 I.C. 220=34 Cr. L.J. 576=1933 Pat. 94. It is not duty of the driver to stop the train merely because way-farers shout to him. 34 Cr.L.J. 576=143 I.C. 220=1933 Pat. 94. Where an engine driver is being prosecuted for breach of sec. 101 for disobeying the guard, the evidence of the fire-man cannot be summarily neglected on the mere ground that he is subordinate to the driver. On the other hand he is the most important witness. 143 I.C. 220=34 Cr.L.J. 576=1933 Pat. 94.

RAILWAY POLICE—NEGLECT OF DUTY.—The Railway Police, who are in the pay of a Railway Company, are amenable for neglect of duty to the provisions of the above section, notwithstanding that they hold commissions from the Commissioner of Police under sec. 9, Bom. Act VII of 1867. Rat. Un. Cr. C. 51.

OFFENCE FAILING UNDER TWO ENACTMENTS—PUNISHMENT UNDER BOTH, WHETHER LEGAL.—When an accused by one act endangered the lives of the public and committed an offence under sec. 101 of the Act and sec. 353 of Penal Code he can be punished under one Act only and not under both. 1 Pat. L.J. 373=18 Cr.L.J. 321=38 I.C. 433.

PUNISHMENT.—In determining the punishment, the gravity of the offence should be estimated not by the ultimate consequences but by the risk involved. 37 Bom. 685=14 Cr.L.J. 460=20 I.C. 620=15 Bom.L.R. 702 (6 M. 201 Ref.). In order to support a conviction under this section, there must be actual danger to a person's safety. 6 I.C. 483=11 Cr.L.J. 362=8 P.L.R. 1910; mere likelihood of danger not sufficient. 7 L.B.R. 72; 4 L.B.R. 353.

PROCEDURE.—See 1 Pat. L. J. 313.

CHARGE OF ONE OFFENCE—CONVICTION FOR ANOTHER—LEGALITY.—A person charged under sec. 101, for disobeying railway rules requiring him to stop engine near signal, cannot be convicted for disobeying rules regarding maintaining vacuum. 1933 Sind 225.

Sec. 102.—As to who is a "passenger" under this section, see 7 I.C. 354=11 Cr.L.

communication cord. But this must be considered in relation to the risk arising from the circumstances to the person pulling the cord. In other words if the risk to the passenger pulling the cord is incommensurate with the risk and discomfort, etc., to the other passengers, he cannot be said to have had just and reasonable cause. But where the risk to the passenger is very great as compared to the risk to the other passengers, he must be said to have just cause for pulling the cord. Another element of great importance is whether the necessity or occasion for pulling the cord has arisen from the fault of the railway administration. The third element to be considered is the importance of the line and train. 105 I.C. 679=25 A.L.J. 975=28 Cr.L.J. 967=1927 All. 647.

PULLING THE CHAIN—OVERCROWDING.—Where a person without sufficient and reasonable cause, pulls the emergency chain, he renders himself liable for prosecution under sec. 108 only, and not under sec. 121 for preventing the running of the train and thus obstructing or impeding a railway servant in the discharge of his duty. (43 Bom. 103, Foll.) 32 Bom.L.R. 111=1930 Bom. 160. Pulling the communication chain of a railway compartment to remove the overcrowding, which it was the duty of the railway administration to prevent under sec. 93 is a reasonable and sufficient cause under sec. 108 of the Act. 1922 Pat. 8, Rel. on 32 Bom. L. R. 111=1930 Bom. 160. A who had instituted a civil suit against B was travelling with the latter in the same compartment with his account books. While the train was in motion B seized the account books and threw them through the window. A pulled the alarm chain and stopped the train. Held, that A had sufficient and reasonable cause for getting alarm signal, and could not be convicted under sec. 108. 8 Lah. 196=28 Cr.L.J. 603=28 P.L.R. 485=1927 Lah. 476. See also 1936 P. W. N. 679=A.I.R. 1936 Pat. 499. Primarily, sec. 108 is intended for the protection of the personal safety of passengers who are travelling by train. The mere fact that the accused left his coat even though it contains valuables is not a reasonable and sufficient cause within the meaning of sec. 108. Accordingly if he pulls the communication cord for that purpose he can be convicted under the section. 95 I.C. 58=28 Bom.L.R. 486=27 Cr.L.J. 730=1926 Bom. 288. But see 17 Pat.L.T. 569=A.I.R. 1936 Pat. 499 where it was held that the pulling of chain by a passenger who had dropped certain valuable articles did not constitute an offence under this section. It was also held that what constitutes 'reasonable and sufficient cause' is a question of fact depending upon the circumstances of each case. (Ibid.) The accused is not deprived of the defence under sec. 108 of sufficient and reasonable cause merely because there was an additional reason for pulling the chain which in the opinion of the Magistrate was not sufficient and reasonable. 32 Bom.L.R. 111=1930 Bom. 160. Where a passenger in the inter-class pulled the chain, because it was overcrowded and because third class passengers had entered in, held, he was justified in pulling the chain and in stopping the train for enforcing his right to have the compartment vacated so as to bring down the number of passengers therein within the maximum limit prescribed by sec. 66. 1 P. 260=3 P.L.T. 195=1922 P. 8. 63=23 Cr.L.J. 257=66 I.C. 221=1922 P. 8. Ticket holder is a passenger, see 7 I.C. 354.

SECS. 108 AND 121: PULLING OF COMMUNICATION CHAIN—OVERCROWDING OF COMPARTMENT.—Where a railway compartment became overcrowded and the train was allowed to proceed in spite of a complaint and thereupon the accused who was a passenger in the overcrowded compartment pulled the alarm chain and brought the running train to a standstill and in a prosecution under the Railways Act the accused gave it as one of the reasons for repeatedly pulling the chain that he wanted to take down the names of certain fellow passengers who had abused him for his conduct. Held, that the accused was not liable to be convicted under sec. 108 or 121. 32 Bom.L.R. 111=1930 B. 160.

SEC. 109: OBJECT OF SECTION is to prevent annoyance to other passengers. 24 B. 293; 1 Bom.L.R. 688.

PROVIDING SPECIAL ACCOMMODATION FOR SPECIAL INDIVIDUALS OR CLASSES OF INDIVIDUALS.—A bye-law or rule providing for special accommodation or for the special convenience of a particular individual or of a particular class of individuals and for the general convenience of the travelling public

(2) If a passenger resists the lawful entry of another passenger into a compartment not reserved by the railway administration for the use of the passenger resisting or not already containing the maximum number of passengers exhibited therein or thereon under section 63, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty-rupees.

110. (1) If a person, without the consent of his fellow-passengers, if any, in the same compartment, smokes in any compartment except a compartment specially provided for the purpose, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

(2) If any person persists in so smoking after being warned by any railway servant to desist, he may, in addition to incurring the liability mentioned in sub-section (1), be removed by any railway servant from the carriage in which he is travelling.

111. If a person, without authority in this behalf, pulls down or wilfully is legal under sec. 47. The "preference" forbidden by secs. 42 and 43 refers to goods traffic and rates charged upon traders and does not apply to passengers. A person who enters a compartment of a Railway carriage reserved by a Railway Company, for the use of passengers of a particular class to which he does not belong, and refuses to leave when required to do so by a Railway servant, is liable to penalty under sec. 109 of the Act. 42 A. 327=21 Cr.L.J. 294=55 I.C. 342=18 A.L.J. 254.

RESERVING COMPARTMENT FOR EUROPEANS AND ANGLO-INDIANS.—"Traffic" in sec. 42 includes passenger traffic. In reserving a compartment for Europeans and Anglo-Indians, the company gives undue preference to one class of passengers and contravenes sec. 42 (2). But the Civil Court cannot try the question of legality of the reservation, the proper remedy in the case being to prefer a complaint to the Governor-General in Council under sec. 28. 45 B. 1324=62 I.C. 1004=23 Bom.L.R. 809. A Railway Company can legally reserve a compartment for the use of Europeans and Anglo-Indians only. 45 M. 215=42 M.L.J. 21=66 I.C. 520; 23 Cr.L.J. 296=30 M.L.T. 134=15 L.W. 207=1922 M. 35. Per Ayling, Officiating Chief Justice and Oldfield, J. (Krishnan, J., dissenting). A person who is not a European or Anglo-Indian commits an offence under sec. 109 (1) by entering and persisting in remaining in a 3rd class compartment to which a card has been attached purporting over the signature of a senior ticket examiner, to reserve it for Europeans and Anglo-Indians. (Ibid.) Per Officiating, C.J.—There is nothing in any of the rules of the Traffic Working Orders indicating that a compartment can only be legally reserved by a label or notice signed or initialled, since the direction in the rule 172-A to the effect that a station master should label a carriage or compartment does not necessarily imply that he must do so with his own hands or himself sign label. (Ibid.) Per Krishnan, J.—The expression "traffic" in sec. 42 (2) is not confined to conveyance of animals and goods and fixing the charges thereof. Where the label was in the carriage door and was not the usually printed label signed or initialled, by the station master, the compartment is not reserved. (Ibid.) Per Officiating, C.J. and Oldfield, J.—The term "passenger" in sec. 109 (1) is not restricted to a person who actually enters a railway carriage for the purpose of travelling but also includes possible passengers who may join at any later station. (Ibid.) The object and the result of making rules under sec. 47, cl. (1) with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council are only to make their breach an offence punishable by the Courts. The Traffic Working Orders are not such rules. (Ibid.) The reservation of a compartment for Europeans and Anglo-Indians or for any class of passengers is not an undue or unreasonable preference in favour of a particular description of traffic within sec. 42, cl. (4). (Ibid.) The expression "Passenger" in sec. 109 includes class of passengers. 51 C. 168=28 C.W.N. 388=25 Cr.L.J. 1012=1924 C. 687. On this point, see also 5 S.L.R. 140 (Refusal to leave compartment reserved for Europeans not an offence). See also 7 I.C. 365 (preventing passengers from entering and standing against door).

SECS. 109 (1) AND 120 (c): APPLICABILITY.—RESERVATION OF BERTH IN COMPARTMENT.—S. 109 of the Act in terms deals with entering a compartment, and does not refer to occupying a seat reserved for another. Where a passenger, who has reserved a seat for himself enters a compartment which is not itself reserved and occupies a seat which is reserved for another passenger, ignoring such reservation is not guilty of an offence under S. 109 or S. 120 of the Railways Act and cannot be penalised for occupying a seat in the unreserved compartment, though the company may have purported to reserve such seat for some other passenger. If a railway company cannot enforce reservation of a seat (as they can enforce reservation of a compartment), a passenger who takes advantage of his legal rights by ignoring such reservation cannot be said thereby to have wilfully interfered with the comfort of another passenger, within the meaning of S. 120 (c). 44 Cr.L.J. 236=44 Bom. SEC. 110: "COMPARTMENT".—Meaning of. —24 B. 293=1 Bom.L.R. 688.

SEC. 111.—Cf. the Companies Clauses Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict., c. 16), sec. 146.

SEC. 112.—As to scope and construction of section, see 11 C.W.N. 100. A person charged under sec. 112 for entering a railway carriage without a ticket pleaded guilty as to entering the carriage but said that he did not purchase the ticket because the train was about to start. Held, that this conviction is bad as his statement amounted to a positive denial of an intention to defraud. 57 I.C. 825=21 Cr.L.J. 665 (All.).

ESSENTIALS OF OFFENCE.—To constitute an offence under sec. 112 (b) it is not necessary that the used ticket should be relevant to the journey which the passenger wished to undertake. (11 C.W.N. 100, Diss.) 112 I.C. 771=23 S.L.R. 39=30 Cr. L. J. 3=1928 Sind 191.

WRONG TICKET.—Where a passenger travelling by a Railway train on being called upon, produces a ticket bearing date of a previous day, throwing away another in his possession, he cannot be held to have dishonest intention so as to justify a conviction under sec. 112 as the essence of the offence under that section is an intent to defraud the Railway Company. Unless there is clear evidence to show that a passenger knows that the ticket he is holding has been used before, an intention on his part to cheat the Railway Company cannot be inferred from the mere fact that the passenger knows that he is committing a breach of the Railways Act or rules framed under the Act. 35 I.C. 665 (Cal.)=17 Cr. L. J. 361. If the ticket does not show to its holder that, under the Railway rules, it is only available for a particular train or on a particular day, his knowledge of the Railway rules posted on the stations will not be assumed unless it is proved that the attention of the traveller was drawn to them. 35 I.C. 665 (Cal.)=17 Cr.L.J. 361. As to other cases under this section, see 21 M.L.J. 748 (Travelling with a forged Railway pass); 7 P.R. 1868 (Travelling with old expired pass); 1 Bom. SECS. 112 AND 114: SEASON TICKET.—USE BY ANOTHER.—OFFENCE.—A season ticket issued in the name of one person was found to be used by his brother. It was not contended by the former that the latter had taken the ticket without his consent or knowledge. Held, that it must be presumed that the former had given the ticket to the latter for use and that his conduct amounted to an offence under sec. 112 committed by the latter. 146 I.C. 162=35 Bom.L.R. 875=1933 Bom. 412. SEC. 113.—Cf. the French and German Railway law.

a proper ticket with him, or, being in or having alighted from a train, fails or refuses to present for examination or to deliver up his pass or ticket immediately on requisition being made therefor under section 69, he shall be liable to pay, on the demand of any railway servant appointed by the railway administration in this behalf, the excess charge hereinafter in this section mentioned, in addition to the ordinary single fare for the distance which he has travelled or, where there is any doubt as to the station from which he started, the ordinary single fare from the station from which the train originally started, or if the tickets of passengers travelling in the train have been examined since the original starting of the train, the ordinary single fare from the place where the tickets were examined or, in case of their having been examined more than once, were last examined.

ESSENTIALS FOR ARREST.—To justify an arrest without a warrant much more than trespass or travelling without ticket would be necessary. In the case of trespass it must be shown that there was reason to believe that the person to be arrested would abscond or that his name and address were unknown and he refused to give his name and address or that there was reason to believe that the name or address given to him was incorrect. In the case of travelling without ticket it must further be shown that there was refusal to pay the sum charged. 33 C.W.N. 751=1929 Cal. 730.

NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS.—An application under sec. 113 (4) is not a prosecution for criminal offence and on such application the Magistrate has no power to fine the defaulters or to order a sentence of imprisonment in default of such fine. The Magistrate can only direct him to pay the fare and the excess charge under sub-sec. (3) and then proceed to recover it as if it were a fine. 6 Rang. 619=30 Cr.L.J. 57=1929 Rang. 11. There is no room in the phraseology of sec. 113 of the Railways Act for a loose interpretation of its terms, and it has obviously been framed with a view to preventing the enormous inconvenience and trouble which would otherwise arise in the matter of checking and collecting tickets from passengers. Under the section, passengers must have in their possession immediately available throughout the journey the tickets which entitle them to travel. If excess is realized for failure to produce the tickets, the mere fact that the tickets are produced later on does not entitle the passengers to a refund. 23 N.L.R. 120. See also 101 I.C. 158.

OBJECT OF SECTION.—INTENTION TO DEFRAUD, NOT NECESSARY.—The intention to defraud is not necessary for the offence under sec. 113. The section only provides a summary remedy to recover the charge incurred by a passenger together with a penalty provided in the section. Sec. 113, cl. (2) is clear and explicit and admits of no implications or exceptions. A passenger travelling in a lower class has no right to travel in a higher class without the previous permission of a Railway servant and without a proper ticket for that class and the fact that he was obliged so to do as there was no accommodation in the class for which he had purchased a ticket is no justification and does not afford a defence in proceedings against him under sec. 113. 34 Bom.L.R. 1666.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER—NATURE OF—REVISION.—The act referred to in sec. 113 is not an offence; the proceeding under that section is not a prosecution for an offence but nevertheless it is a judicial proceeding and an order passed by a Magistrate under sec. 113 (4) is subject to revision by High Court. 34 Bom.L.R. 1666. A person travelled without a ticket but with guard's permission. He was asked to pay extra charge which he refused. Application to a Magistrate under sec. 113 (4) was rejected. Held, that High Court could not go into the merits of the order when it had no jurisdiction to revise that order. (5 S.L.R. 54, Dist.). 1930 Cr. C. 646=1930 Sind 162. Order of a Magistrate under sec. 113 (4) is merely an administrative or a ministerial order and the proceedings before him are not criminal proceedings in a Criminal Court within the scope of the Criminal Procedure Code and is not subject to revision under sec. 439. (1926 Sind 57; 1927 Sind 23, Foll. Other case-law referred). 1930 Sind 162.

PERSON TRAVELLING WITHOUT TICKET.—It is not a criminal offence to travel in a train without a pass or ticket, when there is no intent to defraud the company, but a person so travelling is liable under sec. 113 to pay on demand an excess charge in the nature of a penalty. 44 Cal. 279=18 Cr.L.J. 647=40 I.C. 295=25 C.L.J. 610. See also 1926 Bom. 266; 50 Bom. 355; 20 M. 385. (See now amendment by Act VI of 1941). Excess charge is not fine. 18 B. 440. (See now amended section). See also 20 M. 385. CONVICTION—LIABILITY TO PAY HIGHER FARE—DISTRESS WARRANT.—The petitioner was prosecuted for an offence under sec. 113 (i.e.) travelling without a ticket and he

(2) If a passenger travels or attempts to travel in or on a carriage, or by a train, of a higher class than that for which he has obtained a pass or purchased a ticket, or travels in or on a carriage beyond the place authorized by his pass or ticket, he shall be liable to pay, on the demand of any railway servant appointed by the railway administration in this behalf, the excess charge hereinafter in this section mentioned, in addition to any difference between any fare paid by him and the fare payable in respect of such journey as he has made.

(2) If any such railway servant as is referred to in section 71, sub-section (2) knowing that a person is suffering from any infectious or contagious disorder, wilfully permits the person to travel upon a railway without arranging for his separation from other passengers, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

OFFENCE UNDER SEC. 114—IF CAN BE DEALT WITH UNDER SEC. 562, CR. P. CODE.—Per Full Bench and Dadiba C. Mehta, A.J.C., dissenting.—Offences punishable under sec. 114 are easy to commit but not easy to detect. When detection has been successfully effected, an offender should not go scot-free even if he has not been convicted before. 155 I.C. 697=1935 S. 90 (F.B.). Per Dadiba C. Mehta, A.J.C.—When a particular penal section of a statute is interpreted in a particular way in favour of a subject by a Divisional Bench, the subject has a right to say that he has not committed any offence, that he had no guilty intention whatsoever in doing an act in the belief that the interpretation was correct. If subsequently that interpretation is found fault with by a Full Bench, so that the very act which at one time was not looked upon as an offence, is now regarded as an offence, the altered interpretation should not have a retrospective effect as if the subject should have anticipated the second decision of the High Court. Even if a technical conviction is recorded, the accused should have the benefit of sec. 562. 155 I.C. 697=1935 S. 90 (F.B.).

SEC. 118: PASSENGER—MEANING OF.—The word "passenger" in sec. 118 is used in a restricted sense and denotes a person who without permission of a Railway servant enters any Railway carriage for the purpose of travelling as a passenger. 14 Cr.L.J. 654 =21 I.C. 894=15 Bom.L.R. 996. On this

(2) If a passenger, after being warned by a railway servant to desist, persists in travelling on the roof, steps or footboard of any carriage or on an engine or in any other part of a train not intended for the use of passengers, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees and may be removed from the railway by any railway servant.

119. If a male person, knowing a carriage, compartment, room or other place to be reserved by a railway administration for the exclusive use of females, enters the place without lawful excuse, or, having entered it, remains therein after having been desired by any railway servant to leave it, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, in addition to the forfeiture of any fare which he may have paid and of any pass or ticket which he may have obtained or purchased, and may be removed from the railway by any railway servant.

SEC. 120: APPLICABILITY TO RAILWAY SERVANTS.—The latter portion of sec. 120 has a reference to the forfeiture of fares and of passes or tickets and to the removal of the offender from the railway by any railway servant, and thus shows its inapplicability to railway servants. 118 I.C. 197=23 S.L.R. 409=30 Cr.L.J. 879=1929 S. 249. REMOVAL OF PASSENGERS BY RAILWAY OFFICIALS.—The word "person" in sec. 120 includes railway official and a railway guard who removes a passenger from a compartment which they are entitled to occupy, is guilty of an offence under sec. 120. 19 Cr.L.J. 313=44 I.C. 329 (Mad.). There is no provision in the Railways Act for ejecting passengers except in certain circumstances specified in sec. 120 and the expression 'railway' in sec. 122 does not include a railway carriage. 44 Cal. 279=18 Cr.L.J. 647=40 I.C. 295=25 C.L.J. 610. Travelling without a ticket is not one of the circumstances mentioned in sec. 120 as justifying removal from a Railway carriage by a railway servant where there is no evidence that the persons were travelling without tickets with fraudulent intent. 68 I.C. 846=23 Cr.L.J. 622=1923 Lah. 71 (1).

USING THE DELIVERY SHED AS A MARKET PLACE FOR SELLING FISH.—A person who persists in selling fish in the delivery shed of Railway, which is not meant to be a market, and obstructs the business for which the shed is prepared is guilty of nuisance within sec. 120 (b). 25 C.W.N. 603=22 Cr.L.J. 604=62 I.C. 876=33 C.L.J. 293. A conviction under sec. 120 (b) is not sustainable when the particular words used are not in evidence. The mere statement of witnesses that words of abuse were used is not sufficient to support a conviction. 6 Lah. L.J. 469=1925 Lah. 151. But see contra 1936 A.L.J. 82=160 I.C. 1088=A.I.R. 1936 A. 140 (Conviction can be sustained although the exact words used are not proved). Obstructing railway servant in his duty. 121. If a person wilfully obstructs or impedes any railway servant in the discharge of his duty, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Trespass and refusal to desist from trespass. 122. (1) If a person unlawfully enters upon a railway, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

(2) If a person so entering refuses to leave the railway on being requested to do so by any railway servant; or by any other person on behalf of the railway administration, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and may be removed from the railway by such servant or other person.

SEC. 121: ESSENTIALS FOR CONVICTION.—Before a person can be convicted of wilfully obstructing or impeding a railway servant in the discharge of his duties, it must be shown that the obstruction or resistance was offered to such railway servant in the discharge of his duties as authorised by law. (1 C.W.N. 74. Ref.) 91 I.C. 33=6 Lah. 467=27 Cr.L.J. 1=1925 L. 650. Where a person without sufficient and reasonable cause pulls the emergency chain, he renders himself liable for prosecution under sec. 108 only, and not under sec. 121 for preventing the running of the train and thus obstructing or impeding a railway servant in the discharge of his duty. (43 Bom. 103, Foll.) 32 Bom.L.R. 111=1930 Bom. 160. Abuse or insult does not necessarily constitute obstruction or impediment to a railway servant in the discharge of his duty. 68 I.C. 846=23 Cr.L.J. 622=1923 L. 71 (1). Rules 244, 229 and 23 of the General Rules empower a Station Master to appoint a Signaller temporarily to do the duties of a Ticket Collector. When a Signaller so appointed undertake such duties and acts in the discharge thereof, he is a "Railway servant" within sec. 121. Obstruction to him is punishable under sec. 121. 37 M.L.J. 656=10 L.W. 669=21 Cr.L.J. 62. See also A.W.N. (1902) 24.

REFUSAL TO PAY EXCESS FARE.—Refusal to pay excess fare cannot possibly amount to obstructing or impeding a railway servant in the discharge of his duty within the meaning of sec. 121. 1933 M.W.N. 874; Rat. 675.

SEC. 122: SCOPE AND OBJECT OF SECTION.—ESSENTIALS OF LIABILITY UNDER THE SECTION.—Two things are necessary to bring a man under that section: (1) that the place of entry must be "railway" as defined in sec. 3 (4) of the Act, and (2) the entry should have been unlawful in the inception. 25 A.L.J. 710=28 Cr.L.J. 648=1927 A. 646. The most important words in sec. 122 are the words "unlawfully enters", for unless and until a person has made an unlawful entry upon the railway premises he cannot be brought within this penal provision. The word "unlawful" means "contrary to the law laid down in the statute." 88 I.C. 522=1925 P. 535. If the railway made a general rule under the Act that nobody should enter upon railway platforms except passengers with tickets, any other persons entering upon the platform might be guilty of unlawful entry. But where no such rule exists, and where the station master leaves the platform gate open, those who enter upon the platform can hardly be considered to be other than licensees. A person who enters in this manner may be quite lawfully ordered to leave the railway premises, but as he has not entered unlawfully he can never be brought within the mischief of sec. 122. 88 I.C. 522=6 P.L.T. 437=26 Cr.L.J. 1162=1925 P. 535. The word "unlawful" has practically the same meaning as "illegal" which can be interpreted as including actionable. Hence an entry upon railway premises may be held to be unlawful, if it constitutes an actionable trespass. 146 I.C. 684=1933 A.L.J. 1432=1933 A. 891. Crossing Railway line even if it be to enter the platform is offence under sec. 122. 142 I.C. 202=33 Cr.L.J. 291=1933 M. 372; 44 C. 279. Object of section. (1914) M. W.N. 124; 22 I.C. 177. Unlawful entry is the essence of the offence under both the clauses of sec. 122. If the entry was lawful, refusal to leave on being desired to do so would not make the original entry unlawful. Nor would it make a person guilty under Cl. (2) which is but an aggravated form of the offence under Cl. (1). 19 Cr. L.J. 878=47 I.C. 74=22 C.W.N. 575.

The word "unlawful" in sec. 122 means without the leave of the Railway Administration and a person entering the railway line without such leave is guilty under sec. 122. Sec. 47 or the bye-laws made under cl. (g) thereof have no reference to this offence of trespass. 4 P.R. 1914=24 I.C. 348=15 Cr.L.J. 468 (11 C.W.N. 583, Rel.). A railway platform, to which the general public have free access, without having to show tickets, or without having to obtain special permission of any sort, is a part of the railway premises which may be entered by the members of the general public under the implied permission of the railway authority. Hence a person who enters such premises cannot be treated to be trespasser merely because he enters the platform without express permission and his entry is not unlawful within the meaning of sec. 122. 146 I.C. 684=1933 A.L.J. 1432=1933 A. 891. Even a passenger with a ticket cannot trespass on Railway lines. 152 I.C. 615=

123. If a driver or conductor of a tramcar, omnibus, carriage or other vehicle while upon the premises of a railway disobeys the reasonable directions of any railway servant or police-officer, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

Disobedience of omnibus drivers to directions of railway servants.

Opening or not properly shutting gates.

124. In either of the following cases, namely:—

(a) if a person knowing or having reason to believe that an engine or train is approaching along a railway, opens any gate set up on either side of the railway across a road, or passes or attempts to pass, or drives or takes, or attempts to drive or take, any animal, vehicle or other thing across the railway,

(b) if, in the absence of a gate-keeper, a person omits to shut and fasten such a gate as aforesaid as soon as he and any animal, vehicle or other thing under his charge have passed through the gate, the person shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

125. (1) The owner or person in charge of any cattle straying on a railway provided with fences suitable for the exclusion of cattle shall be punished with fine which may extend to five rupees for each head of cattle, in addition to any amount which may have been recovered or may be recoverable under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

Cattle-trespass.

(2) If any cattle are wilfully driven, or knowingly permitted to be, on any railway otherwise than for the purpose of lawfully crossing the railway or for any other lawful purpose, the person in charge of the cattle or, at the option of the railway administration, the owner of the cattle shall be punished with fine which may extend to ten rupees for each head of cattle, in addition to any amount which may have been recovered or may be recoverable under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

(3) Any fine imposed under this section may, if the Court so directs, be recovered in manner provided by section 25 of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

(4) The expression "public road" in sections 11 and 26 of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871, shall be deemed to include a railway, and any railway servant may exercise the powers conferred on officers of police by the former of those sections.

(5) The word "cattle" has the same meaning in this section as in the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

SECS. 126 AND 128: LYING ON RAILS.—The offence of lying on the rails cannot be said to endanger the safety of persons travelling on the railway and comes under sec. 128 and not under sec. 126. Where several persons are charged with having conspired for the purpose, the proper conviction will be under sec. 129 (b) of the Penal Code, for conspiring to commit an offence under sec. 128 of the Railways Act. 1930 M.W.N. 1264.

INTENTION OF ACT.—The sending of first youthful offenders, whose antecedents are not shown to be bad, to ordinary jails has effect of making them hardened criminals after they are discharged from such jails. Their association with all classes of offenders has a very unhealthy influence on them. It is the duty of the Magistrate to take into consideration all such matters, when deciding the question of sentence. There are other suitable forms of punishment provided by the law. The provisions of Reformatory Schools Act are intended for cases of youthful offenders. 96 I.C. 390=27 Cr.L.J. 934=1926 L. 611.

SEC. 4: APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—See 1924 Rang. 46. The order for detention in a Reformatory School can only be made in the case of a youthful offender; and under sec. 4 a boy ceases to be technically a youthful offender at the age of 15, therefore, it is illegal to order detention of a boy of 16. 2 Bur.L.J. 96=24 Cr.L.J. 918=75 I.C. 294=1924 R. 16. See also Rat. 905; 1 Weir 879; 27 C. 133.

Government a report on the condition of the school in such form as the Provincial Government may prescribe.

8. (1) Whenever any youthful offender is sentenced to transportation or imprisonment, and, is in the judgment of the Court by which he is sentenced, a proper person to be an inmate of a Reformatory School, the Court may, subject to any rules made by the Provincial Government, direct that, instead of undergoing his sentence, he shall be sent to such a school, and be there detained for a period which shall be not less than three or more than seven years.

(2) The powers so conferred on the Court by this section shall be exercised only by (a) the High Court, (b) a Court of Session, (c) a District Magistrate, and (d) any Magistrate specially empowered by the Provincial Government in this behalf, and may be exercised by such Courts whether the case comes before them originally or on appeal.

(3) The Provincial Government may make rules for—

(a) defining what youthful offenders should be sent to Reformatory Schools, having regard to the nature of their offences or other considerations, and

Where a boy under 12 years was convicted of stabbing a companion with a knife and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 100 or in default of payment to go to the Reformatory School for three years. Held, the order was illegal. Under sec. 8 before such an order is passed, the offender must have been sentenced to transportation or imprisonment and not to mere fine. 12 Cr.L.J. 244=10 I.C. 773. See also L.B.R. (1893—1900) 491; 5 C.W. N. 310.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—A youthful offender was sentenced to 3 years' detention in a Reformatory School in lieu of 3 months' rigorous imprisonment. The boy was over 13 years of age. Held, sec. 8 combined with the Judicial Department Notification No. 237, dated 12th June, 1897, and Rule 1, cl. (iii), provides that, if a youthful offender is over 13 years of age, he should be sent to a Reformatory School for such period as will bring him to the age of eighteen. Notice was issued to the accused to show cause why he should not be detained in the Reformatory School till he attains eighteen. 3 L.B. R. 46. As to who should be sent to Reformatory School, See Rat. 726; 9 Cr.L.J. 99=4 N.L.R. 180. Where an accused, who was convicted of offences under secs. 454 and 380, I.P. Code, was sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment but being fourteen years old was directed to be detained in the Reformatory for the period, the High Court reversed this latter direction on the ground that the Magistrate had not been specially authorised and that the order was opposed to the provisions of sec. 8. Rat. 947. A Magistrate should first pass a sentence of imprisonment and then direct that, instead of undergoing the sentence the offender should be sent to a Reformatory School for such period as the Act and the rules framed thereunder direct. 1 Weir 879. See also 2 L.B.R. 216. Under sec. 8 of the Act it is irregular for a Magistrate to sentence an accused between 15 and 16 years of age to be detained in a Reformatory for 4 years without first sentencing him to imprisonment. L.B.R. (1893)—1900, 648. (L.B.R. 1893-1900, 242, R.) Where a Magistrate who sentenced a youthful offender for six months, and directed that in lieu of the imprisonment, he should be detained in a Reformatory School unless he shall attain the age of 18 years at an earlier date, held, that the order directing the detention of the boy in a Reformatory School was not properly made, inasmuch as it had not fixed the exact period, in some cases under the Act, it may not be necessary for the Magistrate, to ascertain the exact age of the boy. So long as he is not over 15, the Magistrate may rightly fix a period of 3 years, or if the boy is not over 11, he may fix a period of 7 years without further inquiry. But if inquiry is necessary in order to fix the period, as it would be when the boy is over 11 and the Magistrate wishes to make the period as long as possible, then the Magistrate must find, as well as he can, the exact age of the boy and he is not at liberty to leave the decision of the question to Reformatory officials. 24 M. 13=1 Weir 882. [F., 15 Bom.L.R. 306; 14 Cr.L.J. 256=19 I.C. 512]. See also 15 Bom.L.R. 306=14 Cr.L.J. 256=19 I.C. 512. See also 15 A. 208. An appellate Court is competent to pass an order for detention in a reformatory in supersession of the order for imprisonment. If he has sufficient materials before him on which such an order can be founded. If there is no evidence as to the age of the accused or to show that he is a youthful offender within the terms of the Act, or to indicate the period of detention in the Reformatory which

(b) regulating the periods for which youthful offenders may be sent to such schools according to their ages or other considerations.

9. (1) When any Magistrate not empowered to pass an order under the last foregoing section is of opinion that a youthful offender convicted by him is a proper person to be an inmate of a Reformatory School, he may, without passing sentence, record such opinion and submit his proceedings and forward the youthful offender to the District Magistrate to whom he is subordinate.

(2) The Magistrate to whom the proceedings are so submitted may make such further enquiry (if any) as he may think fit and pass such sentence and order for the detention in a Reformatory School of the youthful offender, or otherwise, as he might have passed if such youthful offender had been originally tried by him.

10. The officer in charge of a prison in which a youthful offender is confined, in execution of a sentence of imprisonment, may bring him, if he has not then attained the age of fifteen years, before the District Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such prison is situate; and such Magistrate may, if such youthful offender appears to be a proper person to be an inmate of a Reformatory School, direct that, instead of undergoing the residue of his sentence, he shall be sent to a Reformatory School, and there detained for a period which shall be subject to the same limitations as are prescribed by or under section 8, with reference to the period of detention thereby authorised.

he might be ordered to undergo, he must take evidence within the terms of sec. 11 regarding these points before passing the order. 4 C.W.N. 225; Rat. 586. The language of secs. 8 and 9 shows that a sentence must be passed and then a direction given that instead of undergoing the sentence the youthful offenders shall be sent to a Reformatory School. 1 Bom.L.R. 162. [R. 21 A. 391, (F.B.). In this case the Sub-Divisional Magistrate ordered the accused to furnish security for good behaviour under sec. 110, Cr.P. Code, and in default to be rigorously imprisoned for one year. The accused appealed to the District Magistrate who dismissed the appeal, but in his order stated that the Superintendent of the jail had pointed out that the accused prisoner should be confined in a Reformatory, and the District Magistrate added that "a revised warrant should be sent." Accordingly the Sub-Divisional Magistrate issued another warrant directing that, instead of undergoing his sentence the accused should be detained for a period of one year in a Reformatory School, held, that the order was illegal for the following reasons:—(1) The prisoner was 16 years' old and was therefore not a youthful offender as defined in the Act, not being under the age of 15. (2) That the period of detention shall not be less than three years and the Magistrate ordered detention for one year. (3) The Magistrate had not been specially empowered to exercise the powers under the Act. (4) The accused had not been sentenced to imprisonment within the meaning of sec. 8 of the Act. An order for imprisonment in default of furnishing security is not a sentence of imprisonment. U.B.R. SEC. 9.—A second class Magistrate not empowered to act under sec. 8, should after convicting the accused, submit the case to the District Magistrate for passing sentence under sec. 9 (2), and not to the Joint Magistrate to whom the second class Magistrate may be immediately subordinate. 16 Cr.L.J. 32=26 I.C. 336. See also 5 C.W.N. 210; 34 P.R. 1910 (Cr.)=12 Cr.L.J. 56=8 I.C. 1166. SEC. 10.—Period of detention should be exactly fixed in the order. 15 Bom.L.R.

11. (1) Before directing any youthful offender to be sent to a Reformatory School under section 8, section 9, or section 10, the Court or Magistrate shall inquire into the question of his age and, after taking such evidence (if any) as may be deemed necessary shall record a finding thereon, stating his age as nearly as may be.

(2) A similar inquiry shall be made and finding recorded by every Magistrate not empowered to pass an order under section 8 before submitting his proceedings and forwarding the youthful offender to the District Magistrate as required by section 9, sub-section (1).

12. Every youthful offender directed by a Court or Magistrate to be sent to a Reformatory School shall be sent to such Reformatory School as the Provincial Government may, by general or special order, appoint for the reception of youthful offenders so dealt with by such Court or Magistrate:

Government to determine Reformatory School to which such offenders shall be sent.

Provided that, if accommodation in a Reformatory School is not immediately available for such youthful offender he may be detained in the juvenile ward or such other suitable part of a prison as the Provincial Government may direct—

(a) until he can be sent to a Reformatory School, or

(b) until the term of his original sentence expires, whichever event may first happen. Should the term of his original sentence first expire, he shall thereupon be released, but should he be sent to a Reformatory School, then the period of detention previously undergone shall be treated as detention in a Reformatory School,

13. (1) If at any time after a youthful offender has been sent to a Reformatory School it appears to the Committee of Visitors or Board of Management, as the case may be, that the age of such youthful offender has been understated in the order for detention, and that he will attain the age of eighteen years before the expiration of the period for which he has been ordered to be detained, they shall report the case for the orders of the Provincial Government.

(2) No person shall be detained in a Reformatory School after he has been found by the Provincial Government to have attained the age of eighteen years.

SEC. 11.—It is necessary that a Magistrate passing an order under sec. 8, should determine the age of the convict, and it is not enough to state that he is under 16 years of age. Rat. 494. Under sec. 8 of the Reformatory Schools Act, 1876, evidence should be taken by the Magistrate as to the age of the offender. This would seem therefore a judicial proceeding. The proceeding, moreover, involves the alteration of the sentence of a competent Court. The alteration can only be made after he is satisfied on two points which are submitted for his decision, and in arriving at a decision, he must exercise a judicial discretion. Therefore, such proceeding is a judicial proceeding within the meaning of secs. 4 and 435, Cr. P. Code. The High Court is, therefore, competent to revise the proceedings. 14 B. 381 [F. 25

C. 333; Rat. 726; 13 P.R. 1891 (Cr.)] Though it is doubtful whether the order of a Magistrate under sec. 8 is a "case" within the meaning of sec. 28 of the Amended Letters Patent, it is clear that it is "judicial proceeding" within the meaning of sec. 435 of the Cr.P. Code, and the High Court has jurisdiction to revise such an order. Rat. 494. See also Rat. 726. Sec. 11 requires that an enquiry as to age should be held before sending a youthful offender to a Reformatory School. There must be a clear finding as to age. The period of detention in the Reformatory School must also be fixed. The Court must find that the youthful offender to be sent to the Reformatory School is a fit and proper person to be an inmate of such a School. 86 I.C. 708=26 Cr.L.J. 852=3 Rang. 218=1925 Rang. 302. Discharge or removal by order of Government.

14. The Provincial Government may at any time order any youthful offender—

(a) to be discharged from a Reformatory School;

(b) to be removed from one Reformatory School to another such school situate within the territories subject to such Government: Provided that the whole period of his detention in a Reformatory School shall not be increased by such removal.

¹[15. The Provincial Governments of any two Provinces may after mutual agreement, generally or specially, notify in their respective Official Gazettes that any Reformatory School situated in one of the Provinces shall be available for the reception of youthful offenders directed to be sent to a Reformatory School by any Court or magistrate in the other Province and may thereupon make provision for the removal of youthful offenders accordingly.]

16. Nothing contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, shall be construed to authorize any Court or Magistrate to alter or reverse in appeal or revision any order passed with respect to the age of a youthful offender or the substitution of an order for detention in a Reformatory School for transportation or imprisonment.

LEG. REF.

SEC. 15.—As to scope and application of the section, see 27 C. 133; 5 C.W.N. 210; 25 C. 333; 5 M.L.T. 296; 1 L.B.R. 68; 34 P.R. 1910 (Cr.).

SEC. 16.—Sec. 16 does not prevent the Sessions Judge from interfering with an order of detention in a Reformatory School passed under sec. 10 by the District Magistrate in substitution of a sentence of imprisonment. (28 Cal. 423 and 13 I.C. 284, Rel.) 27 N.L.R. 242=134 I.C. 864=32 Cr.L.J. 1268=1931 Nag. 179. No order sending a youthful offender to the Reformatory School can be passed under this Act, unless a definite sentence of imprisonment has been passed on him. There is nothing in this Act which deprives a convict of his right of appeal against his conviction. All that is provided by sec. 16, is that, where proceedings on trial are complete up to and including the stage of a sentence of imprisonment, there can be no interference with a subsequent order directing him to be sent to a reformatory. 34 P.R. 1910 (Cr.)=8 I.C. 1166. [18 P.R. 1907, 1 (Cr.), R.] The High Court is not debarred from altering or revising an order for detention in a Reformatory School in substitution for transportation or imprisonment, if such order is not properly passed, i.e., if it does not conform to the rules made by the Local Government, under sec. 8. Where a youthful offender was convicted for stealing a lota from the side of a sleeping man, and where it was admitted that it was a first offence, held, that the accused did not come within the definition of "youthful offenders" and that the case should have been dealt with under sec. 31. 27 C. 133. (F. 1 L.B.R. 68; 5 M.L.T. 296=9 Cr.L.J. 392=1 I.C. 807.) Sec. 8 of the Act permits an order for detention in a Reformatory instead of the offender undergoing a sentence of transportation or imprisonment. Where there is no such sentence except one of whipping, no order for detention in a reformatory could legally be passed, in lieu of the whipping. Where the Magistrate has no authority to order detention in a reformatory, the provisions of sec. 16 do not bar the jurisdiction of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner acting as a High Court, to alter, on revision, the order of detention. L. B. R. (1893-1900) 493; [L.B.R. (1893-1900), 441, F.] See also 24 M. 13; 21 A. 391; 6 Bom.L.R. 550; 1 Sind 93. Under sec. 9, the District Magistrate alone has power to pass orders. The Sub-divisional Magistrate has no jurisdiction to make any such order. He is empowered under sec. 8, not under sec. 9. Sec. 16 does not prevent the exercise by the High Court of its revisional powers in cases where orders have been passed without jurisdiction. The proper procedure is that the District Magistrate should proceed to dispose of the case under sec. 9, sub-sec. (2). 2 L.B.R. 121. The High Court will not interfere with an order directing detention in a Reformatory School rather than imprisonment but it is not precluded from altering the sentence of imprisonment into a sentence of whipping and in the latter case the order of detention falls to the ground. 5 S.L.R. 173=13 Cr.L.J. 44=13 I.C. 284 (21 All. 391, Rel. on.) III.—Management of Reformatory Schools.

Appointment of Superintendent and Committee of Visitors or Board of Management.

17. (1) For the control and management of every Reformatory School, the Provincial Government shall appoint either (a) a Superintendent and a Committee of Visitors, or (b) a Board of Management.

(2) Every Committee and every Board so appointed must consist of not less than five persons, of whom two at least shall be Natives of India.

(3) The Provincial Government may suspend or remove any Superintendent or any Member of a Committee or Board so appointed.

18. (1) Every Superintendent so appointed may, with the sanction of the Committee, by license under his hand, permit any youthful offender sent to a Reformatory School, who has attained the age of fourteen years, to live under the charge of any trustworthy and respectable person named in the licence, or any officer of Government or of a Municipality, being an employer of labour and willing to receive and take charge of him, on the condition that the employer shall keep such youthful offender employed at some trade, occupation or calling.

(2) The license shall be in force for three months and no longer, but may at any time and from time to time until the expiration of the period for which the youthful offender has been directed to be detained, be renewed for three months at a time.

19. The license shall be cancelled at the desire of the employer named in the license.

20. If during the term of the licensee the employer named therein dies, or ceases from business or to employ labour, or the period for which the youthful offender has been directed to be detained in the Reformatory School expires, the license shall thereupon cease and determine.

21. If it appears to the Superintendent that the employer has ill-treated the youthful offender, or has not adequately provided for his lodging and maintenance, the Superintendent may cancel the license.

22. (1) The Superintendent of a Reformatory School shall be deemed to be the guardian of every youthful offender detained in such school, within the meaning of Act No. XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices).

(2) If it appears to the Superintendent that any youthful offender licensed under section 18 has behaved well during one or more periods of his license, the Superintendent may, with the sanction of the Committee, apprentice him under the provisions of the said Act, and on such apprenticeship the right to detain such youthful offender in a Reformatory School shall cease, and the unexpired term (if any) of his sentence shall be cancelled.

23. (1) Every Committee of Visitors appointed under section 17 for a Reformatory School shall, at least once in every month,—

(a) visit the school, to hear complaints and see that the requirements of section 6 have been complied with, and that the management of the school is proper in all respects;

(b) examine the punishment-book;

(c) bring any special cases to the notice of the Inspector-General; and
 (d) see that no person is illegally detained in the school.

(2) If any member of a Committee of Visitors so appointed fails or neglects, during a period of six consecutive months, to visit the school and assist in the discharge of the duties aforesaid, he shall cease to be a member of such Committee.

24. If, in exercise of the power conferred by section 17, the Provincial Government appoints a Board of Management for any Reformatory School, such Board shall have the powers and perform the functions of the Superintendent under sections 18 to 22, both inclusive; and the license mentioned in section 18 may be under the hand of their chairman; and they shall be deemed to be the guardians of the youthful offenders detained in such school.

25. The Provincial Government may declare any body of Trustees or Managers of a school, who are willing to act in conformity with the rules referred to in section 5, clause (b), to be a Board of Management under this Act, and thereupon such body or Managers shall have all the powers and perform all the functions of such Board of Management.

Power of Board to make rules.

26. (1) With the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, every Board of Management of a Reformatory School may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(i) to prescribe the articles which are to be deemed to be "prohibited articles"; and

(ii) to regulate—

(a) the conduct of business of the Board;

(b) the management of the school;

(c) the education and industrial training of youthful offenders;

(d) visits to, and communication with, youthful offenders;

(e) the terms and conditions under which any articles declared by the Board to be "prohibited articles" may be introduced into or removed out of the school;

(f) the manner in which such articles are to be removed when introduced without due authority;

(g) the conditions and limitations under which such articles may be supplied outside the school to any youthful offender under order of detention therein;

(h) the conditions on which the possession by any such youthful offender of such articles may be sanctioned;

(i) the penalties to be imposed for the supply or possession of such articles when supplied or possessed without due authority;

(j) the punishment of offences committed by youthful offenders; and

(k) the granting of licenses for the employment of youthful offenders.

(2) In the absence of a Board of Management the Provincial Government may make rules consistent with this Act to regulate for any Reformatory School the matters mentioned in any clause of sub-section (1), other than clause (ii) (a), and also the mode in which the Committee of Visitors shall conduct their business.

SEC. 26.—Rules framed by the Governor-General in Council under sec. 22 of Act V of 1876 must be deemed to have been passed under the existing Act (Act VIII of 1897). A Magistrate acting under the new Act must order the detention of a juvenile offender in a Reformatory School until he attains the age of 18. 21 M. 430=1 Weir 880. [R. 21 A. 391.] See also 15 A. 208; 1 Weir 878.

(a) a member of His Majesty's naval, military or air forces, or

(b) a person who is enrolled under the Auxiliary Force Act, 1920, or is a holy order, or is a regular minister of any religious denomination), who for the time being has attained the age of sixteen years but has not attained the age of fifty years, shall, within the prescribed period, correctly fill up, or cause so to be filled up, to the best of his knowledge and belief, sign and lodge with the appropriate registration authority specified in the First Schedule, or such other registration authority as may be prescribed, the form set out in the Second Schedule, and if any such European British subject claims not to be ordinarily resident in India, he shall lodge with the said form a statement of such claim.

(2) If any registration authority has reason to believe that any person is a European British subject to whom the provisions of sub-section (1) are applicable, he may, by order in writing, require such person to furnish such particulars as may be specified in the order within such time as may be so specified, and such person, whether or not he is a European British subject to whom the provisions of the said sub-section are applicable, shall within the specified time furnish correctly to the best of his knowledge and belief the said particulars to the said registration authority in such form or manner as such order may require, and shall sign the same; and if any such person claims that he is not a European British subject to whom the provisions of sub-section (1) are applicable, he shall furnish a statement of such claim with the particulars as aforesaid.

(3) If any person refuses or, without lawful excuse the (burden of proving which shall lie upon such person), neglects fully to comply with the requirements of sub-section (1) or of any order made under sub-section (2), he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(4) Every registration authority under this Act shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

4. If any question arises with reference to this Act or any rule made Determination of disputes as to applicability of this Act.

thereunder whether a person is a European British subject to whom the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 3 are applicable, a person appointed in writing in this behalf by the prescribed authority may apply to the District Magistrate or to any officer specially empowered in this behalf by the Central Government in the area in which the person to whom the dispute relates is for the time being present, and such Magistrate or other officer, after hearing such person or giving him a reasonable opportunity for being heard, shall summarily determine the question, and the decision of such Magistrate or other officer shall be final.

Power of Central Government to make rules.

5. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) prescribe registration authorities, in addition to those specified in the First Schedule;

(b) prescribe the time within which the form set out in the Second Schedule shall be lodged with the registration authority;

(c) prescribe authorities who may make the appointment referred to in section 4;

(d) provide for the issue of certificates of registration;

(e) provide for the preparation, compilation and correction of a register, and require the attendance of persons for any of such purposes;

Provided that no such order in appeal shall have the effect of subjecting any person to any greater confiscation, penalty or rate of duty than has been adjudged against him in the original decision or order.

Every order passed in appeal under this section shall, subject to the power of revision conferred by section 191, be final.

189. Where the decision or order appealed against relates to any duty or penalty leviable in respect of any goods, the owner of such goods, if desirous of appealing against such decision or order, shall, pending the appeal, deposit in the hands of the Customs-collector at the port where the dispute arises the amount demanded by the officer passing such decision or order.

When delivery of such goods to the owner thereof is withheld merely by reason of such amount not being paid, the Customs-collector shall, upon such deposit being made, cause such goods to be delivered to such owner.

An order of an Assistant Collector of Customs assessing a consignment of betel nuts as boiled nuts subject to duty on a tariff value and not as raw nuts subject to duty ad valorem, is not an adjudication as to increased rate of duty under sec. 183, but a decision as to the normal rate of duty. Such an order if upheld in appeal under sec. 188 and confirmed in revision under sec. 191, excludes the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts to entertain a challenge of the merits of that decision. WHEREAS it is expedient to license and to regulate stage-carriages in British India; it is enacted as follows:—

1. Every carriage drawn by one or more ³horses which shall ordinarily be used for the purpose of conveying passengers for hire to or from any place in British India, shall, without regard to the form or construction of such carriage, be deemed to be a stage-carriage within the meaning of this Act; ⁴[* * *]

17. In case any such penalties shall not be forthwith paid, such Magistrate may order the offender to be apprehended and detained in safe custody until the return can be conveniently made to such warrant of distress, unless the offender shall give security to the satisfaction of such Magistrate for his appearance at such place and time as shall be appointed for the return of the warrant of distress.

18. If upon the return of such warrant it shall appear that no sufficient distress can be had whereon to levy such penalty, and the same shall not be forthwith paid, or in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of such Magistrate by the confession of the offender or otherwise that he has not sufficient goods and chattels whereupon such penalty could be levied if warrant of distress were issued, such Magistrate may, by warrant under his hand, commit the offender, provided he is not a European British subject, to prison, there to be imprisoned, according to the discretion of such officer, for any term not exceeding two calendar months when the amount of penalty shall not exceed fifty rupees, and for any term not exceeding four calendar months when the amount shall not exceed one hundred rupees, and for any term not exceeding six calendar months in any other case, the commitment to be determinable in each of the cases aforesaid on payment of the amount.

19. If the offender shall be a European British subject, the Magistrate shall record the facts and transmit such record to the District Court of the district wherein the offender is convicted, and the amount of penalty and the costs (if any) shall be levied in the manner provided for the execution of decrees of the Civil Court.

20. On complaint made before any Magistrate of any offence committed under this Act, it shall not be necessary to prove that the offence was committed within the local limits of such Magistrate or other officer.

⁷ The word "cheque" has been omitted by Act V of 1927.

SEC. 22.—See 1943 A.M.L.J. 7.

SEC. 62: CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION.—The Stamp Act is a fiscal enactment, and must be strictly construed; and before any person can be punished the procedure prescribed by the Act must be strictly followed. On the discovery of a not duly stamped instrument, the procedure laid down in sec. 37

(old Act) should be followed. For criminal prosecution there must be an intention to evade the stamp law. 8 C. 259; 10 C.L.J. 365. Dishonest intention being the gist of the offence under sec. 62 it is not open to a Magistrate to find that there was absence of dishonest intention and at the same time warn the accused not to do the act in future. 25 A.L.J. 401=1927 A. 238. No fraudulent intent need be proved for a conviction under sec. 62. But the section must be read with sec. 43, and no prosecution should be started when the duty and penalty have been paid, except in case of fraud. But though the duty and penalty have not been paid, if the document cannot be impounded, a prosecution under sec. 62 should be compounded for payment of duty plus a sum which may reasonably be imposed as penalty when there is no reason to believe a fraudulent mind. 13 L.L.T. 18. A penal Act must be read as favourably as possible to the subject. 7 A.L.J. 180. See 140 I.C. 192=9 O.W.N. 852. As to essentials of offence under this section and sec. 68, see 18 Cr.L.J. 725=40 I.C. 725=21 C.W.N. 758. Under the Stamp Act, the imposition of the maximum penalty is discretionary. The fact that the person

(b) executing or signing otherwise than as a witness any other instrument chargeable with duty without the same being duly stamped; or liable to pay the penalty is well off, is no reason for imposing the maximum penalty, if the case is not one of flagrant desert. 1945 N.L.J. 320. Where a penalty has been paid before a Civil Court for the validation of a document which should have been stamped but was not, deduction ought to be made of the amount so paid from out of the fine levied on the party in subsequent criminal prosecution under sec. 62 (1), Stamp Act, 1942 N.L.J. 514.

(c) voting or attempting to vote under any proxy not duly stamped; shall for every such offence be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees:

PROOF OF INTENTION TO EVADE PAYMENT OF STAMP DUTY.—See 54 I.C. 406=21 Cr.L.J. 54; 2 P.L.T. 623=64 I.C. 286. But see 24 A.L.J. 358=93 I.C. 694, where it has been held that the mere signing, otherwise as a witness of an instrument chargeable with duty without the same being duly stamped is an offence. No question of intention arises. 24 A.L.J. 358. See also 93 I.C. 694=1926 A. 389. Intention to avoid payment of stamp is not an essential ingredient of the offence described in sec. 60 of Act I of 1879. But such intention is the essential ingredient of the offence made punishable by sec. 63 of that Act. 12 M. 231; 1 Weir 903. Provided that the prosecution be duly instituted, the intention of the party prosecuted to evade the stamp duty or otherwise is immaterial for the purpose of securing his conviction. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 623. Sec. 62 (b) does not require any criminal intention or intention of defrauding Government and the ignorance of law on the part of the accused does not render him immune from conviction under sec. 62 (b) although it can be taken into account in passing sentence. 1934 A.L.J. 582=150 I.C. 672=35 Cr.L.J. 1132=1934 A. 201. Accused was convicted under sec. 62 (1) (b) for not paying proper stamp duty and was fined Rs. 40. The proper duty payable in respect of the document was a matter about which genuine doubts could be entertained, held, that the fine should be reduced to Rs. 10. 146 I.C. 559=10 O.W.N. 997=1933 Oudh 461. See also 13 L.L.T. 18.

JURISDICTION.—As to Stamp Acts of 1869 and 1879 recognise the Collector as primarily responsible for the institution of prosecutions for offences against them, he should not himself try, in his capacity as a Magistrate, a person charged with an offence under that Act. 2 A. 806. See also 2 Cr.L.J. 468.

COMPETENCY OF PROSECUTING MAGISTRATE TO TRY OFFENDERS—PROCEDURE.—A Magistrate, authorised by the Collector of a district to prosecute offenders against the stamp law, is not competent to try them for the same offence. 3 C. 622; 1884 A.W.N. 82.

PENALTY.—For the purpose of ascertaining whether any and what penalty should be imposed, a Magistrate is bound to consider the question whether a person, prosecuted under this section, had any intention to defraud the Government by evading payment of stamp duty. 2 C. 399 (F.B.). See also 2 Cr.L.J. 468. Where a person is convicted of the abetment of an offence under sec. 61 for not fixing a stamp to an acknowledgment signed by a debtor in his account books, the amount of fine inflicted should not be excessive but proportionate to the fraudulent intent of offender. 1885 A.W.N. 30.

ACCEPTOR OF UNSTAMPED RECEIPT—LIABILITY.—7 M. 71; 7 B. 82. The mere fact of the acceptance of an insufficiently stamped instrument cannot amount to an abetment of the offence under sec. 61. 1883 A.W.N. 145. [R. 20 A. 440.] See also 1884 A.W.N. 37. The mere receipt of an unstamped "khata" does not constitute an offence under sec. 61. Rat. Un. Cr.C. 882; Cr. R. 47 of 93. (7 M. 171, Foll.) As to granting of unstamped receipt without criminal intention, see 2 P.L.T. 623=64 I.C. 286. Voucher by one servant to another with respect to money belonging to the master is not receipt that requires stamp. 18 Cr.L.J. 968=42 I.C. 328; 4 O.L.J. 490. Not only persons who execute an instrument of partition but also those who sign it otherwise than as witnesses are liable to prosecution if they append their signatures to the instrument which is not duly stamped. Where certain arbitrators signed unstamped instrument of partition, held, that they were liable to prosecution under sec. 6 (b). 73 I.C. 336=24 Cr.L.J. 592=1924 Oudh 240. See also 46 A. 54.

INSTRUMENT NOT DULY STAMPED—LIABILITY OF CREDITOR.—A creditor has been making a regular practice of securing his loans by ruju cum chitti system, i.e., by making his debtor sign a balance in his account books and chittis attested on the same day. The creditor supplied the printed form of chittis to his debtors suffering himself to pay duty and penalty for them on prior occasions. Held, that the creditor was well aware that execution of the documents involved loss of revenue to Government and hence it could be presumed that it was the creditor and not the debtors who prescribed this system to evade the law by taking separate 'chittis' to supplement the 'rujus' of the debtors in his account books, though generally the obligation was on the debtor to supply stamp. 1934 Cr. C. 1298=1934 N. 261.

MEANING OF TERMS.—'Accepting' is a technical term and does not apply to the mere taking of a promissory note in one's favour from the debtor. 'Presenting' like

Provided that, when any penalty has been paid in respect of any instrument under section 35, section 40 or section 61, the amount of such penalty shall be allowed in reduction of the fine (if any) subsequently imposed under this section in respect of the same instrument upon the person who paid such penalty.

(2) If a share-warrant is issued without being duly stamped, the company issuing the same, and also every person who, at the time when it is issued, is the managing director or secretary or other principal officer of the company, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

"accepting" is a technical term and is so used in sec. 62. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 312. "Accepting" does not mean "receiving" but "executing as acceptor." U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 311. The term "accepting" in sec. 61 does not mean "receiving" but "executing as an acceptor." The mere receiver of a promote not duly stamped does not render himself liable to the penalties under the section. 20 A. 440=24 W.R. (Cr.) 1. The mere receiving of a pro-note not duly stamped and suing upon it is not "accepting" within the meaning of sec. 61, and is, therefore, not an offence under the section. 12 P.R. 1887 (Cr.); 7 M. 71=1 Weir 902; 18 P.R. 1895 (Cr.). See also cases under "Abetment of offence". The words "signing otherwise than as a witness" in sec. 61 includes the writing of a person's name by himself, or by his authority, with the intention of authenticating a document as being that of the person whose name is so written. 27 C. 324=4 C.W.N. 440. The term "person" used in secs. 61 and 64 includes the members of a trading partnership. 1903 A.W.N. 173. The execution of a document, which on its face requires to be, and is not stamped, cannot be said to be an "act, contrivance, or device not specially provided for" within the meaning of sec. 67, because where the document is what on its face purports to be the act of the executant, if punishable at all, is provided for under sec. 61 of the Act and cannot, therefore, fall under sec. 67. 23 M. 155=1 Weir 907. Unstamped receipt issued by an unauthorised gumashta. 8 C.W.N. 378. Where a clerk signs a firm's name under the authority of the firm, it makes little difference that he wrote the letters to the dictation of the manager and he may be properly convicted under sec. 61 of the Act. 27 C. 324=4 C.W.N. 440. No prosecution lies under sec. 61 against the holder of an insufficiently stamped promote. But the Collector, on the bond being impounded and sent to him can levy the penalty under sec. 37. 40 P.R. 1886 (Cr.).

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF RECEIPT OF DEBT DUE BY LETTER—FAILURE TO PROPERLY STAMP IT.—Where a person acknowledges by letter the receipt of money in satisfaction of a debt for more than Rs. 20, the letter is a receipt and is as such chargeable with duty and the person signing it otherwise than as a witness without its being properly stamped is liable to be convicted under sec. 61 of the Act. 8 M. 11=1 Weir 902 (F.B.); 1 Weir 903=11 M. 329; 1885 A.W.N. 266.

TERM "RECEIPT" EXPLAINED.—1 Weir 901; 1903 A.W.N. 174; Ibid., 178.

OTHER ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—An agreement to lease by which no rent is reserved and no premium paid or money advanced is not included in the Schedule to the Stamp Act and so does not require a stamp. The executant of such a document cannot be convicted under sec. 62 (b). 1 Pat.L.J. 366=20 C.W.N. 923. There is nothing in the law which renders it obligatory to execute a charterparty in duplicate; but when the parties think proper to execute it in duplicate, they commit an offence punishable under sec. 61 if they fail to stamp the counterpart as prescribed in the schedule. (1872-92) L.B.R. 623. The mere fact that they have intended it to be used merely as a private copy cannot alter its nature or make it any less a duplicate or counterpart if it is duly signed. (1872-92) L.B.R. 623. Award in partition—Liability to stamp—Signature of arbitrator—Offence. See 46 A. 54. Sale of Court-fee stamps without licence, if offensive. See 4 A. 216 (F.B.). Compromised petition to Court—Necessity for Court-fee stamp and not general stamp. 19 Cr.L.J. 48=43 I.C. 1008=40 A. 19.

ABETMENT OF OFFENCE.—The conviction of a person, who merely received a promissory note executed on plain paper, in his favour, of abetment of the offence under sec. 61 is bad in law. 1 N.L.R. 163. The mere receipt of an unstamped instrument does not constitute the offence of abetment of the execution of the instrument. U.B.R. 1904 and Cr. Stamps, 1 [7 B. 82; 20 A. 440 and U.B.R. (1892-1896) 313, Ref.] 8 A. 18=1885 A.W.N. 317. It is not abetment of the execution of an unstamped instrument to receive it, any more than acceptance of stolen property is abetment of theft. 7 B. 82. The act of the person receiving the unstamped document may amount to abetment of an offence under sec. 61, and would then be an act provided for by any other law for the time being in force, namely the Penal Code, and is, therefore, beyond the scope of sec. 67 of the Act. 23 M. 155=1 Weir 907.

SANCTION OF COLLECTOR.—The Act does not require intention to be proved as a part of an offence under it, but in order to prevent indiscriminate prosecutions it confines the power of instituting the prosecutions to the Collector, and instructs him to exercise it only when it appears to him that the offence had been committed with an intention to evade payment of the proper duty. 7 M. 537=1 Weir 899. See also 24 W.R. (Cr.)

63. Any person required by section 12 to cancel an adhesive stamp, and failing to cancel such stamp in manner prescribed by that section, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Penalty for failure to cancel adhesive stamp.

Penalty for omission to comply with provisions of section 27.

64. Any person who, with intent to defraud the Government,—

(a) executes any instrument in which all the facts and circumstances required by section 27 to be set forth in such instrument are not fully and truly set forth; or

(b) being employed or concerned in or about the preparation of any instrument, neglects or omits fully and truly to set forth therein all such facts and circumstances; or

(c) does any other act calculated to deprive the Government of any duty or penalty under this Act; shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five thousand rupees.

Penalty for refusal to give receipt, and for devices to evade duty on receipts.

65. Any person who,—

1; 12 M. 231=1 Weir 903. Again it is not necessary in proceedings under the Act that the document should be impounded under sec. 33. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 313.

SECS. 62 (b) AND 64 (a).—Where a complaint is brought under sec. 64 (a) before accused can be convicted under sec. 62 (b) the Magistrate must direct the attention of the accused to the fact that though the complaint was brought under sec. 64 (a) they also stood in jeopardy under sec. 62 (b). 146 I.C. 1055=1933 Lah. 959. The offences under sec. 62 (b) and sec. 64 (a) are not respectively minor and major offences and it cannot be presumed that a sanction to prosecution under sec. 64 (a) is a sanction by implication to a prosecution under sec. 62 (b). The Collector is required by sec. 43, when instituting a prosecution under sec. 62 (b) to consider whether there has been fraud. An express sanction would, no doubt, be evidence that he had considered the question. 146 I.C. 1055=1933 Lah. 959.

SECS. 62 AND 65: PASSING UNSTAMPED RECEIPT—FAILURE TO GIVE PROPER RECEIPT ON DEMAND—NATURE OF OFFENCE.—The offence under sec. 65 consists in not giving a properly stamped receipt when demanded. The offence under sec. 62 (1) consists in passing a receipt unstamped whether one is demanded by the payer or not. Hence where a person gives an unstamped receipt and refuses to give a stamped one even after demanding for same he commits two offences under sec. 62 and 65 in respect of the same transaction. 146 I.C. 807=35 Bom.L.R. 981=1933 Bom. 462.

SEC. 64: SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—Essentials of conviction under the section. 108 I.C. 427=29 Cr.L.J. 397; 1 Weir 905. Person in whose favour the document is executed is not hit by sec. 64 (a). 1929 Cr.C. 359=1929 C. 723. Each of the entries of receipts over Rs. 20 in a sarkhar left in the hands of debtor must be stamped as a receipt. 35 A. 290=11 A.L.J. 309. On this section, see also 12 M. 231=1 Weir 903; 1 Weir 901; 19 Cr.L.J. 515=45 I.C. 275 (C) (proof of fraudulent intent is necessary). See also 108 I.C. 427=29 Cr.L.J. 397; 13 L.L.T. 18; 44 C. 321=24 C.L.J. 441 ("Any other Act", meaning of).

PROOF OF INTENT.—For a conviction under sec. 64 (a) proof of intent to defraud is necessary. 146 I.C. 1055=1933 Lah. 959.

SEC. 64 (b): APPLICABILITY—AUTHOR OF DEED GETTING IT WRITTEN THROUGH ANOTHER.—LIABILITY.—CL. (b) of sec. 64 does not mean that only the person whose hand actually writes the offending words with the guilty intent comes within the mischief of the clause; the words of the clause are wide enough to reach also and to punish the person in truth responsible for the deed, though he writes the deed through the hand of another. The clause can apply as well as to the author of the deed as to the actual scribe. I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 246=A.I.R. 1944 Sind 222.

SEC. 64 (c): CREDITOR OBTAINING INSTRUMENT NOT DULY STAMPED.—Merely receiving an unstamped document may not amount to an offence, but when a creditor himself intentionally procures the signing of an improper entry in his own account book, he commits a substantive offence under sec. 62, and is punishable under sec. 64 (c) which is not ejusdem generis with the other sub-sections. 1934 Cr. C. 1298=1934 Nag. 261.

SEC. 65: CONDITIONS TO BEING AN INSTRUMENT UNDER SEC. 64.—See 1884 A.W.N. 164. See also U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, p. 303 (execution of instrument of gift, or settlement); 10 A.L.J. 309=35 A. 390; 32 A. 171; 44 C. 321. The failure of the creditor to affix such stamp is not an offence under sec. 64. 1884 A.W.N. 164. Where a person neither refuses nor neglects to give a receipt, nor with intent to defraud the revenue gives a receipt for less than Rs. 20 when he has received more, nor with like intent separates or divides the money or property paid or delivered, he cannot be convicted under sec. 64 of the (old) Act. 8 M. 11=1 Weir. 902 (F.B.). See also 1903 A.W.N. 173. The term "receipt" explained. 1 Weir 901; 1903

(a) being required under section 30 to give a receipt, refuses or neglects to give the same; or

(b) with intent to defraud the Government of any duty, upon a payment of money or delivery of property exceeding twenty rupees in amount or value, gives a receipt for an amount or value not exceeding twenty rupees, or separates or divides the money or property paid or delivered; shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Penalty for not making out policy, or making one not duly stamped.

66. Any person who—

(a) receives, or takes credit for, any premium or consideration for any contract of insurance and does not, within one month after receiving, or taking credit for, such premium or consideration, make out and execute a duly stamped policy of such insurance; or

(b) makes, executes or delivers out any policy which is not duly stamped, or pays or allows in account, or agrees to pay or allow in account, any money upon, or in respect of, any such policy; shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for post-dating bills, and for other devices to defraud the revenue.

68. Any person who—

(a) with intent to defraud the Government of duty, draws, makes or issues any bill of exchange or promissory note bearing a date subsequent to that on which such bill or note is actually drawn or made; or

(b) knowing that such bill or note has been so post-dated, endorses, transfers, presents for acceptance or payment, or accepts, pays or receives payment of, such bill or note, or in any manner negotiates the same; or

(c) with the like intent, practises or is concerned in any act, contrivance or device not specially provided for by this Act or any other law for the time being in force;

shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Penalty for breach of rule relating to sale of stamps and for unauthorised sale.

(Ibid.) Where the liability under a promissory note was extinguished by the execution by the debtor of a registered lease of his immovable property in favour of the creditor the creditor is not bound under sec. 30 to pass any receipt to the debtor for satisfaction of the debts due on the promissory note and his conviction under sec. 65 (a) is illegal. 1932 N. 172.

Considering the circumstances under which it was enacted, Act III of 1858, which extended the effect of that Regulation to Calcutta was not ultra vires. 6 B.L.R. 392. The regulation provides that the Governor-General may place an individual under restraint as a state prisoner where the reasons stated in the preamble seem to him to require it. 14 C.W.N. 713 (730); 6 I. THE BENGAL STATE-PRISONERS REGULATION (III OF 1818),¹

Year.	No.	Short title.	Where in force.	Effect of Subsequent Legislation.

[7th April, 1818.]

A Regulation for the confinement of State-prisoners.

1. WHEREAS reasons of State, embracing the due maintenance of the alliances formed by the British Government with foreign powers, the preservation of tranquillity in territories of Native Princes entitled to its protection and the security of the British dominions from foreign hostility and from internal commotion, occasionally render it necessary to place under a personal restraint individuals against whom there may not be sufficient ground to institute any judicial proceeding, or when such proceeding may not be adopted to the nature of the case, or may for other reasons be unadvisable or improper; and whereas it is fit that, in every case of the nature herein referred to, the determination to be taken should proceed immediately from the authority of the² [Government]; and whereas the ends of justice require that, when it may be determined that any person shall be placed under personal restraint, otherwise than in pursuance of some judicial proceeding, the grounds of such determination should from time to time come under revision, and the person affected thereby should at all times be allowed freely to bring to the notice of the² [Government] all circumstances relating either to the supposed grounds of such determination, or to the manner in which it may be executed; and whereas the ends of justice also require that due attention be paid to the health of every State-prisoner confined under this Regulation, and that suitable provision be made for his support according to his rank in life, and to his own wants and those of his family; and whereas the reasons above declared sometimes render it necessary that the estates and lands of zamindars, taluqdars and others³ [] should be attached and placed under the temporary management of the Revenue-authorities without having recourse to any judicial proceeding; and whereas it is desirable to make such legal provisions as may secure from injury the just rights and interests of individuals whose estates may be so attached under the direct authority of Government; [it is hereby enacted as follows:—]

SEC. 2: NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE REGULATION.—The Governor-General in Council in issuing a warrant of commitment under Regulation III of 1818, does not in any way act judicially or as a Court of Justice, nor is he to be considered as having adjudicated that the person placed under personal restraint, had been guilty of some specific offence. The proceeding is not in the nature of the conviction of the person placed under restraint: therefore, the person so placed under restraint, cannot, in any future proceeding taken against him, plead that he has

3. Every officer in whose custody any State prisoner may be placed shall, on the first of January, and first of July of each year, submit a report to the ⁵[Government] ⁶[* * * * *] on the conduct, the health and the comfort of such state prisoner, in order that the ⁷[Government] may determine whether the order for his detention shall continue in force or shall be modified.

4. First.—When any State prisoner is in the custody of a Zila ⁸[* * ], Magistrate, the Judges ⁹[ * *] are to visit such state-prisoner on the occasion of the periodical sessions, and they are to issue any orders concerning the treatment of the State prisoner which may appear to them advisable, provided they be not inconsistent with the orders of the ¹⁰[Government] issued on that head.

Second.—When any State prisoner is placed in the custody of any public officer not being a Zila ¹¹[* * ] Magistrate, the ¹²[Government] will instruct either the Zila ¹³[ * ] Magistrate, or the Judge ¹⁴[ * *] or any other public officer, not being the person in whose custody the prisoner may be placed, to visit such prisoner at stated periods, and to submit a report to Government regarding the health and treatment of such prisoner.

POWER OF INDIAN LEGISLATURE.—Regulation III of 1818 was applicable only to natives and those subject to the jurisdiction of the Provincial Courts. It was passed under 37 Geo. III, c. 142, sec. 28, not 13 Geo. III, c. 63, sec. 36. It was passed by a legislative authority having full power in that behalf. Considering the circumstances under which it was enacted, Act III of 1858, which extended the effect of that Regulation to Calcutta, was not ultra vires. 6 Beng.L.R. 392; 14 C.W.N. 713 (730).

JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT.—A Mahomedan subject to the Crown was arrested in Calcutta, taken into the mofussil, and there detained in jail, under a warrant of the Governor-General in Council in the form prescribed by Regulation III of 1818. Held that such arrest and detainer were not acts of State, but matters cognizable by a Munj-icipal Court. 6 Beng.L.R. 392. Assuming the Power of the Judge of the High Court to issue a writ of habeas corpus, and assuming the right of appeal against an order refusing such writ, held, that has it appeared, that the prisoner was in custody under a warrant in the form prescribed by Regulation III of 1818, the detention was legal. The detention, to be legal, need only be covered by an actually existing warrant of the Governor-General in Council in the form prescribed, without regard to the lawfulness of the arrest. The Regulation is not confined to prisoners of war or foreigners held in confinement for 'political' reasons. 6 Beng.L.R. 459.

SECS. 6 AND 7.—Pensions and allowances under this Regulation bear no analogy to maintenance award to widows under Hindu Law. 50 Mad. 711—1927 Mad. 604—52 M. M.L.J. 622. The allowance granted to the Ex-Maharaja of Poona is a political pension restricted in its enjoyment to the owner personally and its transfer is not valid. (Ibid.)

9. Whenever the ¹[Provincial Government], for the reasons declared in the preamble to this Regulation, shall judge it necessary to attach the estates or lands of any zamindar, jagirdar, taluqdar, or other person, without any previous decision of a Court of Justice, or other judicial proceeding, the grounds on which the Resolution of Government may have been adopted, and such other information connected with the case as may appear essential, shall be communicated, ²[* * ], to the Judge and Magistrate of the district in which the lands or estates may be situated, ³[and] ⁴[ * *] to the Sadar Diwani Adalat and Nizamat Adalat.

10. First.—The lands or estates which may be so temporarily attached shall be held under the management of the officers of Government in the Revenue Department; and the collections shall be made and adjudged on the same principles as those of other estates held under khas management.

Second.—Such lands or estates shall not be liable to be sold in execution of decrees of the Civil Courts, or for the realization of fines or otherwise, during the period in which they may be so held under attachment.

Third.—In the cases mentioned in the preceding clause the Government will make such arrangement as may be fair and equitable for the satisfaction of the decrees of the Civil Courts.

11. Whenever the ⁵[Provincial Government] shall be of opinion that the circumstances which rendered the attachment of such estate necessary have ceased to operate, and that the management of the estate can be committed to the hands of the proprietor without public hazard or inconvenience, the Revenue authorities will be directed to release the estate from attachment, to adjust the accounts of the collections during the period in which they may have been superintended by the Officers of Government, and to pay over to the proprietor the profits from the estate which may have accumulated during the attachment.

⁶[12. This Regulation, so far as it relates to the confinement of persons for reasons connected with defence, external affairs and the discharge of the functions of the Crown in its relations with the Indian States, extends to the whole of all the Governor's Provinces and Chief Commissioners Provinces and so far as relates to order matters, extend to act those provinces except Madras, Bombay and Sind.]

Right to repatriation on dismissal.

(2) Where any emigrant labourer is dismissed by his employer before the expiry of three years from his entry into Assam, and his employer refuses or fails to repatriate him, the labourer may apply to the Controller, and the Controller, after such inquiry as he may think fit and after giving the employer an opportunity to be heard, may declare that the labourer has the right of repatriation against such employer.

Right to apply for repatriation in certain circumstances.

(1) may be made by the Controller only and not by any other officer exercising the powers of the Controller by or under this Act.

(2) If the employer fails to comply with such direction, the Controller may repatriate the labourer and his family or pay him the sum of money out of any funds at the Controller's disposal, and shall recover the costs incurred from the employer.

(3) For the purposes of such recovery the Controller may certify the costs to be recovered to the Collector, who shall recover the amount and may recover it as an arrear of land-revenue.

authority shall do as little damage as possible, and, when it has exercised those powers in respect of any property other than that referred to in clause (c), shall pay full compensation to all persons interested for any damage sustained by them by reason of the exercise of those powers.

Power to enter on property in order to repair or remove telegraph lines or posts. 11. The telegraph authority may, at any time, for the purpose of examining, repairing, altering or removing any telegraph line or post, enter on the property under, over, along, across, in or upon which the line or post has been placed.

Provisions applicable to Property vested in or under the Control or Management of Local Authorities.

Power for local authority to give permission under section 10, clause (c), subject to conditions. 12. Any permission given by a local authority under section 10, clause (c), may be given subject to such reasonable conditions as that authority thinks fit to impose, as to the payment of any expenses to which the authority will necessarily be put in consequence of the exercise of the powers conferred by that section, or as to the time or mode of execution of any work, or as to any other thing connected with or relative to any work undertaken by the telegraph authority under those powers.

Power for local authority to require removal or alteration of telegraph line or post. 13. When, under the foregoing provisions of this Act, a telegraph line or post has been placed by the telegraph authority under, over, along, across, in or upon any property vested in or under the control or management of a local authority, and the local authority, having regard to circumstances which have arisen since the telegraph line or post was so placed, considers it expedient that it should be removed or that its position should be altered, the local authority may require the telegraph authority to remove it or alter its position, as the case may be.

Power to alter position of gas or water pipes or drains. 14. The telegraph authority may, for the purpose of exercising the power conferred upon it by this Act in respect of any property vested in or under the control or management of a local authority, alter the position thereunder on any pipe (not being a main) for the supply of gas or water, or of any drain (not being a main drain):

Provided that—

(a) when the telegraph authority desires to alter the position of any such pipe or drain, it shall give reasonable notice of its intention to do so, specifying the time at which it will begin to do so, to the local authority, and, when the pipe or drain is not under the control of the local authority, to the person under whose control the pipe or drain is;

(b) a local authority or person receiving notice under clause (a) may send a person to superintend the work, and the telegraph authority shall execute the work to the reasonable satisfaction of the person so sent.

Disputes between telegraph authority and local authority. 15. (1) If any dispute arises between the telegraph authority and a local authority in consequence of the local authority refusing the permission referred to in section 10, clause (c), or prescribing any condition under section 12, or in consequence of the telegraph authority omitting to comply with a requisition made under section 13, or otherwise in respect of the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, it shall be determined by such officer as the ¹[Central Government] may appoint either generally or specially in this behalf.

LEG. REF.

(2) An appeal from the determination of the officer so appointed shall lie to the ¹[Central Government]; and the order of the ¹[Central Government] shall be final.

Provisions applicable to other property.

Exercise of powers conferred by section 10, and disputes as to compensation, in case of property other than that of a local authority.

16. (1) If the exercise of the powers mentioned in section 10 in respect of property referred to in clause (d) of that section is resisted or obstructed, the District Magistrate may, in his discretion, order that the telegraph authority shall be permitted to exercise them.

(2) If, after the making of an order under sub-section (1), any person resists the exercise of those powers, or, having control over the property, does not give all facilities for their being exercised, he shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code.

(3) If any dispute arises concerning the sufficiency of the compensation to be paid under section 10, clause (d), it shall, on application for that purpose by either of the disputing parties to the District Judge within whose jurisdiction the property is situate, be determined by him.

(4) If any dispute arises as to the persons entitled to receive compensation or as to the proportions in which the persons interested are entitled to share in it, the telegraph authority may pay into the Court of the District Judge such amount as he deems sufficient, or, where all the disputing parties have in writing admitted the amount tendered to be sufficient or the amount has been determined under sub-section (3), that amount; and the District Judge, after giving notice to the parties and hearing such of them as desire to be heard, shall determine the persons entitled to receive the compensation or, as the case may be, the proportions in which the persons interested are entitled to share in it.

(5) Every determination of a dispute by a District Judge under sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) shall be final:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall affect the right of any person to recover by suit the whole or any part of any compensation paid by the telegraph authority from the person who has received the same.

or post has been placed by the telegraph authority under, over, along, across, in or upon any property, not being property vested in or under the control or management of a local authority, and any person entitled to do so desires to deal with that property in such a manner as to render it necessary or convenient that the telegraph line or post should be removed to another part thereof or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he may require the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post accordingly:

Sec. 16 (3).—See 52 L.W. 328=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 900=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 254 cited under s. 18, infra. Sec. 16 of the Act does not refer to the sufficiency of the compensation actually paid but to the sufficiency of the compensation to be paid under s. 10. If damage is actually caused and Government proposes to pay nothing, while the other party insists that substantial damage has been done, then there is clearly a dispute with regard to the sufficiency of the compensation to be paid under sec. 10, and the District Judge has jurisdiction to entertain an application for compensation by the party aggrieved. 201 I.C. 739=44 P.L.R. 275=A.I.R. 1942 Lah. 186=I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 677.

SEC. 16 (3) AND (5): ORDER OF DISTRICT JUDGE ON APPLICATION—REVISION—POWER OF HIGH COURT.—The District Judge is acting as a Civil Court in dealing with applications for compensation under sec. 16 (3) of the Telegraph Act, and the High Court has, therefore, power to entertain a petition for revision of an order passed by him on such an application. The High Court's powers of revision are not barred by sub-sec. (5) of sec. 16 of the Act. 44 P.L.R. 275=A.I.R. 1942 Lah. 186.

Provided that, if compensation has been paid under section 10, clause (d), he shall, when making the requisition, tender to the telegraph authority the amount requisite to defray the expense of the removal or alteration, or half of the amount paid as compensation, whichever may be the smaller sum.

(2) If the telegraph authority omits to comply with the requisition, the person making it may apply to the District Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the property is situate to order the removal or alteration.

(3) A District Magistrate receiving an application under sub-section (2) may, in his discretion, reject the same or make an order absolutely or subject to conditions, for the removal of the telegraph line or post to any other part of the property or to a higher or lower level, or for the alteration of its form; and the order so made shall be final.

Provisions applicable to all Property.

18. (1) If any tree standing or lying near a telegraph line interrupts, or is likely to interrupt, telegraphic communication, a Magistrate of the first or second class may, on the application of the telegraph authority, cause the tree to be removed or dealt with in such other way as he deems fit.

(2) When disposing of an application under sub-section (1), the Magistrate shall, in the case of any tree in existence before the telegraph line was placed, award to the persons interested in the tree such compensation as he thinks reasonable, and the award shall be final.

19. Every telegraph line or post placed before the passing of this Act under, over, along, across, in or upon any property, for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the ¹[Central Government] shall be deemed to have been placed in exercise of the powers conferred by, and after observance of all the requirements of, this Act.

²[19-A. (1) Any person desiring to deal in the legal exercise of a right with any property in such a manner as is likely to cause damage to a telegraph line or post which has been duly placed in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or to interrupt or interfere with telegraphic communication, shall give not less than one month's notice in writing of the intended exercise of such right to the telegraph authority, or to any telegraph officer whom the telegraph authority may empower in this behalf.

(2) If any such person without having complied with the provisions of sub-section (1) deals with any property in such a manner as is likely to cause damage to any telegraph line or post, or to interrupt or interfere with telegraphic communication, a Magistrate of the first or second class may, on the application of the telegraph authority, order such person to abstain from dealing with such property in such manner for a period not exceeding one month from

² Secs. 19-A and 19-B were inserted by sec. 5 of the Indian Telegraph (Amendment) Act, 1914 (VII of 1914).

Sec. 18.—Sec. 18 of the Telegraph Act contemplates action by a Magistrate on the application of the telegraph authority but not direct action of cutting down trees by the telegraph authority itself. The section further applies only to the cutting down of trees after a line has been erected and not before erection of a line. In the case of cutting down of trees for the purpose of laying a line, the order of the Magistrate as to the amount of compensation is not final, as it does not fall under sec. 18. On the other hand sec. 10 (d) of the Act gives the telegraph authority power to lay a line upon any land and to cut trees. For that purpose he is bound to award compensation, but his award is open to reconsideration by the District Judge upon an application under sec. 16 (3). Sec. 18 would cover only the case of trees cut down after the laying of the line. 1940 M.W.N. 799=52 L.W. 328=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 900=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 254.

the date of his order and forthwith to take such action with regard to such property as may be in the opinion of the Magistrate necessary to remedy or prevent such damage, interruption or interference during such period.

(3) A person dealing with any property in the manner referred to in sub-section (1) with the bona fide intention of averting imminent danger of personal injury to himself or any other human being shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of the said sub-section if he gives such notice of the intended exercise of the right as is in the circumstances possible, or where no such previous notice can be given without incurring the imminent danger referred to above, if he forthwith gives notice of the actual exercise of such right to the authority or officer specified in the said sub-section.

19-B. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, Power to confer upon licensee powers of telegraph authority under this Part.

confer upon any licensee under section 4, in respect of the extent of his licence and subject to any conditions and restrictions which the Central Government may think fit to impose and to the provisions of this Part, all or any of the powers which the telegraph authority possesses under this Part with regard to a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained:

Provided that the notice prescribed in section 19-A shall always be given to the telegraph authority or officer empowered to receive notice under section 19-A (1).]

which may extend to three years, or with fine or with both, and, in any other case, with a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, offences under this section in respect of a wireless telegraph shall, for the purposes of the said Code, be bailable and non-cognizable.

SUBSTITUTION OF STRIPES FOR IMPRISONMENT.—Substitution of a sentence of 30 stripes for a sentence of one year's rigorous imprisonment or more or a substitution of a sentence of 25 stripes for a sentence of nine months' rigorous imprisonment or more or a substitution of a sentence of 20 stripes for a sentence of six months' imprisonment or more is not ordinarily an enhancement of sentence within the meaning of sec. 423 (1) (b) of Cr. P. Code and in the case of a person under 16 years of age the substitution of a sentence of 15 stripes for a sentence of imprisonment for six months or more or a substitution of a sentence of 10 stripes for a sentence of imprisonment for three months or more is not ordinarily an enhancement of sentence. But the substitution of a sentence of 30 stripes for a sentence of three months' rigorous imprisonment is an enhancement and therefore an illegal sentence under sec. 423 (1) (b) of the Code. (2 Weir 487; 6 B.L.R. App. 95, Not. Foll.; Rat. Un. Cr. C. 131; 17 A. 67; 23 Bom. 439; 27 C. 175; 30 M. 103 (F.B.); 36 A. 485, Ref.) 119 I.C. 209=7 R. 319=30 Cr.L.J. 986=1929 R. 177 (F.B.).

SECS. 2, 3 AND 4.—Sec. 2 of the Act only lays down as a general proposition that offenders are also liable to the punishment of whipping in addition to the punishment described in sec. 53, I. P. Code, which do not include whipping. On a comparison of sec. 3 and sec. 4 it is clear that in regard to offences mentioned in sec. 3, the intention of the legislature was that whipping should be inflicted, if at all in lieu of any punishment to which the offender may be liable under the I. P. Code. It is only in cases of offences under secs. 375, 377, 390 and 391, I. P. Code and of abetment or attempt at an offence under sec. 375 that a person can be punished with whipping in addition to any punishment that can be awarded under the Penal Code. 1939 O.A. 384=14 Luck. 634=1939 O.W.N. 414=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 222.

SEC. 3.—The special laws contemplated in

(a) theft, as defined in section 378 of the Indian Penal Code other than theft by a clerk or servant of property in possession of his master;

(b) theft in a building, tent or vessel, as defined in section 380 of the said Code;

(c) theft after preparation for causing death or hurt, as defined in section 382 of the said Code;

(d) lurking house-trespass, or house-breaking, as defined in sections 443 and 445 of the said Code, in order to the committing of any offence punishable with whipping under this section;

(e) lurking house-trespass by night, or house-breaking by night, as defined in sections 444 and 446 of the said Code, in order to the committing of any offence punishable with whipping under this section;

may be punished with whipping in lieu of any punishment to which he may for such offence be liable under the said Code.

secs. 40 and 41 of the Penal Code are only laws, such as the Excise, Opium and Cattle Trespass Acts, creating fresh offences, that is, laws making punishable certain things which are not already punishable under the general Penal Code. The Whipping Act is not a special law in this sense; it creates no fresh offences, but merely provides a supplementary or alternative form of punishment for offences which are already punishable primarily under the Penal Code or (in the case of juvenile offenders) other enactments. Persons convicted of abetment of theft or abetment of any of the other offences mentioned in sec. 3 of the Whipping Act, 1909, are not liable to the punishment of whipping. As the Whipping Act is a highly penal enactment, it must be construed in the sense most favourable to the subject. 7 L.B.R. 63=22 I.C. 147=15 Cr.L.J. 3=7 Bur.L.T. 99. Offence under sec. 325, I. P. Code—Whipping as an additional or alternative punishment. If the offence charged is punishable with imprisonment or fine and, if whipping is given as an additional punishment, it can be added either to imprisonment or fine. But in the case of an offence under sec. 325, I. P. Code, where imprisonment is imperative and fine is optional, whipping can only be given in addition to imprisonment or in addition to imprisonment and fine, but not in addition to fine alone. If, however, whipping is inflicted as an alternative punishment no other punishment is to be added. 13 Rang. 115. The offence of outraging a woman's modesty not being punishable with whipping, house-breaking in order to commit that offence cannot be so punished. 89 I.C. 146=23 A.L.J. 894=26 Cr.L.J. 1282=1925 A. 591. As to the legality of concurrent sentences of whipping, see 4 Bur.L.T. 174=12 Cr.L.J. 465=11 I.C. 1001=6 L.B.R. 22. When a man is tried for two offences, at one trial, there cannot be double sentences of whipping nor would they become legal if they are ordered to run concurrently, as the term 'concurrent' applies only to sentences of imprisonment. 1937 Rang.L.R. 366=170 I.C. 254=A.I.R.

1937 Rang. 286; 171 I.C. 71=A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 310. Sentence of whipping inadequate but carried out—Other punishment not to be awarded. 7 Bur.L.T. 292=15 Cr.L.J. 538=24 I.C. 946=8 L.B.R. 143. Under sec. 3 of the Whipping Act a sentence of whipping may be passed in lieu of any punishment to which the offender may be liable under the Penal Code, but it cannot be passed in addition to such imprisonment. Ordering a man to be whipped after he has already served part of a sentence of imprisonment, is illegal. (1917) U.B.R. 32=19 Cr.L.J. 207=46 I.C. 623. The word "punishment" in sec. 3 refers to the total of punishment awardable. In lieu of punishing the offender by imprisoning him or fining him the Court may punish him with whipping. But a fine in addition to whipping is illegal. (16 Bom. 357, Foll.). 82 I.C. 49=20 M.L.W. 881=25 Cr.L.J. 1185=1925 M. 183. be whipped. There is no limit of age for whipping under sec. 3 of the Whipping Act. Sec. 3 permits whipping in lieu of any punishment for which the offender is liable under the Cr. P. Code, to imprisonment irrespective of age. The age limit under sec. 393, Cr. P. Code, is 45 in the case of males, while a female cannot be whipped. All the sections of the Whipping Act must be read together with the Cr. P. Code. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 477=A.I.R. 1941 Sind 48.

Sec. 4: ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Sec. 4 (b) of the Act does not apply to the case of an attempt to commit the offence mentioned in it; a sentence of whipping on a conviction under sec. 377, read with sec. 511, I. P. Code, is therefore illegal. 1937 A.L.J. 944=A.I.R. 1938 A. 16. It is not competent to a Judge to postpone the sentence of whipping till after the expiry of sentence of imprisonment imposed upon the accused. 4 Bom.L.R. 929. Where a sentence of whipping is passed as a sole punishment under the section (Act III of 1895, sec. 5), it is not necessary first to pass a sentence provided for the offence under the Penal Code, and then to convert such sentence into one of whipping. Sec. 390, Criminal Procedure Code, authorises the Court passing a sentence of whipping, only to fix the place and time of its execution but it does not contemplate a postponement of the execution of the sentence to a future day. Rat. 906=Cr. Rg. 17 of 1897. The Code makes no provision whereby a Magistrate imposing a sentence of whipping only can suspend its execution, nor does it provide for the detention of a person so sentenced to allow of his appealing, nor for his re-arrest to undergo whipping if the sentence is confirmed on appeal. It is only when whipping is added to imprisonment in an appealable case, that whipping may, and ought to be postponed. 26 M. 465=2 Weir 447. When the accused is convicted of two offences, for one of which he is sentenced to imprisonment and for the other to whipping, it is not permissible to postpone the whipping, merely because the accused appeals against the conviction of the first sentence. 4 Bom.L.R. 436. Appeals from sentences of whipping are regulated by the Criminal Procedure Code, and not by the Whipping Act. 29 P.R. 1886 (Cr.). Under sec. 4 of the Act, a sentence of whipping may be imposed where in the commission of a robbery, hurt is caused. It should be inflicted in cases where there is a certain amount of aggravation in the commission of the original offence. 44 A. 538=20 A.L.J. 388=U.P.L.R. (A.) 67=1922 A. 245=66 I.C. 418=23 Cr.L.J. 274; 140 I.C. 23=33 Cr.L.J. 900=1932 S. 143. See also U.B.R. (1897-01) Vol. I, 388; L.B. R. 1872-1892, (Cr.) 337; 1881 A.W.N. 138; 12 W.R. (Cr.) 68; 4 B.H.C. (Cr.) 5. There is no justification for the taking into account of the period of imprisonment to which a man has already been sentenced before the commission of the offence for which the sentence of whipping with or without imprisonment is passed, in the computation of the maximum period of imprisonment fixed by sec. 393, of the Cr. P. Code. (7 R. 769; 1930 R. 138, Dist.). 12 R. 404=149 I.C. 1073=35 Cr.L.J. 1027=1934 R. 58. A Magistrate considering the question as to whether a sentence of whipping is appropriate in a particular case should not reject the punishment of whipping on the ground that the accused is too young and frail unless he has medical opinion in support of his own. 184 I.C. 464=A.I.R. 1939 Rang. 383=41 Cr.L.J. 22.

ADDITIONAL SENTENCE.—A sentence of imprisonment can be inflicted in the case of a juvenile in addition to whipping and the High Court has power to inflict a sentence of imprisonment, even when the sentence of whipping passed by the lower Court has already been carried out. (7 Bom.H.C.R. (Cr.) 70, Dist.) 119 I.C. 572=1929 A.L.J. 224=30 Cr.L.J. 1087=1929 A. 322. An additional punishment of whipping cannot be passed on a person who has received an adequate substantive sentence for an offence under sec. 436, Penal Code. 29 Cr.L.J. 666=110 I.C. 218=1928 O. 111. Before a sentence of whipping, in addition to imprisonment, can be passed, on a person found guilty under sec. 394, I. P. Code, there must be also a finding that he himself caused hurt while committing the robbery. 109 I.C. 810=29 Cr.L.J. 618=6 R. 48=1928 R. 112. See also 1922 A. 245.

Juvenile offenders when punishable with whipping.

5. Any juvenile offender who abets, commits or attempts to commit—

(a) any offence punishable under the Indian Penal Code, except offences specified in Chapter VI and in sections 153-A and 505 of that Code and offences punishable with death, or

(b) any offence punishable under any other law with imprisonment which the ¹[Provincial Government] may, by ²notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, may be punished with whipping in lieu of any other punishment to which he may for such offence, abetment or attempt be liable.

SEC. 5.—Sec. 5 does not supersede sec. 4. sec. 5 is meant to be applied alternatively with secs. 3 and 4 which apply to juvenile offenders as well as to offenders who are not within the definition of juvenile offenders. 140 I.C. 11=13 P.L.T. 573=1932 P. 334. See also L.L.R. If the sentence of whipping is passed, no other sentence can be passed, for the whipping is considered to be in lieu of either a single punishment or a combined punishment. (16 Bom. 357, Appr.) 81 I.C. 260=46 A. 174=21 A.L.J. 916=25 Cr.L.J. 772=1924 A. 455.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Juvenile offenders are liable to whipping for attempts to commit offences not punishable with death under the Penal Code or any other law. Therefore a sentence of whipping for an attempt to commit an offence when the accused is not a juvenile offender is illegal. 2 L.B.R. 123. The section does not authorise the Court to pass a sentence of whipping in lieu of transportation or imprisonment under the Act, and at the same time to pass sentence of fine under the Penal Code. 5 L.B.R. 22=10 Cr. L.J. 120=3 Bur.L.T. 7=2 I.C. 620. The finding of a Magistrate as to the age of the accused is final under sec. 5 (Explanation) of the Whipping Act. Where the sentence of whipping has been carried out, no other punishment can be awarded, even if the sentence was inadequate. 15 Cr.L.J. 538=24 I.C. 946=7 Bur.L.T. 292=8 L.B.R. 143. A sentence of whipping and fine is illegal. L. R. 5 A. 54 (Cr.)=1924 All. 455; 21 A.L.J. 916. A sentence of whipping in one case cannot be directed to run concurrently with a similar sentence in another. The literal meaning of "concurrent sentences of whipping" would be that the prisoner is to be flogged by two operators simultaneously, a monstrous result. 4 Bur.L.T. 174=6 L.B.R. 22=12 Cr.L.J. 465=11 I.C. 1001. In the case of juvenile offenders, whipping can be awarded in lieu of the other punishment; and not in addition to it. 1885 A.W.N. 178. See also 4 A.W.R. 669=1934 A. 976; A.L.R. 1940 Rang. 81=1939 Rang.L.R. 744. When the accused, a lad of fourteen years, was convicted of an unnatural offence under sec. 377, I. P. Code and sentenced to imprisonment, the Chief Court held that the punishment of whipping was far more suitable for a juvenile offender, convicted of bestiality, than the sentence of imprisonment which had been inflicted and that it was competent to the Appellate Court to alter the nature of the sentence by setting aside the sentence of imprisonment and substituting whipping for the same. 3 P.R. 1884, (Cr.). Under the Whipping Act, the Court cannot, after passing a sentence of imprisonment, commute it to a sentence of whipping, which ought to be passed directly. Under sec. 5, a juvenile offender may be punished with whipping in lieu of any other punishment to which he may be liable, but the words "in lieu of—" mean in lieu of the whole of the punishment to which he is liable. So, it is illegal to pass a sentence of whipping, in lieu of imprisonment, under the Whipping Act, and, at the same time, to pass a sentence of fine under the I. P. Code. 5 L.B.R. 22=2 I.C. 620. In the case of a juvenile offender committing an offence under sec. 380, I. P. Code, the Magistrate has two alternatives before him. He may send the offender to prison or, in lieu thereof, he may either cause him to be whipped or send him to Borstal. If the Magistrate orders him to be detained in the Borstal school, the Sessions Judge on appeal cannot pass a sentence of whipping in lieu of the order of detention, as he would be enhancing the sentence. Under sec. 3 of the Whipping Act, he can only pass a sentence of whipping in lieu of any punishment to which the offender might be liable under the Penal Code, that is to say, he can only pass a sentence of whipping in lieu of imprisonment. 1939 Rang.L.R. 744=187 I.C. 405=A.L.R. 1940 Rang. 81. See also A.L.R. 1937 Rang. 310=171 I.C. 71. See also on this section 46 A. 174=81 I.C. 260=1924 A. 455; Rat. 75; U.B.R. (Cr.) 9; 6 A. 482=1884 A.W.N. 213.

Explanation.—In this section the expression “juvenile offender” means an offender whom the Court, after making such enquiry (if any) as may be deemed necessary, shall find to be under sixteen years of age, the finding of the Court in all cases being final and conclusive.

16. Whenever any Provincial Government has, by ²notification in the Official Gazette, declared the provisions of this section to be in force in any frontier district or any wild tract of country within the jurisdiction of such Provincial Government, any person who in such district or tract of country after such notification as aforesaid commits any offence punishable under the Indian Penal Code with imprisonment for three years or upwards, may be punished with whipping in lieu of any other punishment to which he may be liable under the said Code.

THE INDIAN WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY ACT (XVII OF 1933).

[11th September, 1933.

[Amended by Act XXXII of 1940].

An Act to regulate the possession of wireless telegraphy apparatus.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the possession of wireless telegraphy apparatus in British India; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY ACT, 1933.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "wireless communication" means the making, transmitting or receiving of telegraphic, telephonic or other communications by means of electricity or magnetism without the use of wires or other continuous electrical conductors between the transmitting and the receiving apparatus;

(2) "wireless telegraphy apparatus" means any apparatus, appliance, instrument or material used or capable of use in wireless communication, and includes any article determined by rule made under section 10 to be wireless telegraphy apparatus, but does not include any such apparatus, appliance, instrument or material commonly used for other electrical purposes, unless it has been specially designed or adapted for wireless communication or forms part of some apparatus, appliance, instrument or material specially so designed or adapted, nor any article determined by rule made under section 10 not to be wireless telegraphy apparatus; and

(3) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under section 10.

Prohibition of possession of wireless telegraphy apparatus without licence.

3. Save as provided by section 4, no person shall possess wireless telegraphy apparatus except under and in accordance with a licence issued under this Act.

4. The Central Government may by rules made under this Act exempt any person or any class of persons from the provisions of this Act either generally or subject to prescribed conditions, or in respect of specified wireless telegraphy apparatus.

Power of Central Government to exempt persons from provisions of the Act.

5. The telegraph authority constituted under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, shall be the authority competent to issue licences to possess wireless telegraphy apparatus under this Act, and may issue licences in such manner, on such conditions and subject to such payments as may be prescribed.

Licences.

SECS. 3 AND 6.—The accused was convicted under secs. 3 and 6 of the Act, of being in possession of a wireless receiving set without a licence and also of working the same without a licence under sec. 20 of the Telegraph Act, and sentenced to separate fines under each of the offences. It appeared that the accused had been taking out licences for some years before the offence and that actually a licence had been issued by the postmaster to take effect from a date earlier than the date on which the accused was said to have been in possession without a licence. Held (1) that the accused was guilty of an offence under secs. 3 and 6 of the Wireless Telegraphy Act and that the issue of a licence subsequently would not give a sort of pardon in respect of an offence already committed; (2) that there was no justification for a separate conviction under sec. 20 of the Telegraph Act or for a separate sentence under that section. 1938 M.W.N. 823 = 48 L.W. 330 = A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 821 = (1938) 2 M.L.J. 281.

Quære: Whether the use of a wireless set without a licence would amount to an offence under sec. 20 of the Telegraph Act. 1938 M.W.N. 823 = A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 821 = (1938) 2 M.L.J. 281.

6. (1) Whoever possesses any wireless telegraphy apparatus in contravention of the provisions of section 3 shall be punished, in the case of the first offence, with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, with fine which may extend to two hundred and fifty rupees.

(2) For the purposes of this section a Court may presume that a person possesses wireless telegraphy apparatus if such apparatus is under his ostensible charge, or is located in any premises or place over which he has effective control.

(3) If in the trial of an offence under this section the accused is convicted, the Court shall decide whether any apparatus in respect of which an offence has been committed should be confiscated, and if it so decides, may order confiscation accordingly.

7. (1) A Presidency Magistrate, or a Magistrate of the first class or a Magistrate of the second class specially empowered by the [Central Government] in this behalf, may issue a warrant for the search, at any time between sunrise and sunset, of any building, vessel or place in which he has reason to believe that any wireless telegraphy apparatus, in respect of which an offence punishable under section 6 has been committed is kept or concealed.

(2) The officer to whom a search warrant under sub-section (1) is addressed may enter into any building, vessel or place mentioned in the warrant and seize any wireless telegraphy apparatus in respect of which he has reason to believe an offence under section 6 has been committed.

8. All wireless telegraphy apparatus confiscated under the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 6, and all wireless telegraphy apparatus having no ostensible owner shall be the property of the Central Government.

29. [* * * * *]

Power of Central Government to make rules.

10. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

(i) determining that any article or class of article shall be or shall not be wireless telegraphy apparatus for the purposes of this Act;

(ii) the exemption of persons or classes of persons under section 4 from the provisions of this Act;

SEC. 6 (1).—Where a person was prosecuted under sec. 6 (1) of the Act in respect of a period between the expiry of a licence and its renewal after the allowed 14 days of grace it was held that the offence did not consist in possessing a set without a licence but in possessing one 'except under and in accordance with a licence issued under this Act' and that as the Act when read with the rules states that the licence shall be valid for a period of 12 calendar months beginning from the first day of the month of issue if the person charged was issued a licence covering the period in question he could not be said to have contravened the section. (3) in making a rule under this section the Central Government may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

11. Nothing in this Act contained shall authorise the doing of anything prohibited under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and no licence issued under this Act shall authorise any person to do anything for the doing of which a licence or permission under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, is necessary.

PART II.

IMPOSITION OF RESTRICTIONS.

3. (1) Whenever it appears to the Central Government that it is necessary to impose restrictions upon the use and enjoyment of land in the vicinity of any work of defence or of any site intended to be used or to be acquired for any such work, in order that such land may be kept free from buildings and other obstructions, a declaration shall be made to that effect under the signature of a Secretary to such Government or of some officer duly authorized to certify its orders.

(2) The said declaration shall be published in the Official Gazette and shall state the district or other territorial division in which the land is situate and the place where a sketch plan of the land, which shall be prepared on a scale not smaller than six inches to the mile and shall distinguish the boundaries referred to in section 7, may be inspected; and the Collector shall cause public notice of the substance of the said declaration to be given at convenient places in the locality.

(3) The said declaration shall be conclusive proof that it is necessary to keep the land free from buildings and other obstructions.

4. It shall be lawful for such officer as the Central Government may, by general or special order, authorize in this behalf, and for his servants and workmen, at any time after publication of the notice mentioned in section 3, sub-section (2), to enter upon and survey and take levels of any land in such locality, to dig or bore into the sub-soil, to do all other acts necessary to ascertain whether any and, if so, what restrictions should be imposed on the use and enjoyment of the land, to set out the boundaries of the land upon the use and enjoyment of which restrictions are to be imposed; or of any part of such land, to mark such levels, boundaries and line by placing marks and cutting trenches, and, where otherwise the survey cannot be completed and the levels taken and the boundaries and line marked, to cut down and clear away any part of any standing crop, fence or jungle:

Provided that no person shall enter into any building or upon any enclosed court or garden attached to a dwelling-house (unless with the consent of the occupier thereof) without previously giving such occupier at least seven days' notice in writing of his intention to do so.

5. The officer so authorized shall at the time of such entry pay or tender payment for all necessary damage to be done as aforesaid, and, in case of dispute as to the sufficiency of the amount so paid or tendered, he shall at once refer the dispute to the decision of the Collector or other chief revenue-officer of the district, and such decision shall be final.

6. (1) Whenever a declaration has been made and public notice thereof has been given under section 3, it shall, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (2) to (4), be lawful for such officer as the Central Government may, by general or special order, authorize in this behalf, and for his servants and workmen, to enter and demolish any buildings or other constructions on the surface, to cut down or grub up all or any of the trees, to remove or alter all or any of the banks, fences, hedges and ditches, to make underground and other drains, to fill up all excavations,

(a) save as otherwise provided by sub-section (3) before the making of the award hereinafter referred to in section 12, nor

(b) save as otherwise provided by sub-section (4), after the expiration of six months from the making of the said award, or any shorter period on the expiration of which the officer exercising such powers gives notice to the Collector that there will be no further exercise of them.

(3) In case of emergency, the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that all or any powers conferred by sub-section (1) may be exercised at any time within six months after the publication of the notice referred to in section 3, sub-section (2), and such powers may be exercised accordingly, and the said notification shall be conclusive proof of emergency.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (2) shall be deemed to preclude any such officer or his servants or workmen from exercising at any time the said powers for the purpose of removing, wholly or in part, any building or other obstruction maintained, created, added to, altered, planted, stacked, stored or otherwise accumulated in contravention of this Act or of any rule or order made thereunder or of any condition prescribed in accordance therewith.

PART III.

REFERENCE TO COURT AND PROCEDURE THEREON.

18. (1) Any person interested who has not accepted the award may, by written application to the Collector, require that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Court, whether his objection be to the measurement of the land, the amount of the compensation, the persons to whom it is payable, or the apportionment of the compensation among the persons interested:

Reference to Court.

Provided that every such application shall be made,—

(a) if the person making it was present or represented before the Collector at the time when he made his award, within six weeks from the date of the Collector's award;

(b) in other cases, within six weeks of the receipt of the notice from the Collector under section 13, sub-section (2), or within six months from the date of the Collector's award, whichever period shall first expire.

(2) The application shall state the grounds on which objection to the award is taken.

19. (1) In making the reference the Collector shall state, for the information of the Court, in writing under his hand,—

(a) the situation and extent of the land with particulars of any damage caused under section 6 or of restrictions imposed under section 7;

(b) the names of the persons whom he has reason to think interested in such land;

(c) the amount of compensation awarded under section 12; and

(d) if the objection be to the amount of the compensation, the grounds on which the amount of compensation was determined.

(2) To the said statement shall be attached a schedule giving the particulars of the notices served upon, and of the statements in writing made or delivered by, the parties interested respectively.

20. The Court shall thereupon cause a notice specifying the day on which the Court will proceed to determine the objection, and directing their appearance before the Court on that day, to be served on the following persons, namely:—

Service of notice.

(a) the applicant;

(b) all persons interested in the objection, except such (if any) of them as have consented without protest to receive payment of the compensation awarded; and

(c) if the objection is in regard to the area of the land, the nature of the obstructions or the amount of the compensation, the Collector.

Restrictions on scope of proceedings.

21. The scope of the inquiry in every such proceeding shall be restricted to a consideration of the interests of the persons affected by the objection.

22. Every such proceeding shall take place in open Court, and all persons entitled to practise in any Civil Court in the Province shall be entitled to appear, plead and act, as the case may be, in such proceeding.

23. (1) In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for damage caused, or to be caused, or for restrictions imposed under this Act, the Court shall take into consideration—

Matters to be considered in determining compensation.

(a) the actual decrease in market-value of the land owing to the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 3 and any damage caused or to be caused under section 6;

(b) the damage sustained by the person interested, by reason of the removal of any standing crops in the exercise of any power conferred by section 6;

(c) the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, by reason of ceasing to be able to use such land conjointly with his other land;

(d) the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested by anything done or ordered under sections 6 and 7 injuriously affecting his other property, movable or immovable, in any other manner, or his earnings; and,

(e) if, in consequence of the imposition of restrictions, the person interested is compelled to change his residence or place of business, the reasonable expenses (if any) incidental to such change.

(2) In addition to the amount representing the actual decrease in the market-value of the land as above provided, the Court shall in every case award a further sum of fifteen per centum on such amount.

Matters not to be considered in determining compensation.

24. In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for damage caused, or to be caused, or for restrictions imposed under this Act, the Court shall not take into consideration—

(a) the degree of urgency which has led to the damage or the imposition of restrictions;

(b) any disinclination of the person interested to submit to damage or restrictions;

(c) any damage sustained by him, which, if caused by a private person, would not render such person liable to a suit;

(d) any increase to the value of the other land of the person interested, accruing or likely to accrue from anything done under this Act; or

(e) any outlay or improvements on, or disposal of, the land commenced, made or effected without the sanction of the Collector after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 3.

SEC. 23.—Where some time after the publication of a notification under sec. 4 (1) of the Land Acquisition Act a second notification was issued on a later date which was wider than the first one, and embraced not only the land covered by it but more land of the claimant in addition and the earlier notification was neither cancelled nor superseded it was held that as regards the proceedings under the Act, the market value of the property must be taken as from the date of the first notification in respect of land covered by it and not as from the date of the subsequent notification. But where under the Works of Defence Act an earlier declaration was cancelled by a later one, it was held, that it was the date of the second notification which must be taken into consideration as regards the market value of the property concerned. 1941 Rang.L.R. 40.

25. (1) When the applicant has made a claim to compensation, pursuant to any notice given under section 9, the amount awarded to him by the Court shall not exceed the amount so claimed or be less than the amount awarded by the Collector under section 12.

Rules as to amount of compensation.

(2) When the applicant has refused to make such claim or has omitted without sufficient reason (to be allowed by the Judge) to make such claim, the amount awarded by the Court shall in no case exceed the amount awarded by the Collector.

(3) When the applicant has omitted for a sufficient reason (to be allowed by the Judge) to make such claim, the amount awarded to him by the Court shall not be less than, and may exceed, the amount awarded by the Collector.

26. Every award under this part shall be in writing signed by the Judge, and shall specify the amount awarded under section 23, sub-section (1), clause (a), and also the amounts (if any) respectively awarded under each of the other clauses of the same sub-section, together with the grounds of awarding each of the said amounts.

Form of awards.

27. (1) Every such award shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the proceedings under this Part, and by what persons and in what proportion they are to be paid.

Costs.

(2) When the award of the Collector is not upheld, the costs shall ordinarily be paid by the Collector, unless the Court is of opinion that the claim of the applicant was so extravagant or that he was so negligent in putting his case before the Collector that some deduction from his costs should be made or that he should pay a part of the Collector's costs.

28. If the sum which, in the opinion of the Court, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation, the Court may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of his award to the date of payment of such excess into Court.

Collector may be directed to pay interest on excess compensation.

PART IV.

APPORTIONMENT OF COMPENSATION.

29. Where there are several persons interested, if such persons agree in the apportionment of the compensation, the particulars of such apportionment shall be specified in the award, and as between such persons the award shall be conclusive evidence of the correctness of the apportionment.

Particulars of apportionment to be specified.

30. When the amount of compensation has been settled under section 12, if any dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof, or as to the persons to whom the same or any part thereof is payable, the Collector may refer such dispute to the decision of the Court.

Dispute as to apportionment.

PART V.

PAYMENT.

31. (1) On making an award under section 12, the Collector shall tender payment of the compensation awarded by him to the persons interested entitled thereto according to the award, and shall pay it to them unless prevented by some one or more of the contingencies mentioned in sub-section (2).

Payment of compensation or deposit of same in Court.

(2) If they do not consent to receive it, or if there is no person competent to alienate the land, or if there is any dispute as to the title to receive the compensation or as to the apportionment of it, the Collector shall deposit the amount of the compensation in the Court to which a reference under section 18 would be submitted:

Provided, first, that any person admitted to be interested may receive such payment under protest as to the sufficiency of the amount:

Provided, secondly, that no person who has received the amount otherwise than under protest shall be entitled to make any application under section 18:

Provided, thirdly, that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person, who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the Collector may, with the sanction of the Central Government, instead of awarding a money-compensation in respect of any land, make any arrangement with a person having a limited interest in such land, either by the grant of other lands in exchange, or by the remission of land-revenue on the same or on other lands held under the same title, or in such other way as may be equitable having regard to the interest of the parties concerned.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (3) shall be construed to interfere with or limit the power of the Collector to enter into any arrangement with any person interested in the land and competent to contract in respect thereof.

Investment of money deposited in respect of lands belonging to persons incompetent to alienate.

32. (1) If any money is deposited in Court under section 31, sub-section (2), and it appears that the land in respect of which the same was awarded belonged to any person who had no power to alienate the same, the Court shall order the money to be invested—

(a) in the purchase of other lands to be held under the like title and conditions of ownership as the land in respect of which such money was deposited is held, or

(b) if such purchase cannot be effected forthwith, then in such Government or other approved securities as it thinks fit; and shall direct the payment of the interest or other proceeds arising from such investment to the person or persons who would for the time being have been entitled to the possession of the said land, and such moneys shall remain so deposited and invested until the same are applied—

(i) in the purchase of such other lands as aforesaid; or

(ii) in payment to any person or persons becoming absolutely entitled thereto.

(2) In all cases of moneys deposited to which this section applies, the Court shall order the cost of the following matters, including therein all reasonable charges and expenses incident thereto, to be paid by the Collector, namely:—

(a) the costs of such investments as aforesaid;

(b) the costs of the orders for the payment of the interest or other proceeds of the securities in which such moneys are for the time being invested and for the payment out of Court of the principal of such moneys and the costs of all proceedings relating thereto, except such as may be occasioned by litigation between adverse claimants.

33. If any money is deposited in Court under this Act for any cause other than that mentioned in section 32, the Court may, on the application of any party interested or claiming an interest in such money, order the same to be invested in such Government or other approved securities as it thinks fit, and may direct the interest or other proceeds of any such investment to be accumulated and paid in such manner as will, in its opinion, give the parties interested therein the same benefit therefrom as they might have had from the land in respect of which such money was deposited or as near thereto as may be.

34. When the amount of any compensation awarded under this Act is not paid or deposited within fifteen days of making the award, the Collector shall pay the amount awarded with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of the award until it is so paid or deposited.
